Some Impressions of That State Gathered in A Recent Three Weeks Visit

9.

Automobiles from Miami met our party at the municipal golf links of Fort Lauderdale, and we were soon on our way to the last stopping place of our trip.

We had become completely satiated with Florida and did not believe it possible to see anything new, and I looked forward to the remainder of our stay with considerable impatience and longed for the time to start homeward. Half sleepless nights on the Pullman and the inevitable hurry and scurry of a trip like ours, undoubtedly created that condition.

The drive to Miami is over an excellent road, said to be built of mere sea shells, rolled down and oiled. It makes an excellent surface, equal to the more costly roads further up state. But Miami was different from anything else in Florida, and we were amazed at the beauty of the city and the extent of its business interests.

As we came into the city from the north, the first thing to strike our eye was the splendid residential development between the main road and the bay. These additions, as they are called, were about alike and consisted of a strip of land wide enough for two house lots of good depth on each side of a cemented street, cemented sidewalks on both sides, with a grassed plot some 10 feet in width between the sidewalk and the street, in which on both sides was a row of graceful cabbage palms. The houses in these sections were quite costly, with red and green tiled roofs, and surrounded by flowers and flowering shrubs. There was just a glimpse of the blue water of the bay at the end of each of these streets, and this part of the city was certainly most attractive.

Miami is also a most busy place, even out of the regular winter season, and it must have been like Broadway in New York, if any of the tales we heard of its winter business were anywhere near correct.

The city believes in advertising itself, and its Chamber of Commerce expends well over a hundred thousand dollars a year in this direction.

Arthur Pryor's celebrated band plays twice each week-day and once each Sunday in the city park, and it is said to have only missed one concert all

READ FUND PICNIC

The annual Read Fund Picnic was held Saturday afternoon, August 27, at the Burr Playground and was one of the most successful ever held. The wonderful weather, the fine playground and the splendid management, all made for a grand good time for the children of wards 1 and 7 and there were about 600 present. There was everything to amuse the children of all ages. Sand boxes, swings, tennis, athletics, dancing and a band concert.

Mr. Herbert Clark of Waltham gave a most interesting entertainment and Mr. Josef Yanick, the well-known magician of Boston, and his magic wand together with eggs, a silk hat, a bag and some silk handkerchiefs made merry for a half hour and entertained both young and old with his tricks and magic. The Folk Dancing under the management of Miss Allen was greatly enjoyed.

PRIZE ESSAYS

Full Text of the Prize Winning Essays in the Recent Contest at Technical High School

Early in the spring the Federation of Women's Clubs offered two prizes of $5.00 and $3.00 to the writers of the best essays upon some subject connected with the Puritans. This offer was made because 1921 is the 300th anniversary of the first year of the Pilgrims' Life at Plymouth. The Technical High School accepted the Federation's offer and added five third prizes of $1.00 each.

It seemed best to the English teachers, who had this contest in charge, to confine it to the upper two classes of the school. A list of thirty subjects was prepared, and during March and April every Senior and nearly every Junior wrote an essay of four or five pages upon the subject of his choice.

The most popular subject seemed to be "The Voyage of the Mayflower," closely followed by "Witches and Witchcraft," and "Home Life Among the Puritans." Several of the best essays were also written on these topics: "John Elliott," "Puritans and Indians," "Old-time Schools," "A Puritan Sunday," and "What We Owe Our Pilgrim Fathers."

After reading the three hundred essays the English department selected thirty-seven from the various divisions, which were sent to Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds of the Federation, who gave them to the board of judges to be examined.

The judges, Prof. Harry B. Centre of the English Department of Boston University, Mrs. Theodore E. Jewell of Newton and Mrs. Madison M. Cannon of Auburndale returned the following verdict: First prize (a $5.00 gold piece), Helen Conroy; Second Prize ($3.00), John Lucey; Third Prizes ($1.00 each), Florence Smith, Evelyn Nordstrom, Marion Pike, Kathleen Donnelly, and Ethel Millen.

The announcement of the winners was made at the graduation exercises on Friday evening, June 10th, as the winners of the first and second places and three of the five third places were Seniors.

The judges wished honorable mention to be given the following boys and girls: Theresa Caruso, Eli Swartz, Sally Teasdale, Ada Jewel, Francis Sheehan, Eleanor Hammersly, Charles Laffie, Dorothy Frail, Dorothy Beaty, John Keeland, Agnes Pond, Mildred Vassalotti, and Sybil Green.

Miss Conroy's essay was as follows:

Colonial Houses

A little white colonial house in a valley, with red poppy beds on the lawn, tall poplars growing beside it, and a clear blue sky above—what a picture! and the center of it all, the house. The more ideal it appears when we realize that its architecture is un-

winter on account of inclement weather.

We had a welcome in the park from William Jennings Bryan, probably the best known winter resident of the city, followed by a band concert and with dancing on the pavement. With a full moon overhead, a fine breeze blowing, and the music, our first evening in Miami was certainly a distinct pleasure.

Wednesday morning brought us an auto ride across the famous million dollar causeway, which connects Miami with its ocean beach. At the island end of this causeway is a new and costly aquarium, managed by a Mr. Mowbray, who was at one time in charge of Boston's aquarium at South Boston. It well repaid a visit, and I, for one, would have liked to have spent several hours in watching the many colored and unusual kinds of fish. Outside was a large pool containing two sea cows, most ugly and ungainly animals.

We also paid a visit to the Flamingo Hotel, which was only opened last January, was filled to its limit all the season and was said to have failed to even meet its expenses, although $20 a day per person was said to be the lowest price it charged. It is said to have refused 1,200 reservations during its season. It is on the bay side of the island and is not an attractive looking building in its architecture.

Adjoining the Flamingo are several attractive looking cottages, in one of which President-elect Harding stopped while in Miami before his inauguration.

Miami Beach upon the ocean side of the island is something like that at Lauderdale. The activities of the place center around the Casino, which is run something like a private club. Adjoining the Casino are two pools of water and a little pool for the exclusive use of the little tots. Many of us took great pleasure in watching the youngsters have a good time here. An exhibition of swimming and high diving was put on in the larger pools for our benefit, and some of the stunts pulled off were of a high grade.

That afternoon, following luncheon at the Casino, we were permitted to inspect two of the fine estates of the city, that of Arthur Curtis James, of New York, and of James Deering, of Harvester Company fame.

While the Deering place undoubtedly cost many millions, it was still in process of construction, and my memory of it centres around an endless drive in curving roads thickly wooded on both sides, with occasional glimpses of a costly building at a considerable distance.

But the James place was certainly a thing of beauty that almost took your breath away as you first saw it. A walk through a rather ordinary garden brings you to a low brick building, and you pass through a half half, half reception room, to the other door. As you step outside on the veranda, before you stretching straight ahead for a quarter of a mile is the most beautiful double row of royal palms. I was going to add, in the world. I doubt if it is possible to produce anything nearly as beautiful. These palms guard each side of a walk paved with some white material and at the far end, you see the blue waters of the bay.

On the lawn each side of the main walk are other palms, both cabbage and royal, but so placed as not to interfere with the wonderful effect produced by the main avenue.

Connected with the James residence, although without a roof, is a beautiful tiled Roman bath, and in the garden in front of the house are said to be some rare and unusual flowers.

On our way home we stopped for a short time at the home of Mr. Bryan and were served with his famous grape juice punch.

That evening the Chamber of Commerce gave us a fine banquet in the Royal Palm Hotel, the most famous hotel in the city. The toastmaster made the mistake of attempting to have some of his "after dinner" speakers deliver their speeches while the dinner was being served, and it was a dismal failure. Fortunately Mr. Bryan was not present until after the dinner was over and he certainly proved his right to high honors as an orator.

Taken all in all, Wednesday was certainly some day.

While preparations had been made to give us a shark hunt on Thursday, one important item was missing the shark. However, we had a most enjoyable boat trip on Biscayne Bay to Soldier's Key, a little coral island where bay and ocean meet. The bay is not at all deep and many varieties of fish could be seen gliding about in the clear water below. A small tug boat led the party with a harpooner high up in the bow, but Mr. Shark failed to appear, although a toothsome repast for him in the shape of a dead horse had been planted in that vicinity the day before.

But what interested me the most was the iridescent water which surrounded us. I have seen the famed waters of Bermuda, but they cannot hold a candle to the extent and variety of the coloring I saw on Biscayne. It was a most beautiful sight and a fitting climax to an interesting day. On the way back we saw one of the hydroplanes which carry the mail between Miami and Cuba.

That evening at a reception tendered us by the Penwomen of the city, a Seminole Indian, Mrs. Applington, made a plea in broken English for a settlement of the dispute between her people and the United States Government.

Mrs. Applington's plea was as follows:

"Me Seminole woman. They something me want to say. Seminole want land to hunt, to fish, to farm; so not die! so not beg."

"Florida state give Seminole fine big land 100,000 acres, swamp and cypress—Just half give! Half give no good!"

"This state leg-us-late maybe give title to big white chief up in Washington—100,000 acres; so big white chief look after Seminole—all time forever."

"Maybe state leg-us-late do this; give title to Uncle Sam maybe not. You help us!"

"Big newspaper mans and womans very smart people, very good—very wise! You tell people to do things, they do them—sure they do! You tell 'em where get off—they get off—sure! that all right! Editor have big stick!"

"Now me tell you. When you go home you write in your newspaper that Florida leg-us-late give deeds to Uncle Sam. Then they do that all right! So they do that—so we have good home forever! So we thank newspaper mans and womans who help the Seminole!"

Friday morning we took a trip to a part of the famous Everglades which had been drained. It was an interesting drive, mostly along the location of one of the big canals which are the outlets of the drainage scheme of that vast region of several million acres of swamp. As there is a mound of earth ten or more feet high along this canal, and nothing but a flat country on the other, we were glad that the drive was not any longer.

I was much surprised to find that the Everglades was not a tropical swamp, with stagnant water, huge trees, and alligators and snakes galore. That part of the region we saw was originally nothing but a swampy marsh with saw grass several feet high and anywhere from two to ten inches of water. Trees were missing, and even now after the draining has been in process for some years, the largest growth there is a bush not over ten feet high.

The land here is a rich black muck, several feet in depth, and it is said to be so rich as to actually burn up the vegetation.

Some hair-raising stunts in an airplane were put on for our benefit at the Curtis farm, a man standing on his head on the wings of the machine, hanging by his toes from the underside of the plane and finally standing upright on the top wing while the machine went through the loop the loop twice.

That afternoon about half our party took a special train for a few days in Havana, while the rest of us made preparations for "home, sweet home."

Miami has splendid service with New York and Boston, and I made a trip straight through without changing cars in 48 hours. There was only one incident of interest on the way home. My readers will recall the profusion of oranges showered on our party while in Polk and Lake counties. I also, remembered those oranges when I paid 15 cents each for a couple of oranges in the Richmond railway station. But such is life.

Florida, as I see it, has a wonderful future both as a winter resort and as a state dealing in agricultural specialties. While its East Coast and West Coast are already well in the public eye of the people of the northern or western states, it needs to advertise the beauties of its lake and citrus fruit region, as it certainly has the goods to show in that direction.

Its agricultural future largely depends upon obtaining cheap and quick transportation to the northern and western markets, as it has the quality and the quantity and only needs proper outlets to the consumers.

J. C. Brimblecom.

REAL ESTATE

Many contemplating purchasers of homes are of the opinion that prices are high; they are also of the opinion that many unfortunate people will be unable on account of the said depression in business to carry their homes; they are told that there are an abundance of vacant apartments available for hire. The real facts are that all of the new desirable property for sale is offered at a loss today. The percentage of people who will be unable to carry their homes will be no greater than usual. The apartments vacant and available are in expensive locations, expensive property and the rents must necessarily be high. There never was or never will be a more favorable time to purchase or lease than the present time. For particulars in regard to desirable residential and investment property please call or phone surpassed for charm, comfort, or strength.Now, after three hundred years of the designing and building of houses architects, following the popular demand, turn to the plain, sturdy type of colonial dwelling as their model.

No plan of house construction has outwitted that composed by the early settlers either in dignity or durability, and as these two qualities are those desired at present, builders are studying surviving types of this old art. To be sure, created as it was by men of common sense and practicality, colonial architecture is plain, and formal, but suited as no other kind could the sort of people who devised it. The colonist, not having all the materials that were desired, used the natural resources as best he could, and ever keeping in mind the view of what he wished his home to be, and still thinking of the one he had left, tried always to make as fine and lasting a building as he could. New England, however, has such a varied climate,
that the early settler found himself hampered by local conditions, and though he began with a somewhat copied style of house, he ended with a true American kind adapted to the country that possessed it, and whose little brass knocker seemed to invite one to lift it and enter the quaint, cozy rooms inside."Tis fascinating to visit one of the typical old houses that dot our countryside. With a company of other students, I visited an old home of one of the early inhabitants of our state.
Walking up the little lane lined with wild hedges, we saw the exterior of that colonial dwelling which spoke for him who built as well as he who lived in it. Much attention seemed to be given to the doorway—that good index of the family behind it. Perhaps the early founders wished their plan to express the inviting admission of some guest, or maybe the cold exclusion of unwanted callers. In either case, it was easy to tell by the architecture.
This particular dwelling had a neat and cheery one—with a porch. Often these were added to act as a prelude to a welcome visitor, and in severe winters were enclosed with glass. A glance at the cottage's windows showed that they were of English type and were made much smaller in relation to the amount of wall space than is done to-day. We counted twelve small panes in each heavy-silled casement. Leaded glass was used. This had to be imported and then cut into the desired lengths—sometimes poor quality of glass, sometimes poor glazing, but nevertheless serving its purpose well. A very high and important feature of the Colonial house was the gable. All are familiar with "The House of Seven Gables," made immortal by Hawthorne. A reason for their number is proven when we know that this house is the result of the moving together of two individual ones. But gables were as prevalent and important then as they are to-day in the modern copied structures. Our observation of the outside ended here for the chilly November winds were nipping our finger tips, and that house seemed so cozy that we just had to enter and get warm.After clambering up the steps of the porch, we gained admittance to an interior of decided picturesqueness. The immense brick fireplace compelled us to near and warm our chilled hands, and brought a wealth of heat to the room. At the rear of this fireplace were the ovens where things were cooked and also kept warm when not needed, where herbs were dried for the children's spring tonic, and where the father's tobacco and pipe lay. As I looked at this dispenser of heat and comfort and generally viewed the surroundings, that passage in Whittier's
"Snowbound" came to my memory:"The sled and traveller stopped, the courier's fleet Delayed, all friends shut out, the housemates Around the radiant fireplace, enclosed
In the tumultuous privacy of storm."The furniture was rustic and queerly carved, to make it appear more elegant, I supposed, but really was comfortable. Under our feet were broad boards painted a curious squash color, and over them braided mats were spread. Everything seemed so old-fashioned to us members of the modern time, and we loved to stay and wonder who once sat in the settle near the wall, what courtings took place within the walls, what aged grandpa and wee babes lived and walked on the floor, and on long winter evenings what stories were told by some weary traveller. What modern house could compare in romantic interiors?Curious to see the bedrooms, we ascended some squeaky wooden stairs whose carvings on the hand-rail showed the skill and interest of theartisan. As we expected, the chambers were small and inadequate for the number of people who slept in them.
"Pretty close quarters," I surmised,
"when visitors came." I was informed later that in that case folding beds were put in the kitchen amid warmth and coziness."No wonder people like colonial houses," one girl remarked, "something's so charming, sensible, and strong about them. I liked that house from when I saw it by the hedges. I like it more now that we've studied it." She had expressed the opinion of all of us in these words. It proves the stability of these buildings and also illustrates the characters of those who created them. In New England many types built in the seventeenth century still stand. In Dedham, the Fairbanks House is a very old wooden structure built in 1636. This is the least changed of any and descendants of its original possessors own it.
George Washington and Lafayette spent two days by its fireside in consultation.Many claim to have almost its age, but the John Humphrey House in Swampscott is very old. Recently people interested in anything save history, threatened to demolish it. Thanks to the Historical Society, this relic will be safe.The overhang style of building seemed to be common about the 18th century. The well-known Boardman House in Saugus, the Ward House in Salem, or the Paul Revere House in Boston are notable examples in our own state. In North Square, Boston, still stands the home of that great patriot who spread the news of the coming of the British—Paul Revere.
Not only was he a horseman, but he made pewter and silver into remarkably beautiful shapes, he etched plates about Biblical topics, lock and weather-vanes were forged by his strength.
Many of the results of his skill are preserved in his home.In Newbury, Massachusetts, the Garrison House exists made of brick.
Many a time an Indian attack was warded off by the force within its walls. Some desire is shown to copy the stonework of the mother country, and the little Dutch door opens immediately into an artistic hall with the red quarry tiles still resting on mother earth.Such are reminiscences of the early days in the colonies. The survivals of the building past shows the care the master gave to his work—a lesson we students need to remember. Planting in this country the seeds of right living and liberty, they carried these ideals even into house planning. No wonder, after all these years, again we study the Colonial House as an ideal in the method of house construction.

Mr. Lucey's essay was as follows:

Travel and Transportation in Colonial Days"Now, gentlemen, to the right."
"Now, gentlemen, to the left." These were the words of the early stage drivers to their passengers when the wagon wheels became caught in the quagmires of colonial roads. As a tugboat or a yacht is run off a sand bar in shallow water (providing the number of people on board is large enough) by running from one side of the ship to the other, so the passengers in these stages, at the driver's commands, would lean out first on one side and then on the other to extricate the carriage. To-day, as we speed along in motor cars, how should we feel if we were forced to alight and arrange the boards on every bridge we had to cross? The colonial traveler would think himself indeed fortunate if this was the only hardship of his journey.In early days travel was done alone by water and on foot. For travel by water, canoes and dugouts were used.
The dugouts were hollowed from pine logs and were made for the colonists by the Indians. They were usually about twenty feet long and two feet wide. The Indians, accustomed to making these boats from hollowed logs, were astonished when they saw the huge ships of the white settlers approach their shores. They thought that the colonists also hollowed their boats from logs, and they wondered where such big trees grew.Together with their boat-building activities the Indians also made many foot-paths through the woods, and they greatly aided the colonists in this way.
Streams were crossed on bridges erected by order of the English government. In 1631, however, Governor Winthrop would not travel from Salem to Boston because he could not cross the fords. In many places, conditions of travel were so good that at the time of King Philip's War all the land around Narragansett and eastern Massachusetts was cleared of underbrush and many good roads were made. In Maryland and Virginia narrow paths were made for rolling barrels of tobacco and for this reason they were called rolling roads.In 1639 the canoe-ferry system was started between Charlestown and Boston. These ferries were not very large, and when a wheeled vehicle was to be carried between these points, it was first taken apart so that it would take up less room. The ferries were of great benefit to the colonists, and large amounts of goods were carried between the two cities.After the period of canoe-ferries, horseback riding and transportation became common. In 1704, a Boston schoolteacher rode from Boston to New York on horseback. For the convenience of travellers by horse, milestones were placed along the roads to tell the distance between the towns.
Among the many things that Benjamin Franklin accomplished for public service was the laying of milestones the entire distance between Boston and Philadelphia. Franklin rode in a chaise, to which was attached the first cyclometer ever invented.
From travelling on horse came the method of carrying freight on pack horses. The horses made a pretty picture with their bright collars and jingling bells, and their freight of furs, salt, nails, tea, pewter plates, and so forth. Two men could manage fifteen pack horses. Each horse was securely tethered to the horse in front. One man walked at the head of the procession and another brought up the rear.

tion was very expensive. In 1784, the expense of carrying one ton from Philadelphia to Erie was two hundred forty-nine dollars. It is interesting to note that the routes taken by these early pioneers, skilled only in wood-craft, were later followed in building roads and railroad lines.On the whole, the roads in Pennsylvania were in better condition than in any other colony. As a result of the good roads, more wagons were also found in this state. Despite the excellent conditions in some roads, it was not unusual to see a deserted stage-coach by the roadside because of a broken wheel or because of being caught in the quagmires which were frequently encountered on nearly all the roads.Then the first regular mails were established, starting in 1673 with the route between Boston and New York, with a stop to change horses at Hartford. The mail riders were an unscrupulous lot, who did anything and everything to gain financial remuneration. The Pennsylvania post rider would knit stockings and mittens on his journey; others carried merchandise, and still others returned horses for travellers. The colonists saw the need of strong wagons to carry food and goods, and after many experiments built a sturdy wagon called a Conestoga wagon. The bodies of these wagons were curved so that when going up hill, the freight would not fall out. They were called Conestoga wagons because they were first used in Conestoga valley. The drivers of these wagons would secure the finest horses and most costly harness and there was much competition regarding the appearance of the different wagons. It is somewhat surprising to note that at this time wagon building and

WHAT THE C.M.T.C. HAS DONE FOR A BOY WHO ENLISTED FOR A "SET UP"

On the stage we sometimes see transformation scenes, but none can surpass what some visitor's saw at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Camp Devens.

After the four weeks training our boy who went to the camp with rather hazy ideas of what life is good for and the effort that must be put forth to make it good for something, is home again with ideas so clarified, with an outlook so far reaching as to almost transform him into manhood.

Last winter he was a gloomy day when it seemed to our boy that knowledge, in the lines presented to him, was of no great value and its acquirement a burden too heavy to be borne. If school kept or not it was all the same to him.

When, in June, he learned of the Training Camp he thought it might be a good thing for other boys, but whether he wanted to enlist—well he must think about it. To give a month to occupations in which he had no special interest did not appeal to him.

He kept thinking about it and finally decided to throw doubt to the winds and had his name registered—The die was cast.—All the preliminaries complied with, his suit case in hand early Monday, Aug. 1 he appeared on the ground with the other 1200 "cits"—Uniform donned, Company assigned, chums chosen, the new life was inaugurated.

What has happened? A training in so short a time that is almost marvelous.—Stooping shoulders straightened, a firm, alert, rapid military step, in place of a slouching gait, eyes bright and clear and wide open, voice strong and resonant—in fact our boy has command of himself. He has emerged from a state of indifference and is ready to turn his capacities to the best account. In the program of the work which will occupy the time there is this paragraph, "Discipline will be enforced—never harsh, but always strict. Soldierly bearing, order, neatness and sanitation in quarters and Camp will be required from all. The meaning of discipline, prompt and cheerful obedience, its importance and development will be an important part of the program."

Also—The Training Camps will "teach respect for proper authority, strengthen self respect, develop alertness and self reliance." Instruction is given in personal hygiene, in domestic science, in laws of health and disease, in the unwritten laws of good manners and good fellowship from association with good fellows. Under hygiene come the shower bath, swimming in lake to which the boys are transported in Uncle Sam's commodious trucks. The early to bed, early to rise military habit has been strictly enforced as a large factor in a "set-up" program—a habit that cannot be emphasized too strongly and too firmly fixed.

More still.—For a review "We washed our belts, put on clean clothes, blocked our hats, shined our shoes, cleaned our rifles and changed our buttons." Nothing but perfection in these processes will "pass muster."

Under domestic science come bed making, orderly arrangement of personal effects, spotless floors. Laws of health and disease are brought out in popular lectures. Unwritten laws of good manners, consideration for others and good fellowship come from association with good fellows who want to write them into their lives. The boys are taught to observe carefully to be punctual, prompt, precise, exact in their work, to do their best every time.

When these boys are ready for jobs Mr. Edison will find more than 32 out of 718 who will meet his requirements and not refuse work because they will get dirt on their hands. No better school for atrophied brains than the camp school. Where is the host who will provide clothing for his guests? Uncle Sam has done it and has done it generously. Khaki uniforms, army shoes, shirts, leggings are on the list. Good beds and bedding and good things to eat, including a bountiful supply of Pie, all kinds, dear to the stomachs of all New England boys and to other stomachs too.

The "Manual" is the daily food for every leisure hour. The more it is thumbed, the better the hikes, the rifle and bayonet practice, the machine gun work, and the mortar demonstration. On the principle that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, Uncle Sam has provided a recreation room, theatre and a library Saturday afternoons free. Above and before all are the guests of another time and season appointed by Uncle Sam to entertain his youthful guests. Fine, competent, genial men who take almost a fatherly interest in the boys. Shall I mention just one who made a lasting impression on one feminine heart. Colonel—For untold there were no more in evidence for the feminine heart has limitations.

An American boy in earnest with a full average mental equipment, good digestion and a yearly "set up" in such a camp, cannot fail in a decade to join the ranks of those citizens in every community who are highly respected and esteemed because of their example and their interest in all movements for the uplift of those they meet in their daily walks.

Thanks, strong and long, for the officers of the War Department who have carried out so thoroughly and efficiently the plans for the Training Camps thru which our boys will be better prepared for everything promoting peace. Why should I add War? There will never be another if the predictions for the Lewisite gas are realized. A few tons of it are guaranteed to make this planet as bare as a billiard ball.

ALL-BREED DOG SHOW

The Middlesex County Kennel Club, having had quite a long rest since its annual A. K. C. Show at Cambridge, April 19th, which was a record-breaker in several ways, has again started to wake things up for the season with the announcement of a Sanction Show for all breeds of dogs to be held Saturday afternoon, September 10th, on the grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A., which is on Church street, off Washington street, about three minutes' walk South or Southwest from Newton Corner.

A number of very well-known fanciers and breeders have consented to officiate as judges, and it is hoped and expected that the local fanciers and dog lovers, as well as many enthusiasts from a distance will be present with their pets and prospective prize winners to make a busy afternoon for the wearers of the ermine. As this is an informal event, though conducted under the rules of the American Kennel Club, no pedigrees or previous entries are required. Intending exhibitors will only have to bring their dogs and enter them at the time of the show. There will be classes for all breeds and ages, from the puppy under four months old to the oldest veteran, and special prizes will be offered in the various breeds, also for the best oldest dog and for the best shown by children. As part of the proceeds will be given to the Y.M.C.A., this event should appeal especially to local dog owners as one at which they can enjoy a pleasant afternoon of good clean sport, and also indirectly contribute with small expense to the benefit of their own local institution. Further particulars may be obtained by calling during the daytime Main 799, and at any time day or night, Centre Newton 1032-J, and by consulting our advertising columns.

200 Adams Street,
Newton, Mass.

Neighbors All:—

Self-help and self-government are the corner stones of true democracy. There are two thousand children in the immediate vicinity of Adams street. The congestion is as bad as it is in the most crowded districts of our big cities.

The children are forced to play in the streets. They are now in terrible danger. Autos and trucks are a constant menace to our little ones.

They need a clean, green shady playground, right there handy to all their homes, where children can play and absorb health and happiness and learn true American sportsmanship under careful supervision. The mothers need a handy place to rest and enjoy the play of their children.

The accomplishment of such a playground will be a social development for the mutual interests of the whole neighborhood. This emulates the idea of the old New England settlers to establish a Common in every village. Options have been already secured on about four acres of land situated on Hawthorne street in the midst of a thickly settled neighborhood of Nonantum District, which will cost about $5000. If the land is not secured now, at a later date it might be impossible without the destruction of houses and of streets. The immediate neighborhood has already pledged $1000, and a considerable portion has been paid in.

It is hoped that every true lover of children will help, and take an interest in this progressive movement. No subscription will be considered too small. Every contribution is a powerful vote for the playground.

The undersigned Committee has been formed to promote the plans of securing such a playground for so many children, who are now daily exposed to a constant danger in the overcrowded streets of this community.

All are invited to come to Hawthorne street (near Adams street) Newton on Monday at 5 P. M. on the land that the committee has secured for the playground; and join in a Get-Together Neighborhood Drive.

Addresses will be made by his Honor, Mayor Childs, Mr. Ubaldo Guidi, and other well known speakers.

DROWNING ACCIDENT

Francis Lyons, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lyons, of 1251 Centre street, and Salvatore Giardino, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Giardino, of Beacon place, both of Newton Centre, were drowned Wednesday in Crystal Lake, Newton Centre, when they slid off a raft about 30 feet from shore. The bodies were recovered later in the day.

A third boy in the party, Frederick Giles, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Giles of 148 Warren street, who was unable to save his playmates, swam ashore and notified the police.

The youngsters were playing upon the raft, which suddenly tilted and cast them all off into the water. The two boys, Lyons and Giardino, sank at once, for they could not swim, while Giles quickly swam back to the raft, tried to save them, but was unsuccessful.

GLORY ACCRUES TO LEADER

To Be Remembered, One Has Only to Be First in Some Undertaking That Succeeds.

Adam's glory was in being the first man, and Eve's in being the first woman. They have been talked of through all the centuries for nothing except that they were the first to live, the first to be tempted and the first to fall.

And so it is with many other persons and events that find their places in history. Always it is the beginnings of things that shed glory on the participants. Christopher Columbus has just been honored again because he was the first to discover America, and the landing of the Pilgrims is celebrated because they were the first to colonize Massachusetts. Harvard rejoices in being the first institution of learning in what is now the United States and having set up the first printing press. The first settlers of any community are always persons of prime interest, and the first man to wear pantaloons or carry an umbrella, if living today, could coin money by putting himself on exhibition.

If one wants to be remembered, one has only to pick out the spot where a great city is to be built, or connect himself with an industry that is bound to grow, or do something that is bound to become the fashion. He is at once immortalized. Generation after generation will speak his name, and on anniversary occasions orators will sound his praise. He may be individually no greater than thousands who have come after, but the glory of having been the first will be upon him forever and a day.—Columbus Dispatch.

SET RECORD FOR PROFLIGACY

Danish Courtier, Hundreds of Years Ago, Started Fashion Copied by Some Modern "Sports."

The "sport" who lights his cigarettes with $5 bills had the pace set hundreds of years ago by courtiers in the reign of Queen Caroline Matilda of Denmark. Bills worth $30 were used by them as pipe lighters, and the leadership was taken by an old roe, Count Rantzau, who, although 60, won the love of the beautiful Sophia Livernet, of the royal ballet, a maid of 18 years. Rantzau was the brains behind the plot that broke the rule of the giddy queen and her lover, Dr. Struensee, and put the dowager queen, Juliana Maria, in power.

That astute lady promptly turned on Rantzau and ordered him banished. He was sunk in melancholy, but brightened long enough to give a series of balls and entertainments more brilliant than any the kingdom had known. Then he drew his pistol, and all would have been over had not the lovely Sophia entered at that moment and by singing a trio of old melodies to the tinkle of her harp, won back his desire to live. He did not die until many years later, and then died as he would have wished to die with his boots on, and as the result of a duel in France over the favor of a lady.

Capt. Roger Clap to His Children.

Roger Clap's words to his children were:

"You have better food and raiment than was in former times; but have you better hearts than your forefathers had? If so, rejoice in that mercy, and let New England then shout for joy. Sure all the people of God in other parts of the world, that shall hear the children and grandchildren of the first planters of New England have better hearts, and are more heavenly than their predecessors, they will doubtless greatly rejoice, and say: 'This is the generation whom the Lord hath blessed.'"

Capt. Roger Clap, an English colonist in America, was one of the founders of Dorchester, Mass., settling there in 1630. He was captain of the fort or "castle" on Castle Island from 1665 to 1686, after which, until his death, he lived in Boston. He is best remembered for his "Memoirs," which he prepared about 1676, but which were not published until 1731, when they were edited by Thomas Prince.

Porridge, a Talisman.

Porridge is what the Scots are brought up on; that and theology, and the curious thing is that only those who come from north of the Tweed know the secret of how to make it. The English have a breakfast dish made with oats, while the people of the United States are perfectly frank about it and call it "oatmeal." The Scots have been accused of being clanish, but it may be that they are only fond of their national dish. A traveler in Canada one morning alighted from the train at Scotia Junction. Did the name of the station and the pictures of Edinburgh castle and the Forth bridge in the little hotel bring back any happy memories? Perhaps, yes. Perhaps, no. Anyhow it was noticed that when he heard the quiet request, "Will yer hae some porridge?" a smile spread over his face. That settled it. The best must be a Scot.

Mean Advantage.

Chairman (of public banquet)—Gentlemen, before I introduce the next speaker, there will be a short recess, giving you all a chance to go out and stretch your legs.

Guest—Who is the next speaker? Chairman—Before telling you who he is I would rather wait until you come back.—Life.

MEETING POSTPONED

On account of the absence of so many people on vacations, it has seemed best to postpone the meeting of the Citizens Committee planned for September 8th, to a later date. This will give the several chairmen an opportunity to complete their committees. Notice of the date of the next meeting will be announced later.

WABAN NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB

Tennis Tournament Committee

The Singles Tournament for the club championship for men will start at 2 P. M., Saturday, September 10.

The Singles Tournament for Ladies and Girls and the Singles Tournament for Boys start at 2 P. M., Monday, September 12.

The Doubles Tournaments for Men and for Ladies start Saturday, October 8 at 2 P. M.

The committee urgently requests that all players will report for play at the time set or will arrange with their opponents for matches at the earliest opportunity. The draw will be posted at the courts on the morning of each tournament. When matches are finished please, enter the result—names and scores—on the score card. Do not register defaults, but consult the committee.

There should be more entries in the boys' and ladies' tournaments than was the case in the Spring. Let's all get into the game and wind up the season with some real competition!

The bumping tournament will be continued through the month of September. Where do you stand? Isn't there somebody ahead of you that you can "trim"?

WHERE TO KEEP MONEY.

The Comptroller of the Currency estimates that there's now about $700,000,000 of hoarded money in this country which should be in the banks.

This holding money out of the banks is in part responsible for the shortage of credit from which all industries suffer at present. Idle money tends to make idle industries and idle men.

The place to keep your money is in a savings bank where it's safe, where it earns a profit for you, and where it's useful to the community.

Open an account with this strong Bank where your money is always available and where it will help your City.

"Constructor of Homes"

CORDIALLY INVITES YOU TO INSPECT

FOUR NEW SINGLE HOMES

At FAIR OAKS PARK, California Street, NEWTONVILLE

The above company organized in an endeavor to put on the market homes, distinctive in design, constructed as they should be, and by quantity production, at reduced cost, now has four new homes nearing completion.

The designs are individual in type and have entrance hall, full length living room finished in gumwood, with open fireplace, paneled dining rooms, sanitary kitchen and pantries well fitted with cabinets, finished in white enamel, four bed rooms and tiled baths with built-in fixtures.

From the ground up they are built for warmth and to last. Solid concrete foundations under porches as well as main buildings, new matched rough boarding and overseas heating plants in all halls, living, dining and bed rooms. Battleship linoleum floors in kitchens and pantries. Gas ranges with Lorraine Heat Regulators. Riverside Stack Storage System of continuous hot water, copper screens.

Situated in beautiful American neighborhood, surrounded with full grown trees, with large lots on finished streets.

By quantity production and labor saving machinery we are able to sell at prices from 25 to 40 per cent less than last fall prices.

Representative on grounds week days and Sundays. Evenings by appointment. Telephone Newton North 3128.

THE GIBRALTOR OF THE HUDSON

WEST POINT, atop the commanding heights which line the west bank of the historic Hudson river, in the picturesque and so-called "highlands" country and some fifty miles north of New York city, is often referred to as the "Gibraltar of the Hudson."

Here, in a magnificent site of some 3,500 acres, is set down the United States Military academy—our national institution for the training of cadets for commissions in the army.

A resolution of the Congress of 1776 provided for the preparation of a plan for "A Military Academy of the Army." General George Washington personally interested himself in the movement.

The original buildings were burned in 1796, but were rebuilt and the actual creation of the academy as known today took place in 1802.

At various times after 1775 this strategic location was fortified and at the close of the Revolutionary war West Point was selected as a depot for the storage of military property.

The majority of the commanding generals on both sides of the Civil war were graduates of this academy. This fact brought the importance of the institution so prominently before the world that its methods were carefully studied by experts of practically every nation of prominence in the whole world.

The course of instruction covers three years and constitutes the most complete military training in existence.

Color Blindness.

No fewer than 55 persons in every thousand are more or less color-blind. The commonest form is not, as many suppose, inability to distinguish red and green—that affects one person in 55. The most usual symptom is uncertainty between blue and green. This is experienced by one out of every 46 persons, but only one in 60 is unable to distinguish between brown and green. Color blindness is more common among educated than uneducated people, and an odd fact is that musicians are more liable to this affliction than are any other class or profession.

Sheridan and Cumberland.

The story is told of Cumberland that he took his children to see "The School for Scandal" and when they laughed rebuked them, saying that he saw nothing to laugh at in this comedy. When this was reported to Sheridan, his comment was, "I think that comfoundedly ungrateful, for I went to see Cumberland's last tragedy and laughed heartily at it all the way through."—Henry A. Byers in "The Connecticut Wits and Other Essays."

Trees for Korea.

Reforestation in Korea started with a handful of seeds planted by a Methodist missionary at Chenuipso, some 20 years ago, says the American Forestry Magazine. The work of providing shade trees for their stations was taken up by other missionaries, and in a few years the oppressive barrenness of the Korean hills was broken here and there by clumps of boxelder trees about the American mission stations.

travelling were more advanced in the colonies than in England, and that Massachusetts men introduced the first mail coach in England.

The building of good wagons necessarily meant the building of good roads, or turnpikes. The first turnpike was built between Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pennsylvania, in 1792. The cost of building twenty-five hundred miles of roads, according to a report issued at this time, was thirty-seven million dollars. A good example of colonial road-building was the Mohawk and Hudson turnpike, between the cities of Albany and Schenectady, New York. This famous road was considered the most beautiful turnpike in the colonies.

One may obtain a good idea of travel facilities in the early part of the nineteenth century by the following extract of a letter from the editor of the Providence "Gazette": "We were rattled from Boston to Providence in four hours, fifty minutes. If anyone wishes to go faster he may go to Kentucky and charter a streak of lightning." Henry Clay rode in a stage-coach from Salem to Boston in one hour Daniel Webster rode from Boston to Portland at the rate of 16 miles an hour to sign the Ashburton Treaty. In 1750, there were as many carriages in the colonies, in proportion to population, as there was in England in 1830. It was a common saying that "No man walked in the colonies except a vagabond or a fool."

The fact that some states were far ahead of others is shown by the common use of sleighs in New York when they were unknown in Boston. In some states canals were also proposed and built. The canals at one time were rivals of the stage coaches in traveling. George Washington was a stockholder in the Dismal Swamp Canal. Benjamin Franklin was another prominent colonist who realized their value.

It would be fitting to say, in conclusion, that when we consider the few facilities at the disposal of these hardy pioneers, together with the hardships they suffered and the toll they endured in building up travel and transportation routes, we must acknowledge this as one of their most remarkable feats; one that compares favorably with the courage and determination that they must have possessed to be tempted to leave the Old World and seek their fortune in a strange land.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK W. PEVEAR BOTH DIE WITHIN A WEEK

Susan L. Pevear, wife of Frank W. Pevear, formerly of Newton Centre, died in the White Plains, N. Y., Hospital on Sunday, August 14, following an illness of several months. Her husband died the following Sunday at White Plains. Mrs. Pevear was born in Weymouth, N. S., and was married to Frank W. Pevear in Lynn, Mass., where she lived for about twenty years. In 1892, they moved to Newton Highlands, later moving to Ward street, Newton Centre, where they were prominently identified with the religious and charitable work of the Newton Centre Baptist Church. In 1902 they moved to Brooklyn, N. Y., where they lived for 15 years, moving to White Plains, N. Y., about a year ago. Mrs. Pevear was 60 years of age and is survived by a son, Selwyn R. Pevear, three sisters, and two brothers.

Frank W. Pevear was born in Lynn, Mass., June 25, 1854. At the age of 16 he entered the employ of the J. F. Bumstead Co. of Boston, dealers in wall papers, advancing rapidly until this firm was made a corporation, when he became vice president. Later he worked for James I. Wingate & Co. and in 1902 went to New York City where he had charge of the wall paper department for John Wamaker. For several years previous to his death he had been employed by the W. H. S. Lloyd Co. of New York City and was considered an expert in the wall paper business. He was Deacon and Sunday School Superintendent of the Washington Street Baptist Church, Lynn, Mass., of Newton Centre Baptist Church, of Strong Place Baptist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a Deacon of the White Plains, N. Y., Baptist Church. He was Secretary of the Boston Baptist Social Union at one time. Mr. Pevear had been ill about two months. He is survived by one son, Selwyn R. Pevear, of White Plains, one daughter, Mrs. Euphemia C. Dow, of West Newton, Mass., two sisters and one brother, of Lynn, Mass. Both Mr. and Mrs. Pevear are buried in Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn, Mass., the services having been held just one week apart.

CITY OF NEWTONPROPOSALS FOR ERECTING NEW FIRE STATION, AUBURNDALE

Sealed proposals for furnishing all material and labor, except heating and plumbing, required to erect and complete a new Fire Station at corner of Auburn & Woodbine Streets, Auburndale, will be received by the Public Buildings Commissioner at City Hall, West Newton, on September 14th, 1921, at 2.30 P. M.

All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check on a National Bank or Trust Company for the sum of $300, payable to and to become the property of the City of Newton as liquidated damages if the proposal which it accompanies is accepted and the bidder refuses or neglects to execute the contract.

A surety bond of 50 per cent of the amount of the contract will be required.

Plans and specifications may be obtained from the Architect, James H. Ritchie, 15 Ashburton Pl., Boston, Mass.

The right to reject any or all proposals is reserved by the Public Buildings Commissioner.

WALTER R. FORBUSH,
Public Buildings Commissioner.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It was my very great pleasure one day last week to visit the Pomroy Home children, in their beautiful summer cottage, so generously provided for them, thru the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Burton, for the past three summers, at Wolfeboro. To see them romp in the pine grove and swim in the lake, while breathing the invigorating air of New Hampshire, would well repay their generous benefactors for all their kindness.

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto Me."

CHARLES A. HASKELL, President.

WALTHAM FAIR

Prominent society people of national as well as local significance will have a part in the horse show and the running races at Waltham Fair.

Samuel J. Shaw, a well-known horseman, who took a prominent part in the Readville events, is secretary of the horse show and horse races to be held at the Waltham Fair from September 28th to October 1st, inclusive.

Among the stables of national reputation which will be represented are those of William H. Wannamaker, Jr., Wm. Dupont of Montpelier Farms, Wm. Dupont, Jr., of Fox Catchers Farm, Rosemont, Pa., Miss Louisa Leon Coombs of Kansas City, Ami Dupont of Wilmington, A. C. Burrage, Jr., and William Almy of Boston.

It is expected that Miss Eleanora Sears will exhibit her ponies. At least four four-in-hands will be shown, J. S. Sylvester, Weld Stock Farm, Col. E. D. Emerson and Mr. Abbott having notified the management of their intention to appear in this class.

BAND CONCERT

BIG DRIVE SATURDAY-SEPT. 10TH

Our need is a Community Centre, our aim is to start the girl right and give the boy a chance. A place where mothers can leave their children during working hours; also where they can receive instructions in caring for them. This house will be open evenings for the express purpose to have boys and girls together to be given lessons in many practical and essential things of life; such as street manners, purity of speech, correct poise, etc. Much stress will be given in the early and latter adolescence, to get the mind directed on something definite in life, after which we shall put the boy or girl in pursuit of development for the same. We shall use every possible means to help boys and girls, for we think that better youths in a community make a better community. Now, we expect to purchase a large 14-room house where we can carry on this work, and we solicit your earnest cooperation in any way that you may feel disposed. We can use second-hand clothing, furniture, carpets, books, etc., anything in any condition is accepted, just call West Newton 904-J, and ask for Mr. Hill. I have never asked the people of Newton for any help during my four years here, but I am making an earnest appeal to you now to help me in this settlement work which will be for the betterment of our community; so on Saturday, Sept. 10th, let us get together and win this battle for good.

CLARK SCHOOL WILL MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS

The Clark School of Business Administration after Sept. 1 will remove to the recently remodelled Thorndike Building on Boylston street, where it will occupy the entire top floor.

Mr. Anthony D. Skelding, former dean of the Babson Institute at Wellesley Hills, Mass., will take charge of the department of business economics which will include courses on advertising, salesmanship, business statistics, and the psychology of the modern business system.

Business men everywhere are calling for trained executives and assistants to administer the increasing complexities of their enterprises. They seek in vain, the present system of educating office juniors does not meet the need. They must be trained and educated in more general and larger fields than their own businesses allow. It is to fill such needs as this that the modern business university has sprung into life. The Clark School anticipating this was a pioneer in this field. The increasing demand for this kind of education among young men and women seeking to enter business life forced the Clark school to overflowing in its old quarters and also the addition of several new courses to this department of education.

SUCCESSFUL LAWN PARTY

Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., of Newton, held its second annual lawn party on Cabot Park Playgrounds, last Saturday afternoon and evening. It was largely attended and a great success.

There was the customary midway with many up-to-date novelties. The African dodger doll, Chinese baskets and cane racks were features. In the evening dancing was enjoyed in the large pavilion erected for the occasion. The general committee included Chief Ranger Thomas F. Hickey, chairman; Miss Mary E. Blake, secretary; and James Ryan, treasurer; assisted by Mrs. Edward Leahy, Mrs. James Flanagan, Mrs. John Mulligan, Mrs. Thomas Hickey, Mrs. Hugh Drew, Mrs. Andrew Moran, Mrs. James Whelan, Mrs. John Hanlon, Mrs. Marcus Welsh, Mrs. John Finnigan, Mrs. J. Kinchla, Mrs. T. Peppard, Mrs. B. Buckley, Mrs. P. Flynn, Mrs. B. Hanlon, Mrs. M. Conroy, Mrs. J. Murphy, Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. Edward Brine, and the Misses Margaret Vahey, Elizabeth Dunne, Mary Buckley, Catherine Paine, Margaret Buckley, Lillian Blake, Mary Higgins, Margaret Boughan, Mae Mulligan, Mabel Drown, Catherine Nolan, Margaret Horther, Claire Brosnahan, Agnes Higgins, Daisy Rooney, Helen Flannery, Mary Delaney, Mary Kinchla, and Mary Timmons, Messrs. W. H. Thomas, Thomas F. Bryson, Thomas F. Peppard, Albert Moore, Thomas F. Fitzgerald, Timothy O'Rourke, Marcus Welsh, Thomas Hickey, Martin Finan, George Meade, John J. Fitzgerald, John Hanlon, Edward Hickey, Christopher Bradley, John Murphy, Maurice O'Connell, J. P. Tierney, Walter Carley, Henry Flanagan, Loughlin McIsaac, Joseph Shea, George Kinchla, Walter Buckley, John Hines, Patrick Campbell, Bert Stuart, Angus McLean, Edward Gray, James Sullivan, Patrick Barry, Michael Shannon, Frank McDonald, Edward Powers, Edward Bryson, and Michael Considine.

The sub-committees were: Grounds, Timothy O'Rourke, Thomas F. Hickey, Thomas F. Peppard and Walter Carley; reception, William H. Thomas, past high chief ranger; auto rides, Miss Catherine Nolan and Loughlin McIsaac; novelties, Misses Margaret Vahey and Mary Buckley; dancing, Thomas H. Fitzgerald; dolls, Timothy E. O'Rourke; canes, Edward Hickey and Christopher Bradley; African dodger, Henry Flanagan; fortune teller, Mary Higgins; tagging, Mrs. John Flanagan; publicity, Thomas F. Bryson.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

When "White and Unmarried," of which Thomas Meighan is the star, comes to the Newton Opera House next Friday and Saturday, film patrons will have an opportunity of seeing how "the other half lives" in the gay French capital. Meighan appears as a crook who reforms when his uncle leaves him half a million dollars and goes to Europe to kill time. Jacqueline Logan is leading woman and Grace Darmond has an important role. Walter Long is cast as a particularly ferocious Apache. The support is excellent.

POLICE NOTES

Three men, arrested for infractions of the motor laws were given fines aggregating $45 in the Newton Court Saturday.

Hollings Bridge of Nahant and Clyde Gelman of 26 Branch street, Lowell, were each fined $10 for speeding. Joseph Grisconi of Berkeley street, Watertown, charged with failing to stop his machine by the line.

DEATH OF MRS. HANNAH P. KIMBALL

Mrs. Hannah P. Kimball of Otis street, West Newton, who died suddenly at Marblehead, Saturday, Aug. 27, was well known in this village for her activities in conducting the charity hospital for crippled children.

Mrs. Kimball in company with Dr. Julia Dutton was spending a few days at the Devereaux Mansion. While watching a yacht race from the nearby shore she was seized with an attack of heart failure, fell into the water and was drowned.

The body was later recovered and burial was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Tuesday, August 30.

WOLCOTT FAMILY REUNION

The seventeenth annual reunion of the Society of Descendants of Henry Wolcott will be held in Boston, Sept. 7, 8 and 9, with headquarters at the Hotel Vendome.

All descendants of Henry Wolcott, who came in the Mary and John, 10 years after the landing of the Pilgrims, are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Walter B. Wolcott of Hunnewell avenue, Newton, is the Executive Chairman of the Society.

WEST—PAUL

Miss Cecile L. Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paul of Waltham was married Monday morning to Mr. Augustine West, son of Mrs. Catherine West of Carleton street, Newton. The ceremony, which was performed by Father Rosario Richard, took place at St. Joseph's Church, Waltham, and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Pine street, Waltham. The bride was Miss May Paul, sister of the bride and Francis Kelly of Waltham was best man. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered Canton crepe and carried bride roses. The bridesmaid wore Russia crepe and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bride was widely known in Waltham, being organist at the Waltham Theatre. The groom was a war veteran, having served in the Mexican and overseas wars.

After a wedding trip to Lake Sunapee, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. West will live in Newton and will be at home to their friends after Nov. 1st.

GARDEN NEWS STORY

Nearly every town and city has its local fair or garden exhibit. There are three large fairs in the county at Waltham, Acton, and Groton, which provides generous premiums for growers of vegetables. They provide an opportunity for pleasant competition and they have an educational value in that they provide the best means of finding out what types and varieties are most desirable for market and exhibition purposes.

To select vegetables for an exhibit it is usually necessary to have a large number from which to make a choice. In most fairs five is the number required of small vegetables and two of larger varieties. It is surprisingly difficult to secure five different specimens that are uniform in size, shape and color. This is important for an exhibit. They should always be of good quality and free from blemishes and evidence of disease. The largest specimen is not likely to win the prize. Exhibits are judged according to their eating quality. This means that products should be of medium size. If they are too large it is evident that they will be of coarse grain and tough. If they are too small it is evident that they are not properly grown and will not be palatable.

Exhibits should be thoroughly cleaned, preferably by brushing the dirt dry from the product rather than washing it. Leaves should be removed from root crops. To be able to win a blue ribbon at the local or county exhibit should be the ambition of every backyard gardener.

TERMS, $3.00 A YEAR

CONSTABULARY TO CELEBRATE

Arrangements Now Being Made For Gathering at Norumbega Park on October 1st.

The Newton Constabulary will have a Field Day at Norumbega Park, Saturday, October 1st, next. The affair will be for the purpose of a reunion and also to enable the men to receive their honorable discharges from the hands of His Honor, The Mayor.

It is proposed to form a permanent organization to be known as The Newton Constabulary Association to perpetuate the memory of the Constabulary and to be in a position to respond quickly as an active organization in the event of any necessity.

The Vice President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge, and the Secretary of War, John W. Weeks, it is hoped will be present. The entertainment will include a Rhode Island clam-bake which will be preceded by a baseball game and other sports. Music will be furnished by the Newton Constabulary Band of 30 pieces.

Captains are endeavoring to get in touch with members of their companies to insure a full attendance. Members are urged to immediately notify their captains of their intention to be present in order that suitable arrangements can be made. Everyone who has been a member of the Constabulary at any time during its existence is most cordially urged to be present. Notification of intention to be present should be given to present or former commanding officer. Invitations will be extended to the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen, also to the former Committee on Public Safety.

Humanity Classified.
Humanity seems to be divided into two classes—learners and lifters, complainers and smilers, critics and doers, breakers and makers.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

In order that the citizens of Newton proper may take a greater interest in the Burr Playground and make it a true community centre, the Newton Improvement Association has donated a cup which will be presented to the winner of the Men's Tournament to be held this Fall on the Burr Playground.

Mr. Arthur W. Blakemore has also donated a cup to be presented to the winner of the Woman's Tournament.

The winner of the cup this year will keep the cup for one year, and become the owner thereof upon winning the cup three years.

Entries are confined to residents of Wards 1 and 7 and may be made either at the Y. M. C. A. or at the Burr Playground. The entrance fee is 50 cents. Entries for the men close September 12th, and for the women September 19th.

Courts may be reserved for the tournament at any time and these reservations will take precedence over other entries. A special effort will be made to have the courts available after 5 P. M. to accommodate business men who may enter.

The committee in charge hopes that all who are interested in the game

NEWTON COUNCIL K. OF C.

The annual election of officers of Newton Council, K. of C., was held Tuesday evening. Thomas F. Hession, who served as grand knight the past year, was re-elected for a second term. Other officers elected were William J. Gerity, deputy grand knight; Daniel H. Hannigan, chancellor; John F. Gallagher, financial secretary; D. Walter Kern, Jr., recording secretary; E. A. Maguire, warden; George W. Linnehan, treasurer; James A. Waters, advocate; Thomas J. Joyce, inside guard; John S. McElroy, outside guard; John J. Hickey, delegate to the state convention; William A. Sprout and John F. Gallagher, alternates. Dennis M. Cronin will be the delegate to the Boston Chapter and William A. Sprout will serve as a trustee for three years.

The following will serve on the board of directors of the Home Association: John J. Hickey, Edward J. Kivell, Thomas A. Navien, Thomas H. Black and William H. Meehan. John E. Barwise was elected clerk and William M. Cahill, treasurer.

will enter regardless of proficiency, and thus make this an opportunity of becoming better acquainted with their neighbors.

AN UNUSUAL AWARD

In the Arbitration Decision Affecting the M. & B. Street Railway Company

A new and novel element has been added to the history of labor arbitration in the award handed down last week by the arbitration board which has been considering the relations of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Co. and its employees. In making a decision that a cut of 15 per cent shall be made in the pay of the employees, the board makes its award retroactive to July 1st and directs that the employees shall reimburse the Company for payments which have been made in excess of the amount named in the decision.

The award affects some 300 employees and at a meeting held in Waltham on Friday night, it was voted to accept its provisions.

The managers of the company did not win all the points at issue, however. There were three other important matters before the board which were decided in favor of the employees. First came the question of reporting for extra work embodied in the following demand:

"Whenever a regular conductor or motorman is asked and is willing to report before his regular reporting time or after having finished his day's work or during the long mid-day lay-off, and is not assigned to at least 1½ hours' work, he shall receive 1½ hours' pay for such report; when a regular man is not relieved at his regular relief time, he shall at least receive 1½ hours' pay for his additional time."

The company sought to eliminate the last clause of this demand so that straight time only would be paid for such overtime as was necessitated by reason of failure to relieve men at the termination of their regular days' work. The arbitrators say they "are of the opinion that the penalty imposed upon the company under the present wording of this subsection is proper and

NEW MONTE CARLO IN CUBA?

Possibility That World-Famous Gambling Establishment May Be Located on the Island.

"The greatest gambling center in the world will be located in the western hemisphere if plans for 'palaces' in Cuba develop as given out," said Walter P. Harris of Havana. "Cuba is already beset with the gambling fever, and fortunes change hands there almost every day.

"Since the announcement of the prince of Monaco that he is preparing to close Monte Carlo, there have been extensive preparations for the establishment of great gambling palaces designed to attract the sporting element that now visits Monte Carlo to the 'Pearl of the Antilles.' Several villages have been surveyed with the view of locating this gambling center, but so far no definite decision has been reached.

"Gambling is already flourishing in Havana. The Casino de la Playa is a great garish temple of roulette, where wonderful dinners are served at less than cost. The profit to the house comes from the wheel. The men who take women to the Casino for dinner invariably back them at the wheel.

"The moratorium now in effect on the island has not affected the crowds at the Casino, because they are mostly composed of tourists, and the visitor is treated to the sight of a country, apparently bankrupt but gambling madly, where fortunes change hands overnight and the beggar of today may be the rich man of tomorrow."—Washington Post.

HUMAN FACE AS A BEACON

Radiometer Able to Record the "Shine" Thrown Off, at a Distance of Several Miles.

Novelists that speak of a face "lighting up" put down an actual truth that few of them are aware of or intend. One of the most delicate instruments in the world, a radiometer, records the "shine" of a human face, and can do it at a distance of several miles. So delicate is the instrument that it can detect and record the glimmer of a candle half a mile away, and if there were no atmospheric obstruction it could detect the same candle 16 miles away. The instrument consists of two thin glass disks, one polished and one blackened, suspended by a quartz thread in a vacuum. Waves of radiant energy striking this instrument disturb its balance, because the bright disk reflects them, while the black one absorbs them.

While the human face to the normal eye gives out no waves of radiant energy, the fact remains that a constant flow of energy is being thrown off, and these waves travel an unknown distance. Although the radiometer is a wonderful and delicate instrument, there is a thermal couple ten times as sensitive as the radiometer and it can detect the heat of a candle 60 miles distant.

Italy to the Rescue.

Visiting a school is a doubtful pleasure. But the woman had promised to call for a friend who is known as a "rooky" teacher. She waited until almost closing time before entering the school, a red brick, lumpy sort of building, not specially attractive. It looked as if she had come too soon. All eyes soon focussed on her instead of on the busy little teacher. The word "trio" was being explained to the children and volunteers were asked to stand and use the word in a sentence. And no one need expect to go home until the word was fully explained.

Little R. T. coaxed, "Come now, tell me just one little story with 'trio' in it."

Timidly, swarthy little Giuseppe raised his hand. His naturally happy face was strained in his effort to help. Then flashed a bright smile at the woman and shouted cheerfully: "It is nearly trio clock."—New York Sun.

Go to Class by Underground Tunnels.
An underground tunnel system that has all the fascination of the catacombs, although it serves the less dramatic function of conveying heating pipes, is one of the chief attractions at Wellesley college.

It has just been completed and undergraduates are being permitted to ramble around under the 300-acre campus.

The tunnels are six feet high and wide enough for comfortable walking. Girls have found that no matter how cold the weather, it is a good plan to abandon coats when taking this long adventure. The temperature from the heating pipes is about that of a Turkish bath.

This Oil May Cure Leprosy.
The use of Chaulmoogra oil has been known for some time to have some virtue in the treatment of leprosy, and recently it has been discovered that there are a great many points of similarity between the germs of leprosy and those of tuberculosis. This has led to some government experiments in the direction of combating tuberculosis which will be conducted at Hawaii.

Iron Ore From the Alps.

A new iron ore field has been discovered in Switzerland which is estimated to contain 47,000,000 tons, which will assure to Switzerland, at prewar consumption rate, sufficient iron ore to last for 45 years. The federal council suggests a provision by the government of 1,200,000 francs upon condition that a total capital of 4,000,000 francs is raised for exploitation.

just, especially in view of the fact that the men themselves are subjected to a rather drastic forfeiture for failure to report promptly at the beginning of their shift. The men admit the necessity for the latter provision in the interest of good management and service, and they are justified, in our opinion, in demanding equally considerate treatment from the company.

The next demand was for an emergency lunch, as follows:

"On special occasions, emergencies or holidays, or when business is so heavy that conductors or motormen are asked and they are willing to do extra work and are not allowed reasonable time to go to their boarding house or home for their meals, the company will furnish them a lunch until such time as they can be relieved to get their regular dinner or supper."

The arbitration board says: "The company desires to change the wording of this subsection by substituting the word 'assigned' for the word 'asked.' * * * In view of the provision in the statutes that these men shall not be obliged to work more than nine hours in eleven consecutive hours except by their own consent, it is difficult to see how the change requested by the company could be legally enforced if granted."

The whole question of "seniority" among the employees was disposed of by the arbitration board as follows:

"The company requests that all seniority requirements with respect to the hiring, discharging or promoting of men in its employ be eliminated from the agreement.

"The arbitrators recognize the fact that provisions of this nature may at times make for inefficiency and serve to embarrass the company in its attempt to render the most economical and satisfactory service to the public.

"* * * It appears, however, that this provision is one of long standing not only with respect to this company's affairs, but also in connection with the great majority of similar agreements in force elsewhere in this locality. It is also apparent in the present instance that because of a very commendable spirit of cooperation between the association's members and the company's officials this rule has usually been applied with reasonable regard for the rights of both parties, so that it does not seem to have affected the company adversely except in a very limited extent.

"In the absence of any evidence that the application of this rule is working at the present time to the serious detriment of the company, and in view of the reasonable attitude of the men with respect to its enforcement, the arbitrators do not feel warranted in withdrawing from the agreement a feature which is undoubtedly of considerable value to the men, especially those longest in the service."

In the agreement entered into last year which terminated July 1, conductors and motormen were to receive 50 cents an hour the first three months, 55 cents an hour the next nine months, and 60 cents an hour thereafter. At the same time it was agreed that men in the line department, the track department and barnmen and others should get an increase of five cents an hour over the old rate paid prior to July 1, 1920.

The company asked for a 20 per cent reduction and in considering this demand and the demand of the men for a slight increase over this scale the arbitrators looked at the matter from the standpoint of the cost of living and the financial condition of the company and gave less consideration to what they term "the living wage theory."

The arbitrators say of the "living wage theory": "The fundamental difficulty in its practical application seems to lie in the fact that we cannot take from industry in the form of income a greater amount in the aggregate than had been put into it in the shape of productive effort. * * * Millions are starving today in Russia not because the theory of the living wage is denied them, but because industry has been disorganized, demoralized and destroyed with the result that production has been made impossible and as a result there is nothing of value to distribute as income.

"It must be evident, therefore, that wages are bound to fluctuate more or less, depending upon whether industry in general is in a prosperous or depressed state and that no sum can be arbitrarily fixed which will represent a proper distributive share to the individual under all circumstances.

"The fact that the company as a party to an agreement with its men submits the question of wages to arbitration cannot, it seems to us, operate to eliminate entirely from consideration the matter of the company's ability to pay a greater wage than it would be obliged to pay if unrestricted in its dealings.

"The company has disbursed no dividends to its stockholders since 1917, when it paid only 1 1/2 per cent on its capital stock. It has not been able for several years to set aside sufficient money out of earnings to cover depreciation charges, nor has its income been sufficient to maintain its physical property in a satisfactory state of repair. On the contrary, a deficit has accrued which, if permitted to increase, must lead ultimately to a receivership and possibly to a complete suspension of operation.

"Under these circumstances the arbitrators do not feel warranted in establishing a wage for the employees which is in excess of a just compensation based upon all the attending conditions.

"The total increase in wages granted to the men since 1913 is materially greater than was the rise in the cost of living during the same period. Relatively, therefore, the men were much better off at the peak of prices than at any previous time. If, then, their wages are now reduced to no greater extent than living costs have declined, they will still be more prosperous than during pre-war years.

"The rates of blue-uniformed men are established for the year ending June 30, 1922, as follows: First three months, 42 1/2 cents per hour; next nine months, 47 cents per hour; thereafter, 51 cents per hour. Line departments,

THOUSANDS OF RED CROSS WORKERS TO MEET IN OCTOBER

First National Convention to Be Held in Columbus, Ohio;
Pageant a Feature

The American Red Cross will this year, for the first time in its history, hold a national convention which is expected to bring together several thousand representatives of the approximately 3500 Chapters of the organization in all parts of the United States. The convention will be held at the Ohio State Exposition Grounds, Columbus, Ohio, from October 4th through October 7th, preceding by a month the fifth annual Roll Call for members, which will take place from Armistice Day, November 11th, to Thanksgiving Day, November 24th. The outstanding features of the program will be a series of great mass meetings in the coliseum on the Exposition grounds with addresses by national leaders of thought and action and national officers of the American Red Cross. A spectacular pageant tracing the progress of mercy and service up through the centuries, in which more than 2000 men, women and children will take part; a pageant picturing the service of the Junior Red Cross; singing by a chorus of a thousand voices; a reunion of Red Cross nurses who served overseas during the World War; a mass conference on the Red Cross Roll Call, and a series of important sectional conferences on the various phases of the Red Cross peace program.

Noted Speakers Invited
Among those who have been invited to address the delegates are: President Harding, now President of the American Red Cross; William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court; John W. Weeks, Secretary of War; Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy; Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce; General John J. Pershing; Charles R. Forbes, Director of the new Veterans' Bureau; John G. Emery, Commander of the American Legion; William Jennings Bryan; Judge Del Toro, of Porto Rico; Miss Alice Masaryk, of the Czechoslovakian Red Cross; R. B. Bennett, of the Canadian Red Cross; Miss Alice Fitzgerald, of the League of Red Cross Societies; Fighting Chaplain Duffy.

Red Cross leaders who are scheduled to speak include Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman of the Central Committee; W. Frank Persons, Vice-Chairman in charge of domestic operations; Albert Ross Hill, Vice-Chairman in charge of foreign operations; Elliot Wadsworth, Mrs. August Belmont, Miss Mabel T. Boardman and Dr. Thomas W. Green.

If the duties of his office permit him to attend President Harding will probably speak at the opening mass meeting on the evening of October 4th, on "The Response for the Nation," following Dr. Farrand's address on "The Call."

A Magnificent Spectacle
The pageant, "The Red Cross of Service," will, it is believed, be one of the most magnificent spectacles of pageantry presented in this country. It will be produced under the direction of the author, Ruth Mougey Worrell, and among those taking part will be some 50 men and women who won distinction during the war for service to the Government and the Red Cross. A program of special music is being arranged and the big chorus will assist. Professor Lamont Warner, of New York City, is in charge of the stage sets, which will provide an allegorical background. The costumes are being made by volunteer workers of the Columbus Chapter from designs by Ray Sobey and under his direction. Many innovations in lighting and technical effects are being worked out.

The purpose of the pageant is to impress on the delegates from all sections of the country the importance to communities and to the entire country of the permanent program of the Red Cross. It will trace through the centuries, from the beginning of the present era, the spirit of service which is now symbolized by the cross of red on the field of white. While the main portion of the pageant depicts in a dramatic and inspiring way the different services of the Red Cross during the war and today, in peace, it will be preceded by a spectacular historical procession, passing by Human-ity, accompanied by Mercy, Faith, Service Hope and Love, the groups in the procession illustrating great events in various centuries of charity and service. One of the most pretentious scenes will be that of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table, and the knight of Sir Galahad for Service.

While the mass meetings and the pageant will attract a great deal of attention and will give splendid inspiration to those in attendance, the sectional conferences will be the real meat of the convention, the working sessions. At these conferences active Red Cross workers from communities in many States, representing various points of view, will discuss the important problems met by Chapters and Branches in carrying out their peace programs, including disaster relief, public health nursing, the general health program, volunteer service, Junior Red Cross work, post-war activities, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick nutrition, and the like.

New England Delegates
Arthur G. Rotch, Manager of the New England Division of the American Red Cross, has informed every Chapter in this Division's territory of the Convention, and has urged that delegates be selected as soon as possible. It is hoped that each of the 127 Chapters will send at least one delegate to Columbus, and wherever possible a group of delegates. The New England Division was a leader in war work, and it should maintain its prestige by sending a big delegation to represent it at the first national mobilization of Red Cross working forces.

BEWILDERING TO THE MIND

Everyday Measurements of Science That Are Almost Beyond Comprehension of the Layman.

One great difficulty in the study of astronomy is to comprehend the immensity of the distances and sizes involved. For instance, we can form no conception of the size or distance of the sun.

Suppose there was a spherical shell of the diameter of the sun. Suppose a great genie should drop into this shell, every second, night and day, a ball the size of the earth. How long would it take to fill the shell? Would it take an hour, a day, or a week? In fact, it would take two weeks, and when full the shell would contain more than 1,000,000 earths.

The distance to the sun is 93,000,000 miles. How long would it take a cannon ball to reach the sun, if shot from the earth, and continued on its course at a uniform velocity? In order not to underestimate the distance some might say a year. In fact it would take 1,000,000 earths.

Astronomically speaking, the above distance is very short. The sun is our nearest star. Strain the imagination by trying to comprehend the velocity of light which would pass seven times around the earth in one second of time. Now stagger the brain by trying to think of stars, so remote from us that a million years are required for their light to cross the enormous abyss that separates them from us. Think of it! When that ray of light, which now enters the eye, started on its course, perhaps there was no life on this earth.—John Candee Dean in the Indianapolis News.

REFUSED HAND OF SULTAN

Offer of Marriage by Ruler of Sulu Was Turned Down by Alice Roosevelt.

The Moro is not all bad. He has his good points. There has never been a case where a Moro has murdered an American woman, and there are many American women in Moroland. This abstinence, however, is not due to Moro chivalry, but to the fact that in the Moro thought women have no souls.

Not that the believed soullessness of the sex keeps the Moro from being a ladies' man. In fact, he is inclined to be very gallant. The famous visit of the Taft party, accompanied by the then Miss Alice Roosevelt, some years ago (and long to be remembered in the Philippines), was attended by a characteristic exhibition of Moro gallantry. When this party visited Jolo—no trip to the islands would be complete without visiting this picturesque island—his royal highness, the sultan of Sulu, immediately offered his hand in marriage to the daughter of the President. He addressed her as the American princess, and the name of Princess Alice still clings to her in the Philippines. The fact that his highness already had a couple of dozen wives scattered around the town was no deterrent in case of a Mohammedan monarch.

Encouraging the Hen.
The modern method of increasing the quantity of eggs that may be obtained from hens is turning on electric lights in their pens in the middle of the night, thereby awakening them, to the end that they eat an extra meal and thus approach closer than ever before the ideal of laying an egg a day, week after week. One cannot but think that this lengthening of the working day for hens is a device of the same genius who discovered that there was no need of arising at dawn to feed the poultry. He simply waited until after the henyard denizens had gone to roost, and then scattered their morning meal. The hens found their breakfast waiting for them in the morning, while the ingenious one arose and went about the affairs of the day only when he felt so inclined. No chanticleer called him to work.

"Automobile" Street Car.
Mechanical arrangement similar in many respects to that of an automobile is the distinguishing feature of a new form of gasoline-driven interurban car described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Though the body, seating 35 passengers, is like that of a standard modern street car, there is a long hood extending in front, in which the 50-horsepower engine is mounted. An auto-type gear shift is provided, and a shaft transmits the power to the rear wheels. Air brakes, electric lights, and a hot water heating plant are other details of the equipment. The car makes a round trip of 40 miles in a little more than two and one-half hours, consuming about five and one-half gallons of gasoline, or one gallon to seven miles.

Too Late.
"Ah!" exclaimed the fallen baseball star as he wiped away a tear. "If I had only thought about that song the young people were singing when I was a bush league player!"
"What was it?" asked a sympathetic friend.
"Take Back Your Gold!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Bad Housing and Tuberculosis.
Because of lack of housing in New York Doctor Copeland, city health commissioner, fears an increase in the tuberculosis mortality rate. He says insanitary conditions create an excellent field for the spread of disease and are sure to result in a moral and mental degeneracy.

AT QUANSET

The last ladies' race of the season was sailed on Saturday on Pleasant Bay, Cape Cod, from the Chatham Country Club pier. Mrs. S. W. Bridges of Newton came in first, and Mrs. James B. Melcher of Newton Highlands was twenty seconds behind. Prizes were awarded. Mrs. Bridges summers at Chatham and sailed her own boat, with a professional skipper aboard. Mrs. Melcher (formerly Miss Alice Hammatt) sailed Capt. Oscar Nickerson's boat (of Chatham) with Capt. Nickerson as Professional. Mrs. Melcher summers at Camp Quanset, South Orleans, across the bay from Chatham. She assists Skipper Irving Doane of Chatham in teaching the campers sharpie sailing. Quanset has long been known as the sailing camp, and was the first shore camp for girls. It is owned and managed by Mrs. E. A. W. Hammatt, formerly of Common-wealth avenue, Newton Centre, and is popular with girls who are lovers of sport, from Boston, Newton and the East, Washington, the south or the west.

Quanset's big knockabout, the "Toga," with a crowd of campers, has been present at every race of the season. Another year the camp will have its own racing boat, sailed by Mrs. Melcher and other Quanset "Daughters of Neptune" (advanced sailors) who have learned the winds, tides, and currents of the bay, as well as the management of the boat, under Skipper Doane. He will, of course, accom-pany them, as is the case in each boat which can secure a professional, except as in the race of Sunday, Sept. 4th, which was a test between amateurs unassisted.

Ralph Rollins will resume teaching voice, poise, and correct breathing after September 1st. Studios, 13 Cabot street and 3 Moody street, Room 33. Tel. Waltham 0719-W.—Advertisement.

EDITORIAL

The attention of real estate owners is called to the proposed new zoning ordinance on which a public hearing will be given at City Hall on Sept. 19th. As the greater part of the city will undoubtedly be restricted to single residences, practically every owner will have an interest in the establishment of the zoning system. It is understood that the committee in charge of the matter will endeavor to hold local meetings in each ward to learn the wishes of the citizens in regard to manner in which the various districts will be outlined.

The recent fatal accident at Crystal Lake where two young lads were drowned ought to rouse our city fathers to the necessity of doing something to remedy the anomalous situation which has existed in the matter of bathing there for some time. This bathing should either be authorized and supervised by the city or it should be wholly prohibited.

Judge Bacon will have the hearty support of the entire community in his efforts to decrease fruit stealing in this city by giving offenders brought before him the full limit of the law.

The new and very welcome tax rate presents some interesting features, which will be commented upon in our next issue.

MACDUFFEE-BEAN

Miss Mary Augusta Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Bean, of Homer street, Newton Centre, was married on Wednesday to Mr. Cyrus Colton MacDuffee. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First Church. Miss Bean is a graduate of Wellesley College, and has studied at Chicago University.

Mr. MacDuffee is a graduate of Colgate College, and is to be an instructor in Princeton this year. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Bean, sister of the bride, and the best man, Mr. John Dunn of New York. A reception followed the ceremony, the parents of the bride, and mother of the groom being in the receiving line. Among the out-of-town guests were Prof. Bliss of Chicago University, Miss Susan Bean of New York, and Mrs. Alexander Bates of New York.

GOODSELL-CLARKE

The wedding of Miss Carolyn Whitling Clarke, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atherton Clarke, of Hunnewell hill, Newton, and Mr. Alson Henry Goodsell, took place Wednesday noon in the Unitarian church at Petersham, Mass.

The church was decorated in green and white by friends of the bride and bridegroom. Rev. Robert C. Douthitt of Petersham officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore her mother's wedding dress of ivory silk with a broadcated panel and square train. Her veil of rare old lace is an heirloom and was also worn by her mother. Bride roses and maidenhair fern made up her bouquet.

Miss Clarke's attendants were Miss Margaret C. Clarke, sister of the bride, Mrs. George N. Taylor of Albany, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary M. Ludlum of Jamaica, N. Y.; and Mrs. George W. Aldridge, Jr., of New York. The attendants wore quaint taffeta dresses in soft colors with lace fichus, full skirts, leghorn hats, and carried old-fashioned bouquets with lace paper frills. Mr. Channing Harris of Petersham acted as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. George W. Aldridge, Jr., of New York, Ernest Belden of Petersham, W. Parmenter Hunt of Cambridge and Henry G. MacLure of Newton.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Nichewaug Inn, after which the bridal couple started on a motor trip through northern New England. After Nov. 1 Mr. and Mrs. Goodsell will be at home in Petersham.

The bride and groom saw active service in France in the Great War. Miss Clarke in an evacuation hospital, and Mr. Goodsell in the Second United States Cavalry.

HAMILTON-PROCTOR

A beautiful wedding was held last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor of Hale street, Newton Upper Falls, when their daughter, Miss Vera Mae Proctor, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Flynt Hamilton of Georgia, by Rev. Frederick Palladino of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride was given away by her father and attended by the maid of honor, Miss Alice Proctor. The best man was Mr. Charles Holland of Waltham. The bride made a charming picture dressed in imported Duchess satin and Chantilly lace, and a silk tulle veil with a coronation of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore orchid and pink changeable silk, with a bouquet of Aaron Ward roses, while the ring bearer, little Miss Evelyn Moss, was daintily clad in yellow georgette crepe. After the ceremony a reception was held to their many friends at the home. The home was beautifully and tastefully decorated with hosts of pink and white gladioli, roses, carnations and asters, and palms. The bride was the recipient of numerous useful gifts. The bride and groom will visit the home of the groom in Dalton, Georgia, for their wedding tour, stopping at Washington, West Virginia, and New York. They will make their home after October 1st at 55 Hale street, Newton Upper Falls.

DEATH OF OLD RESIDENT

Mr. Henry W. Crafts, one of the oldest residents of the city died on Tuesday at his home on River street, West Newton, following an illness of several months. Mr. Crafts was born in Newton, August 2, 1837, and has been a life long resident. For many years he was engaged in the provision business in West Newton but retired about 20 years ago. His wife died about three months ago and he is survived by one brother and one sister.

Mr. Crafts was a member of Newton Lodge I. O. O. F.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from his late home on River street, West Newton, Rev. Edward P. Drew, D. D., of Auburndale officiated and the interment was at Newton Cemetery.

RED CROSS

For the past six months, the Home Service Section of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, has had its office open Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings with Mr. William H. Noone of the American Legion in charge. The American Red Cross and the new Veterans' Bureau have organized throughout the country a Clean-Up Squad, and the New England Division have asked for the release of Mr. Noone from the local work to assist them in their Division. The local Chapter has made arrangements, however, with Mr. Noone to be at the office, 306 Walnut Street, Newtonville, Saturday afternoons at 2.30 to see any men who wish assistance in filing their claims. The office is open every day from 9 to 5, but hereafter it will not be open evenings except by special appointment.

Based on Thompson Buchanan's successful melodrama which created a sensation in New York in 1914, "Life" a William A. Brady production for Paramount, will be shown at the Newton Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday. This melodrama picture was produced in New York recently and is declared by press and public to be one of the strongest pictures of the season.

There are innumerable thrilling situations in the development of the story, all of which have been admirably brought out by Travers Vale, the director. Jack Mower is leading man, and Arline Pretty, leading woman. Other capable players in the cast include Rod La Roque, Leeward Meek, Nita Naldi and Edingham Pinto.

POLICE NOTES

A severe sentence was given Wednesday morning when Judge Bacon gave a month in the House of Correction to Alexander Breitenstein, 44, of 350 Watertown street, who was discovered stealing grapes a few days ago on the Bishop estate. The Ledges road. Mr. Bishop's son saw the men in the vineyard at night, and gave chase, when they ran. He caught Breitenstein, who had gathered about a bushel. Breitenstein did not appeal. Judge Bacon said, in sentencing him, that he always would deal severely with fruit thieves.

Frederick Atwill of Fremont street, Wollaston, was arraigned in court yesterday morning on three charges of violation of the automobile laws. He appealed a sentence of one month in the House of Correction given because he left the scene of an accident without notifying himself and also appealed a fine of $50 for driving a car without a license. He was found not guilty of driving in a manner that endangered the lives of the public.

On Aug. 20 he drove a sedan on Boylston street, struck a boy named John Ceera of Thompsonville and seriously injured him. Later that night he called the police station and reported the accident, giving his name, according to the police, as Vincent J. Webb of Fremont street, Wollaston. It later developed that he had borrowed the car from a friend, investigation by the police led to his being summoned to court.

THE HIGHEST WATERFALL
IN THE great hollows of that mighty pile of granite known as the Sierra Nevada mountains in California there are many wildly beautiful valleys. In the very heart of this mountain world is a spot of unusual loveliness known as Yosemite valley—a seven-mile-long chasm in a 1,100 square mile masterpiece of scenery.

Flowing gracefully over the rugged sky line of these bold, towering, almost perpendicular walls are a number of cataracts which readily take first place of all their kind on earth.

Greeting the sightseer from dizzy heights these columns of water tumble headlong down the sides of the canyon to join the foaming river below.

Of the eight spectacular falls, by far the tallest is the Yosemite. Formerly this monster cataract undoubtedly leaped in a single great plunge. Now, this fall, which normally is 35 feet wide at the top, drops 1,480 feet in one sheer spill, followed by cascades for about 600 feet and then makes a final jump of about 400 feet—a total distance of approximately half a mile.

The great Staubbach in Switzerland is 1,000 feet high; there is a fall in New Zealand said to be 1904 feet high; the Grand in Labrador is credited with a drop of 2,000 feet. By a considerable margin, therefore, the Yosemite dwarfs all other known waterfalls.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—One of the most humorous and mirth provoking plays ever conceived by that peerless author, Booth Tarkington, will be presented by the already favorably known Boston Stock Company, at the St. James Theatre the week commencing September 12th. Almost from the time the curtain goes up, the audience is furnished with the raison d'être of real unaffected laughter. The part of Clarence will be played by Walter Gilbert whose abilities are especially adapted to this particular character. Leona Powers appears in the role of Miss Phinney, her beauty and feminine attractiveness serve as good reason why she should be so alluring to the whole masculine side of the cast. Aubrey Bosworth well carries off the part of Bobby Wheeler, the "cracking" of his voice at inopportune moments is extremely effective.

From the Saxon.

Wife and woman spring from the same source, both being derived from the Saxon "wefan," Danish "wove" to weave, one who works at the distaff. Dryden referred to Queen Anne as "a distaff on the throne." From the same idea springs our word spinster applied to an unmarried woman. While a woman was still spinning her wedding clothes she was simply a spinster; when she had finished and was married she became a wife who had already woven her allotted task.

Through Life's Pilgrimage.
And thus ever, by day and night, under the sun and under the stars, climbing the dusty hills and toiling along the weary plains, journeying by land and journeying by sea, coming and going so strangely to meet, and meet on one another, move we restless travelers through the pilgrimage of life.—Charles Dickens, in "Little Dorrit."

STORY OF A

$100 LOSS

A man sat in our office a few days ago talking about buying a home. A part of the money he wanted to use was invested in stock of a Manufacturing Company, a perfectly good company, paying dividends on the stock. He had paid $500 for the stock and now wants to sell it but can get only $400 for it. He says that hereafter his savings are going into the savings bank where he can.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Alva F. Orcutt and Dorothy B. Orcutt, his wife in her right, to Frederick D. F. Lewis, dated December 28, 1920, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4409, Page 484, for breach of the conditions therein contained and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction, upon the premises hereinafter described, on Monday, the third day of October, 1921, at four o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, namely: "the land in said Newton" (Middlesex County, Massachusetts) "with the buildings now or hereafter thereon bounded: Westerly by Waterston Road about one hundred and twenty (120) feet; Southerly by land now or late of Kerns one hundred and twenty-two 64/100 (122.64) feet; Easterly by land now or late of Marion R. Lord one hundred and twenty (120) feet; and Northerly by land now or late of Foss one hundred and twenty (120) feet. Containing about 14,519 square feet. Said premises are shown on a Plan of Land in Newton, Mass., belonging to the estate of Marion R. Lord, drawn by E. S. Smilie, Surveyor, dated February 11, 1914, and duly recorded at the end of Record Book 3362. Reference for title is made to a deed by Carl F. Kohler, dated May 8, 1919, duly recorded in Book 4256, Page 501, and said premises are conveyed subject to a prior mortgage of $15,000 held by the Cape Ann Savings Bank, dated November 6, 1920, duly recorded in Book 4401, Page 153. The above conveyance includes all furnaces, heaters, ranges, mantles, gas and electric light fixtures, screens, screen doors, awnings and all other fixtures of whatever kind and nature contained in any building or buildings now standing or hereafter erected on said premises prior to the full payment and discharge of this mortgage." Said premises will be sold subject to any unpaid taxes and assessments and to the mortgage above referred to, $1,000 at the time and place of sale.

WOMAN POWER IS WASTED ON FARM

One of Greatest Menaces to Rural Life of Nation, According to Specialists.

MODERN EQUIPMENT IS NEEDED

Instead of Using Increased Income for Purchase of More Land Farmers Should Spend Some of It in Raising Standards.

The waste of woman power is one of the greatest menaces to the rural life of the nation, according to deductions that specialists of the United States department of agriculture draw from a farm survey conducted in the 33 northern and western states.
 The survey was made under the direction of Miss Florence E. Ward, in charge of extension work with women, office of extension work, north and west, states relations service. The records cover 10,015 farm homes, averaged by taking typical communities of the counties in which the survey was made. Much of the information was gathered personally by home demonstration agents, who are the field representatives of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges.

Miss Ward points out, from the facts shown by the survey, that a reasonable amount of planning and well-directed investment in modern equipment for farm homes would prevent a large part of this waste of the energy of the nation's rural homemakers. "This is a serious matter," she continues, "because we have a live national problem now in working out the economics of country living in such way as to make them satisfied to stay on the land and help build it up. Perhaps the greatest factor in bringing this about will be the healthy, alert, and expert home-maker who will see to it that part of the increased income from the farm goes into improvement of the home. At a time like this, when Breaking Task.

the dearth of farm labor is a limiting factor in production, it is very doubtful business policy for farmers to use increased income to buy more land instead of using a part of it in raising standards of living so that women and young people will not want to go to the cities in search of attractive living conditions and amusement."

Picture of Farm Woman's Work Day.
 The survey discloses a number of the reasons why many women do not find farm life attractive. The working day of the average farm woman, as shown by the survey, is 11.3 hours, the year round. In summer, it is 13.12 hours. And 87 out of each 100 women have no regular vacation during the year. On the average, the farm woman can find only 1.6 hours of leisure during the summer and only 2.4 hours in winter. Half of the farm women are up and at work at 5 o'clock in the morning.

Forty per cent have water in the kitchen, but the other 60 per cent must go to the spring or the pump to bring the water for cooking breakfast. Thirty-six per cent help with the milking. On the average, the farm woman has a 7-room house to keep in order. Seventy-nine per cent have kerosene lamps to trim and fill. Ninety-six per cent do the family washing, about half of them having washing machines and the other half doing the work with tub, wash-board and boiler. Twenty-six per cent have gas or electric irons to make more comfortable the task of ironing. Ninety-two per cent do some or all of the family sewing. Garden work is done by 56 per cent, 94 per cent make all or part of the family bread and 60 per cent have churning to do. Eighty-one per cent of all poultry flocks are cared for by women. One fourth of the farm women help to feed and bed the live stock, and 24 per cent of them spend over six weeks in the year assisting

GOOD-NATURED AND PATIENT

English Visitor Pays Tribute to Virtues He Noted as Distinguishing American People.

A while ago I published a little book on a tour I made in America during war time. I dedicated it "To the kindest people in the world," and I put the dedication in Latin to spare their blushes. Should I write another work of the same kind, I think I should dedicate it "To the most good-natured, tolerant and patient people in the world," writes Sir Arthur E.
 Shipley in the Outlook.

Although as the election grew imminent interest in it became keen and discussion eager, still I only once heard an acute disagreement between the supporters of the rival candidates, and this was between a husband and wife. It seemed based upon a fundamental difference of opinion on that most innocuous and unexciting fluid, milk.

As a rule the discussions were most amicable, and usually finished up, after the method of Lincoln, in a joke or a story. Their toleration equals their good humor. They bear patiently every variety of religious dogma;
 these are almost as numerous in the United States as are patent medicines.
 They quietly endure and ignore the most infernal noises. Owing to the enormous distances one has to travel in the states, one spends a considerable part of one's time on the train and it is this reason which possibly accounts for the fact that Americans persist in talking on the cars.

Mr. Lucas has recently reminded us that Carlyle bequeathed certain books to Harvard university because of his esteem and regard for the American people—"particularly the more silent part of them." The latter exist not only in the imagination of the Chelsea philosopher. They are perhaps not very numerous, still they exist.

MEAT UNDER PERPETUAL BAN

Residents and Visitors on Island of Valamo, Finland, Must Obey Law Centuries Old.

Every day is fish day on the little Island of Valamo, Finland, 12 squares miles in area. Almost ten centuries ago monks of the Greek Catholic church embarked on Lake Ladoga to find a new home and landed on Valamo.

A fine old monastery they built and framed a law that from that day on no meat should ever be eaten on the island. Recently several members of the American Red Cross stationed at the Russian refugee camp at Viborg, made a journey to the island and were entertained at lunch in the monastery built to replace the one destroyed in 1754. The old law is still observed by the 450 monks now living there.

From the day they arrive on the island to the day they leave or die no meat is eaten by them. Husky, strong and living to a good old age,
 this lack of meat as food is not apparent in their build. For lunch the Americans had fish in several forms, fried, baked and in soup, but always fish.

Hunting is barred, trapping is taboo, so that temptation in the shape of meat may never come. Smoking also is banned.

No Aerial Mail for Chinese.

While Chang Tso Lin, who today dominates the north of China, was wondering just what he would do with six airplanes which he ordered from England the question of the disposal of three of them was settled for him.
 He was undecided whether to use them for military purposes or for the establishment of a mail service, in accordance with the terms of the contract. While debating the question he ordered three to be sent to Mukden, for possible postal use, and the remainder to Paoingfu for military purposes. Those shipped to Mukden were loaded on flat cars and started on their way. Some distance from Tientsin they bumped a railroad bridge and were not only smashed but also put the bridge out of commission. So it looks as though those who expected to get their mail via the air route are doomed to disappointment.

Thrill Not on Program.

President Obregon of Mexico has given his sanction to bull fighting by appearing one Sunday afternoon when Rodolfo Gaona and Ernesto Pastor fought jointly. He occupied a ringside seat. When Pastor, playing the last bull, made what appeared to be a death thrust, the President arose to leave and the band immediately struck up the national anthem. The bull, however, was not dead and started to charge. At the sound of the anthem he stopped in his tracks, lowered his head, and with Pastor standing at rigid attention not three feet from the bull's horns, the hymn was completed.
 A second later the bull tumbled over dead. Veteran fighters asserted the spectacle was the strangest ever seen in the Mexico City arena.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Then All Was Quiet.

Junior has reached the age of in-quisitiveness. With grandma, he was making a social call. He noticed that the piano was not in the same position as the one at home, that the dayenport was different, and that the library table was of another design and called attention to the facts in tones that all heard.
 "Grandma," he said, finally, "haven't they got any more chairs?"
 "Why of course they have. Now keep quiet."
 "Well, why is that man sitting on the piano stool then?"

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. BASEBALL NOTES

The local Y team is going along at a fast pace these days, having won the last six games played. Last Thursday evening on the Y. M. C. A. field they shut out the strong Batchelder-Snyder Co. team 5 to 0.
 Barnes, pitching for Newton, twirled a fine game, allowing but two scattered hits, while the local team touched up Connolly, the former Chelsea K. of C. star pitcher, for eight hits.

Saturday the team went to Westwood and crossed bats with the Westwood Town team, winning a one-sided game 13 to 8. Lonergan started the game for Newton and pitched three innings during which time no hits were made off his delivery, and gaining such a lead over his opponents that he was retired to rest up for the Labor Day game. Carter and Bills followed Lonergan and alternated for the balance of the game both working with great effectiveness. The heavy hitting of Newton featured.

Labor Day afternoon the team journeyed to Melrose and played the Melrose Alumni team winning 8 to 2.
 Lonergan was on the mound for the Y team and pitched his usual good game keeping the five hits made off his delivery well scattered, also lining out the longest hit of the day for three bases.

The management is negotiating with the Legion for a game for the 10th.
 The following week, Sept. 17th, the West Newton Town Team will oppose the Y. M. C. A. team on the West Newton Commons. Sept. 24 the Saxony team will be played on Victory Field.
 These games will have some bearing on the City title and as the Y team is composed of some of the best men in and around Newton the opposing players will have to put up their best game in order to make it interesting. Fans take note of these dates and turn out for some real games.

Middlesex County Dog Show is to be held on the Y. M. C. A. field Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10. Bring your dog along and enter.
 Swimming, tennis, and baseball are the most popular features at the Y.
 M. C. A. at present. The regular gymnasium classes will begin the first of October.

COURAGE OF SAMURAI TESTED

Boy of Twelve Forced to Show He Was Not Afraid of Death by His Own Hand.

Sato told us stories—the young man who wanted the sword that he might disembowel the Russians and not have to bite their throats in the hand-to-hand fighting.

Then the story of the samurai boy who must once in his life face death—make up his mind that he is to die. His own case, at the age of twelve, coming home from school, to find his great uncle and his mother all serious, a naked sword on a little wooden rack, the house all in order.

To be told that he had disgraced the family, he had dishonored his father's sword and killed a dog. He would be given the privilege of committing harakiri, for he was a samurai's son.

His great uncle gave him an object lesson, showed him how it was done and told him to proceed, wrapping the blade in paper, that it might not cut his hand, and telling him that he must do as he had seen his great uncle do, in earnest.

The boy begged for mercy. His kinsman and his mother were immovable. Was he afraid to die? If so, they might help him, and the uncle put his hand on his sword.

The boy's tears stopped. He knew his time had come and bowed. He opened his dress, rubbed his abdomen three times. He put out his hand and grasped the sword. He knew no more till a cry of "Mate" (Stop) brought him to his senses.

The reprieve at last. An instant more and he would have been dead by his own hand. He waited, dazed in a death sweat. His courage had been tested. He had faced death.—Asia Magazine.

ACCORDED PALM FOR BEAUTY

Miss Harriet Lane Acknowledged to Have Been the Prettiest Lady of the White House.

Historians are inclined to give to Miss Harriet Lane, niece of President Buchanan, the palm for being the prettiest woman that ever ruled the White House social life. She was a blond with hair of a rare gold, deep-blue eyes, and her mouth was said to be one of the most beautiful ever owned by a Washington belle. Her beauty was so noticeable that at the dawn of womanhood, when she accompanied her uncle, then America's representative in England, to Oxford, where he was to receive the degree of doctor of civil laws, that the student body greeted her appearance with terrific cheers, inspired entirely by the smile of her lovely lips as she turned her flowerlike face toward them.

Not only was she beautiful in line and curve, but in addition she was a picture of perfect health, an athlete of no mean order, as many a young gallant discovered after she had challenged him to a race and beaten him so badly that spectators of the race unmercifully chaffed him. She played many games with skill and vigor, and there was not a woman in Washington that could compete with her in any game calling for strength and great activity. In spite of this she was not unwomanly, and excelled as a harpist, wrote poetry, and, as the young people of the capital reported, "danced like a feather."

Look Out Upon the Desert.

Come to the eastern side of the peak and look out once more upon the desert while yet there is time. The afternoon sun is driving its rays through the passes like the sharp-cut shafts of searchlights, and the shadows of the mountains are lengthening in distorted silhouette upon the sands below. Yet still the San Bernardino range, leading off southeast to the Colorado river, is glittering with sunlight at every peak. You are above it and can see over its crests in any direction. The vast sweep of the Mojave lies to the north; the Colorado with its old sea-bed lies to the south. Far away to the east you can see the faint forms of the Arizona mountains melting and mingling with the sky; and in between lie the long pink rifts of the desert valleys and the lilac tracery of the desert ranges.—"The Desert," by C. Van Dyke.

A Flying Chariot.

... All Paris, I think, myself among the rest, assembled to see the valiant brothers, Robert and Charles, mount into the air yesterday, in company with a certain Pilatre de Rosier, who conducted them in the newly-invented flying chariot fastened to an air-balloon. It was from the middle of the Tuilleries that they set out, a place very favorable and well-conceived for such public purposes. But all was so nicely managed, so cleverly carried on, somehow, that the order and decorum of us who remained on firm ground struck me more than even the very strange sight of human creatures floating in the wind; but I have really been witness to ten times as much bustle and confusion at a crowded theater in London, than what these peaceful Parisians make when the whole city was gathered together. —Mrs. Piozzi (1784).

INDIA'S MILLIONS OF "GODS"

Country Is Certainly Deserving of Its Appellation, "The Mother of Religions."

St. Simeon Stylites, the noted Syrian ascetic, is the first of whom we have record of the many thousands of religious enthusiasts who have believed in punishing the body that the soul may be raised nearer heaven. St. Simeon, it is recorded, passed the last 30 years of his life sitting for the most part of the time upon a high stone pillar, set up in the ground, near Antioch, "enduring the scorching heat by day and the biting frost by night that he might thus overcome evil passions and be better fitted for heaven."

Enthusiastic followers today of the tenets of St. Simeon are the Sadhus of India, says Grit. While the practice of doing penance to earn merit is prevalent in other countries, there is no land where it is so universal, or where it is carried to such a degree of physical suffering as in India. Every form of torture that can be applied to the human frame is witnessed in the land of the Sadhus.

India, that "land of mysticism and romance," has so great a variety of religious faiths as to have received the name "The Mother of Religions." The Hindus have more than 30,000,000 gods, and their worshippers wear up on their foreheads distinctive "god-marks" to show which god they follow. Out of these religious beliefs have come the various castes, the bane of India today, the giant hand that stays the wheels of progress.

DIFFICULT TO HANDLE FORKS

When First Introduced, Diners Could See Little of Benefit in the Innovation.

It is hard to believe the sensation produced when forks first came into use. It was in 1574, at a dinner given by Henry III of France. Here is an account by a royal lady guest. "The guests never touched the meat with their fingers, but with forks, which they carried to their mouths, bending their necks and bodies over their plates."

"There were several salads. These they ate with forks, for it is not considered proper to touch the food with the fingers. However difficult it may be to manage it, it is thought better to put the little forked instrument in the mouth than the fingers."

"The artichokes, asparagus, peas and beans were brought. It was a pleasure to watch them try to eat these with their forks, for some, who were less adroit than the others, dropped as many on their plates and on the way to the mouth as they were able to get to their mouths."

"Afterward a great silver basin and a pitcher of water were brought and the guests washed their hands, though it seems as if there would not be much scent of meat and grease on them, for they had touched their food only with those forked instruments."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Tricking Fate.

Every Hindoo must have a son to perform the proper rites in his behalf so that he may be released from purgatory after death. Especially cursed, therefore, is he whose fate is to be sonless. One such, a Brahman, propitiated the god Vishnu and obtained a boon. He asked for a son, but, since a son was not in the man's fate, Vishnu refused. Twice this happened, but the third time the Brahman asked that his meriments might be shared by gods and men alike. This was granted. He then went home, locked his door and, with his wife, began to sing and dance. Thereupon, all the gods and men, by the terms of the boon, were compelled to sing and dance with him, and the business of the universe was brought to a standstill. "Stop!" begged the gods. "Only when you grant me a son," answered the Brahman. And he had his way.—W. N. Brown in Asia Magazine.

Where Ice Makes Crops.

We are accustomed to think of Alaska as a moist part of the world, but except in the southern portion it is rather arid, having a rainfall insufficient for the production of crops.

When an area is first cleared for planting the soil is moist enough, being frozen nearly to the surface the year around. Then the ice in the ground gradually melts, so that the first few crops require only a slight rainfall—the melting of the ice furnishing sufficient moisture to the roots of the growing plants.

In the course of a few years, however, the ice recedes to a depth of six or more feet, and this reservoir of moisture is no longer available for the crops. It then becomes necessary to resort to various expedients, such as "mulching," for hindering evaporation and economizing the available water.

Tangled Tongues.

Through the kindness of several correspondents we are able to present a few more humorous mistranslations, as follows:

Exempli gratia—Samples free. Casus belli—A question of stomach. Splendide mendax—Lying in state. Puris omniapura—Boys will be boys.

Flagrante delicto—In fragrant delict.

Chacun a son gout—A man with a dog and a gun.

Another youth, painfully conscious of his vaccination, rendered the last phrase: I sing of arms and the virus.—Boston Transcript.

WILL LEAVE NEWTON

Rev. Dr. James E. Wagner, who has been the pastor of the Newton Centre M. E. Church for the past four years has accepted the pastorate of the Trinity Church at Worcester and will assume his new duties next month.

Dr. Wagner received his degree in theology at Fayette, Ohio. He has three sons and one daughter. Hughes Wagner, one of the sons, was graduated from Newton High School last June, and will enter Ohio Wesleyan College in the Fall; William, another son, is now a student at the same college, while Eugene was graduated from Wesleyan College this year. The daughter is Mrs. J. P. Clark of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson.

A committee, headed by Dr. William Edwards Huntington, former Boston University president, and S. T. Emery, will secure the services of a new pastor.

STRONG OPPOSITION TO GARAGES

City Hall Filled with Remonstrants at First Meeting of Aldermen After the Vacation

For the second time this year, the aldermanic chamber at City Hall, was crowded to the doors on Monday night, at the first regular meeting of the aldermen since the vacation period.

For well over two hours the board listened to various arguments and protests on the many matters assigned for hearing that evening and then took over two hours longer to transact the large amount of business on its docket.

No one was interested in the proposed location of electric light or telephone poles on Exeter street, Washington avenue, Hunnewell terrace, Davis street, Woodward, Homer and Grove streets nor on a street railway pole on Summer street. Mr. Louis E. Axman's petition for a 2-car garage on Florence street was also unopposed.

Well over a hundred persons were present to protest against a proposed public garage on Tremont street near Playstead road desired by Mr. Winslow A. Dunne. Mr. Dunne presented blue prints showing his proposed building and declared it would be the best equipped and constructed building in the state with one exception. Mr. H. E. Whittles appeared for the Whittemore estate in favor of the petition. The opposition was led by ex-alderman Arthur W. Hollis and he and Messrs. Edward H. Keach, R. T. Bushman, J. Edw. Callahan, G. W. Zedler, William Troy and John J. Barker, were the speakers. A largely signed petition containing the names of 78 real estate owners in that vicinity was presented and the sometimes eloquent and other times sarcastic remarks of the speakers were greeted with loud applause. A hand vote on granting the permit showed an almost overwhelming sentiment of the spectators in opposition.

The petition of George P. Peck to locate a gas filling station corner of Crafts and Washington street, Newtonville, was also vigorously opposed by Dr. F. M. O'Donnell, Lawrence W. Stanley, Bartholomew Hayes, and Thomas Murray.

Residents of Court street headed by Mr. Fred S. Cotton opposed a public garage at 757 Washington street, if it had an entrance on Court street. Mr. J. D. Harrington was the petitioner.

Petitions of J. E. Lymer to keep and sell gasoline at 543 Crafts street and of Fernald and Folsom for a public garage at junction of Waltham and Crafts street were held together and brought out strong opposition headed by Mr. Vernon E. Carpenter. Hon. Chas. E. Hatfield, Mr. R. E. Mandell, Mrs. F. S. Webster and representatives of the Swedish Home also spoke.

Much ado about nothing characterized the hearing on petition of John E. Dodge for a four-car garage on Raelburn terrace, the neighbors stating that they had consented to a two-car garage and thought Mr. Dodge was putting something over on them in asking for a permit for 4 cars. Mr. Dodge was represented by counsel and also spoke himself and Messrs. Gordon McMullen, M. H. Garrity, T. F. Green, E. T. Cady, W. B. McMullen, H. S. Hiltz, and C. M. Stone also spoke.

AN UNUSUAL SERVICE

A very beautiful and touching service was held at the former home of Mrs. Anna H. Sawyer of Eldredge street, Newton, on Thursday afternoon. The service was a double funeral service for Mrs. Sawyer and her sister, Mrs. Adelaide M. Wetherbee, the former died on Monday, and the latter the preceding Thursday.

The sisters were born in West Bridgewater, Mass., and were the daughters of Azel and Julia Mason Howard.

Mrs. Wetherbee was the widow of Emory G. Wetherbee of Spokane, Washington. Upon her husband's death in 1910, she came East and made her home with Mrs. Sawyer. The sisters were unusually congenial, both being literary and artistic, and were devoted to each other. At the time of her death, Mrs. Wetherbee was visiting her son, Julius Wetherbee of Spokane, Washington.

Mrs. Sawyer, the younger sister, was educated in the private schools of New Bedford, and at Norton. She was married, Oct. 7, 1886, at New Bedford to Edwin F. Sawyer of that city. Soon after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer came to Newton to live where they have been actively connected with Grace Church, and with the clubs of the city. There are no children.

Dr. Laurens MacLure of Grace Church was the officiating clergyman at the funeral service at the home. Rev. Oliver Purinton, a nephew, had charge of the service at the grave.

THE ZONING PLAN

There was a good attendance at Players Hall, West Newton, when the proposed new zoning ordinance was discussed under the leadership of Aldermen S. H. Whidden and Leon B. Rogers of West Newton and Alderman Geo. V. Phipps of Waban, chairman of the committee now having the matter under consideration. A plan showing just how the different zones would affect West Newton was somewhat criticized and a few changes suggested in the proposed restrictions. A public hearing will be held on this important matter at City Hall next Monday evening.

To the Editor of The Newton Graphic: Please accept thanks for calling attention to the hearing on the "Zoning Plan" at the City Hall on Sept. 19. May I add that this scheme provides "Regulations that affect the value of every piece of real estate in the City and if accepted can only be repealed with the greatest difficulty."

OUT FOR N. H. S. ELEVEN

At Claffin Field the largest scholastic football squad in the State is working out daily under the direction of Coach "Allie" Dickinson. It is an unusual thing to discover a college squad that contains 100 candidates in its fold and when you find this number battling for positions on a high school eleven you can immediately set down the fact as remarkable. Last September the Newton High squad numbered some forty candidates, a number that was considered quite large at the time. But like every other sport at Newton High, football is ever on the increase and this September finds 100 husky and willing youths fighting for the honor of gaining a position on Coach Dickinson's first eleven.

In spite of the host of candidates there are but few veterans. Capt. Luke Stafford, Herb Garrity, Leahy, Osborne, Jenkins, and Eddy are the only men remaining from the Suburban League Champions of last year, although the Bowen brothers, as well as Temple, and O'Donnell have had some experience in Orange and Black gridiron conflicts. But with such an abundance of promising new material the task of selecting new men for the vacant positions will not be such a difficult one. Coach Dickinson never makes any early season predictions and he does not care to say that Newton will again capture the Suburban title, but when you ask him what he thinks of the prospects he smiles and admits that they are unusually bright. And that smile of satisfaction is, to our way of thinking, an excellent sign. Newton is fortunate in having such

LARGE INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Newton Schools Open with Attendance of 8125. Complete List of Changes in Teaching Force

Newton schools opened on Monday for the school year with the largest enrollment in its history, 8125 pupils as compared with 7583 last year, an increase of 542. Only two schools show a decrease, the Technical High being 7 less than last year and the Emerson school 11 less. The grade schools show an increase of 382 and the High schools of 160, the latter equally divided between the Classical and Vocational schools. In the grade schools, the Peirce leads with a total of 1961, an increase of 79, with the March school with 991, an increase of 83. There are 1907 pupils in the Classical High, 675 in the Technical and 327 in the Vocational, a total of 2919.

STRONG OPPOSITION

Opposition to the proposed garage of F. H. Hosmer on Beacon street, Waban, was made by Mr. T. J. Kloeker, H. W. Cheney and C. W. Martin.

Mr. Daniel H. Hannigan of Homer street opposed the petition of John J. Connelly for an auto repair shop on that street.

Mr. Edward B. Stratton appeared in favor of his petition for a 6-car private garage in the rear of the 6-apartment building on Beacon street, Newton Centre and a representative of adjoining property opposed.

Mrs. A. M. Teulon opposed an electric light pole on Webster street and later she, and Mr. J. T. Bailey opposed the petition of H. A. Travis to use a reconstructed barn on Webster street for a garage for 5 cars.

The petition of N. P. O'Sullivan to keep and sell gasoline at 945 Centre street was opposed by H. M. Bowman, G. C. Walworth, C. M. Lawrence and G. H. Williams.

A sewer taking in Phillips lane was unopposed, but Miss Dorney objected to a proposed sewer in Frederick street and Mr. Millard eloquently objected to a sewer in Alban road.

Mrs. C. J. Brown appeared on the rounding of a bad corner in Charlesbank road and told of accidents which had taken place at that point.

Mr. J. P. Gallagher appeared for George Soire in the proposed rounding of corner of Washington street and Charlesbank road and wanted fair treatment for his client. He said that this land had laid idle for many years, but as soon as Mr. Soire purchases it and prepares to erect a block of much needed stores, an immediate demand is made for this rounding. Mr. Soire felt justified in claiming substantial damages not only for the land but for the delay which has been caused in his building operations. Mr. Gallagher thought that for 12 feet taking he should have $6500, with $4500 for 8 feet and $4000 for 7 feet.

Later in the session the board voted to widen by 12 feet and made an award of $3000, after voting down the sum of $5000.

The election officers appointed by the Mayor were confirmed and the list is printed in another column. But that no one actually refused them, but there were some that would help but just could not. Mr. Hill sends his personal thanks to the generous storekeepers of the Newtons; A. F. Fiske & Co., West Newton, Mr. H. B. Reed and Mr. F. F. Davidson, both of Auburndale, for their private donations and also the public in general. Mr. Hill would be glad to call on any who would like to assist him in any way in this rescue and uplift work. We trust that a sufficient amount of interest has been aroused to awaken the conscience of the people of the Newtons to visualize the great future for a house of this kind. Again I thank you, the public, the press, and individuals.

Yours for a worthy cause,
A. VIRGESS HILL.

Petitions for private garages of A. J. Davis, Bonad road, C. L. Hartshorn, Cabot street, Margaret J. McCruden, Hillside road, Wm. J. Cozens, Brewster road, and H. A. Johnson, Avondale road, of Ira S. Rowe for license as first class automobile dealer, Thos. L. Aiken, 3rd class liquor license, W. J. Burley, victualler, Nita Passarino, victualler, J. A. Curry, victualler, J. C. Manz, victualler and pool room, C. G. Keniston, O. F. Avantaggio, J. Miller, J. G. Godino, F. E. Carter, Wm. P. Powers, Eric W. Johnson and Harry Roberts for auto trucks and taxi cab licenses, T. D. Murphy and D. B. Rich for auctioneer licenses were granted.

Petitions were received from John E. Crowdie, Gardner street, Paul E. Wonderville, Ricker road and W. F. Free man, Eliot terrace for private garages, Z. M. Chamberlain and E. J. Townley for victualler licenses, S. A. White for laying out of Hawthorne street, of W. F. Brennan that street sprinkling be paid for by the city and not the abutters, Daniel Mazoli for soldiers' relief, for sewers in Morton street, Pleasant street, Eliot avenue, Albemarle road and Underwood avenue, for resurfacing of Green street, of the Edison Co. for certain relocations of poles, William Scott to move building from Centre street to Chesley road, and claims were filed by R. D. Hunting for damage from water, Mrs. A. D. Jones for damages caused by change of grade, Bernard Mullan for damage from water and H. D. Cabot for additional award for land taken for school house purposes in Newtonville.

Hearings were ordered on changing the name of Crescent street to Jasset street, on sidewalk construction on Commonwealth avenue near Lake street, on sewer taking in Underwood avenue and Morton street.

$21,800 was appropriated and Old Colony road, Mayflower road and Priscilla road laid out under the betterment act.

Sewer in Crafts street and the laying out of Berwick road extension were refused.

No action necessary was reported on the matter of asking the state to take over Commonwealth avenue as a state highway.

Sewers were ordered in Albemarle road, Adams avenue and Berkshire road and street sprinkling and moth work assessments ordered levied for the year.

The board adjourned at 12.20 A. M.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George Linn of Warren street, Newton Centre, observed their golden wedding on Tuesday and were at home all that day to their numerous friends. They were assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Walter A. Perry of Keene, N. H. and Mrs. Frank A. Sanderson of Worcester.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn have made their home in Newton Centre for the whole of their married life.

Y. M. C. A. BASE BALL NOTES

The "Y" nine added another game to their string of victories last Saturday when they played the Weston Town Team at Weston winning 16 to 1. The heavy hitting by the Y. M. C. A. team was responsible for Weston's defeat, seventeen clouts being the total number including all varieties from singles to circuit smashes.

Loneragan started for Newton and held the opposing batters to three scattered hits in five innings. Barnes relieved him and also did a fine job allowing but three hits.

There seems to be an epidemic of "Cancelitis" among base ball managers this season and the local team has along with other teams received several eleventh hour cancellations. The latest offender being the West Newton Town Team calling off the game for Sept. 17th arranged several weeks ago. The Legion Team, earlier in the season, also broke their contract the night before scheduled date, leaving the "Y" team without a game for Saturday. Such tactics are only injuring the grand old game and the sooner some managers wake up to the fact that money isn't everything and learn to have a higher regard for their agreement with others, the better it will be for the game, not only from the viewpoint of the players but the standpoint of the general public who contribute largely to its support.

The Y. M. C. A. team stands ready to play both the Legion and Town team at any time agreeable to all concerned.

Sept. 24th the Association team will play the Saxony team on Victory Field. At present the team is without a game for Saturday owing to the West Newton cancellation. Any team desiring game call Newton North 592.

NEWTON COMMUNITY HOUSE

Through the kindness of the Graphic we take this opportunity to inform the public of the success of our drive held on Saturday, September 10th. While we did not reach our goal of $500.00 which, if realized, would have enabled us to take the property over. Now, we raised in our drive $282.28 but we feel that it was a success in many ways, we are not discouraged, still cheerful and more enthusiastic than ever; and we shall if possible try in some way to take the house over and put it in operation. As we think that the public is looking for it; and the boys and girls stand in need of it. While the girls worked hard in the drive they were encouraged by the liberal response, and in many cases a sacrifice with a word of cheer. The girls reported to Mr. Hill that the public gave them a great welcome, but that no one actually refused them, but there were some that would help but just could not. Mr. Hill sends his personal thanks to the generous storekeepers of the Newtons; A. F. Fiske & Co., West Newton, Mr. H. B. Reed and Mr. F. F. Davidson, both of Auburndale, for their private donations and also the public in general. Mr. Hill would be glad to call on any who would like to assist him in any way in this rescue and uplift work. MEADE-MULLEN

Miss Anne C. Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Mullen of Newton Highlands, and Maurice P. Meade, son of Mrs. Hannah Meade of Brookline, were married Wednesday morning in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre, by Rev. Timothy A. Curran.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Miss Margaret Mullen. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Daniel C. Meade. The ushers were William Mullen, brother of the bride, and Joseph E. Meade, brother of the bridegroom.

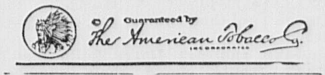

Preceding the bridal procession were Louis and George Mullen, brothers of the bride, as flower boys.

The bride's gown was of white satin and duchess lace with court train embroidered in pearl; her veil was caught with orange blossoms. The bridesmaid was in pink taffeta and a black picture hat.

A breakfast followed at the home of the brides parents, 1652 Centre street, at which members of the immediate families were present. Mr. and Mrs. Meade left on an extended honeymoon, after which they will make their home in Brookline.

LOWRY—RAE

Many invitations were sent out for the wedding of Miss Edith Agnes Rae, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Rae of Bridge street, Newton, to Dr. Franklin Patterson Lowry also of Newton, which took place on Thursday evening at the home of the bride.

The father of the bride, who is the present pastor of the North Congregational Church, performed the ceremony, while her uncle, Mr. Clifford R. Carter of Amesbury, gave her away. It is interesting to note that the father of the groom, Rev. Samuel E. Lowry, was the first pastor of the North Congregational Church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and Margot lace with a veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Everett T. De Silva of New York city who wore sunset taffeta, and by Mrs. Paul R. Fleming of Beaumont, Texas, who wore pastel blue taffeta. Both attendants carried Ophelia roses.

The best man was Mr. William E. Lowry, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Dr. Robert G. Rae, Cameron A. Rae, brother of the bride, and Maxwell J. Peterson.

A reception at the church which was filled with a profusion of white and pink asters and cosmos, followed the ceremony. An orchestra played during the reception, and at eight o'clock Mr. Llewellyn M. Evans of Arlington gave an organ recital.

After a motor trip of two weeks, Dr. and Mrs. Lowry will make their home at "The Crocyden", Centre street, Newton.

The bride, who is an accomplished musician, has for six years been associated with the West Newton Music School as teacher of piano. During the war she was in canteen work under the Y. W. C. A.

The groom is a graduate of Harvard College, class of 1912, and during the war was an officer in the medical corps.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC

EDITORIAL

The Graphic has several times advised the city government of the present methods of developing property by the building of streets by the city under the provisions of the betterment act. For many years, former city governments required the persons interested to build the streets through their own efforts and then, if properly constructed, they would be accepted—all of course without expense to the city treasury. But during the past ten years, the custom has gradually grown, particularly under the administration of the present mayor, whereby the city builds the street and charges and collects the cost from the abutters,—the city financing the project and standing any loss which might arise in any one of a dozen ways.

Our reason for calling attention to this matter at the present time is because one person who originally signed a petition to have a certain street so laid out, and who also signed an agreement to pay whatever assessment might be levied has now gone into court in an attempt to upset the assessments which have been levied upon the property affected. With this possibility, and regardless of whether or not the suit is successful, it is not high time for the tax payers to urge the city government to return to the safe and sane ways of former city fathers and let the persons interested in these real estate developments stand all the expenses involved.

We are of the opinion that the city fathers have slipped quite a cog in ordering the further rounding of the corner of Washington street and Charlesbank road at an expense of several thousands of dollars. In the first place, the street at this point is plenty wide enough for the traffic which it bears, and in the second place there is ample room on the east side of the street from land now owned by the city for any widening which may be deemed necessary. The east bound traffic on Washington street which may wish to enter Charlesbank road, uses the south roadbed on Washington street and drivers will have a clear view of the whole width of Charlesbank road when opposite the fire station, over 100 feet away even when the building is constructed to the former street line. West bound traffic entering Charlesbank road from Washington street is forced by the very nature of the bridge construction over the railroad to slow down to make the turn and even if there was any danger of collision with southbound traffic on Charlesbank road, there is ample room at the head of Nonantum place in which an accident may be avoided.

The editor has passed this point several times daily for over 20 years and is very confident that this is a most unnecessary and wholly uncalled for waste of the taxpayers' money.

The need of some kind of a zoning ordinance was clearly shown at the last meeting of the aldermen when so many of our citizens and tax payers were stirred up over the proposed location of public garages in different parts of the city. A proper zoning ordinance would greatly restrict the area in which this class of business would be allowed to settle and to that extent would relieve the average citizen from keeping watch and ward on what might be proposed to be built in his own neighborhood.

The proposed public garages brought out a large attendance at City Hall last Monday night but we very much doubt if half as many will attend the hearing next Monday night on this matter of zoning, and yet the hearing next Monday is vastly more important than that of last Monday albeit, that of last Monday was more specific and therefore more readily comprehended.

With this issue the Graphic enters upon its fiftieth volume and its twenty-first year under its present management. We also take this occasion to return to the seven column page and to our former quality of newspaper stock. The first will give us eight additional columns which has been greatly needed for the volume of news which comes to us and the latter will enable us to uphold the high standard of printing which has always been a feature of the Graphic.

We ask the co-operation of our readers in the way of news or of communications on any matters of community interest, for the value of a local newspaper depends entirely upon its willingness to serve.

an admirable captain as Jake Stafford. Not only is Stafford a whirlwind quarterback, cool and collected field general, but he is a gentleman at all times. He is the ideal man to lead the Orange and Black team and if he continues to play as he did last fall the sporting writers will not have to look far when making their choices for All Interscholastic quarter back. Then there is Herb Garrity, the last of that famous trio of football stars who have done so much to put Newton at the top in the gridiron game. Herb looks as if he is ready for the best season of his career and it is a safe bet that both he and Capt. Stafford will be the marked men in the Newton backfield. O'Donnell is another chap who looks good for a backfield position while Easty, provided he can overcome certain scholastic difficulties, is a probable choice for fullback. There are also two new linemen who seem worthy of mention at this time: Johnson, a former Waltham player, and Weymouth, a 155 lb. husky, who is seeking a job as center. The Newton line will be heavy again this year, averaging in the vicinity of 180 lbs. to a man.

It looks as if the most difficult problem that Coach Dickinson faces is that of developing a good kicker. Newton lost the big game to Haverhill last year solely because the Orange and Black did not have an able punter. Just at present Osborne, Sallinger, and Garrity seem to be the most promising foot artists. Osborne is probably the best punter on the squad and if he could overcome his one serious fault, that of being unable to stand up against a little jostling, he would be the logical man for the job. It is to be regretted that Capt. Stafford is not adept in the art of kicking, for his speed as a broken field runner added to an ability to kick would make him a wonderful threat.

For the first time in several years, Needham will not open the Newton schedule. Quincy High, a team that cut quite a bit of ice in the South Shore League last year, will be the first to test the new Dickinsonian model; the Granite City boys coming to Claffin Field on the 29th. The following week will see the Walnut St. team at Franklin, matching their skill against the Dean Academy second eleven, and on Columbus Day the Orange and Black journey over to Everett to open the strenuous Suburban League campaign.

We believe Newton will have a successful season. Whether the Orange and Black can gain the title again this year will be easier to tell after a few games have been played. We regard Cambridge Latin as the most dangerous contender Newton has, although Somerville, Malden and Brookline will be represented by better eleven than last year. All things considered, the coming gridiron season bids fair to surpass those of former years both in the even quality of play and general interest.

RANDOLPH—RANE

Tuesday was the wedding day of Miss Fannie C. Rane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rane of Waban. On that day she was married to Mr. Lowell Fitz Randolph of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Calkins of Cambridge.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin trimmed with Spanish lace, and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of Lilies-of-the-valley and roses. Her attendant, Miss Janet E. Rane of New York City, wore light pink taffeta and the second attendant, Miss Bertha E. Copeland of Clark Mills, N. Y., wore deep pink taffeta. Both attendants carried lavender asters and deep pink roses.

A reception at the home of the bride on Beacon street, Waban, followed the ceremony, the house being tastefully decorated for the occasion, the bride and groom being assisted by their parents.

After October 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph will make their home in Ithaca, New York.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley College and has studied at Cornell, while the groom is a graduate of Alfred College, and has also studied at Cornell.

—Mrs. Emma Hart Fessenden, Vassar, 1890, is chairman of the Massachusetts committee of the Vassar Endowment Campaign.

DOG SHOW

On the grounds of the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Saturday, the Middlesex County Kennel Club held one of its always enjoyable open air Sanction Shows, which was well attended by a most enthusiastic body of fanciers.

Over 120 dogs were entered in almost double the number of classes, and the judges had a busy afternoon in their various breeds which were unusually well distributed in the numbers to each breed. Great interest was shown by the residents of Newton and vicinity who attended in force with dogs both large and small from the Great Dane to the diminutive Pomeranians, and it is hoped that some time in the future a still larger and better show may be held in the same place.

The prize for the best in the show, any breed, went to Mr. Rupert Kobza's Gosnold's Pasque, which also took a medal for the best other than Toy; this is a very attractive specimen of the French Bull and was shown in first-class form; Best Toy was awarded to Mrs. Ernest Asker's Pomeranian, Sun-bright Spider, which is an Orange Sable and was also in fine show condition. The same owner's Pome, Ch. Minigold Glory won the medal for the best Veteran dog or bitch. The best sporting dog was Mr. S. A. Gove's Lady Sagove, and the best dog or bitch shown by a child was Mich Strachan's Laddie, a very attractive collie.

Bull Terriers judged by Mr. Nat Emmons brought out seven, and resulted in Geo. St. Carr's Masterpiece winning the special for best with O. E. Hunt's Lasca, which also won a special for the best puppy. Mr. W. D. Jamieson, who judged the straight-legged terriers had a good entry with nine Airedales, two fox, and four Irish, and in Airedales awarded Mr. Lawler's Boxwood Beaconsfield the special for best and W. L. Beardsell's Margate Lady Ruffles another for best of opposite sex. E. H. Carey's Prince won for the best Smooth Fox and F. A. Cadwell's Splash for the best wire Fox, while Owen Cunningham's Sir Edward Burke carried off the honors for the Irish Terriers.

The birds judged by Mr. Rowan McCarty, Cocker, Dohmman, Pinner, and Shepherd's were also a fair entry, five, one and six respectively. In Cocker, the special for best was awarded to Florence O'Hara's Honey, a cobby black, and Mrs. Vennmore's Pincher, an old type black and tan, in good coat took best of opposite sex. Dohmman's found Mr. Emil Untersee alone with Astor von Friedlsdorf, and it was greatly regretted by the owner that he was without competition. Edward W. Monahan's Adolph of Almhi took the special for best Shepherd, with D. H. Robblee's Honor the best of opposite sex. In Frenchies, judged by Mr. P. J. Lydon, Mr. Kobza's Gosnold Pasque took the

DEATH OF MR. SAYFORD

Following a two months' illness, Mr. Samuel M. Sayford, General Secretary and Treasurer of the Evangelistic Association of New England passed away at his home, 42 Hyde Avenue, Newton, Monday P. M., Sept. 12.

Although never ordained, Mr. Sayford devoted the major part of his life to religious work, and has preached to more young men and women than almost any other minister or evangelist in the United States.

Born at Harrisburg, Penn., December 14, 1845, he completed his early education in the public schools of that city, and attended Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg until 1863, when he left college owing to the outbreak of the Civil War.

Enlisting in the 144th Pennsylvania Volunteers in 1864, Mr. Sayford was rapidly promoted to a second lieutenant, and bore the distinction of being the youngest line officer in his brigade. After being mustered out in 1865, he entered business, and for eight years was associated with the wholesale candy manufacturing business in Harrisburg.

Mr. Sayford was converted in 1873, and decided to devote his life to religious work. He entered Y. M. C. A. work as general secretary of the Lockport, N. Y., Y. M. C. A., where he remained for two years.

The following two years were spent in similar work at Syracuse, N. Y., from which he resigned to accept the position of State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which position he held until 1884 when he entered general evangelistic work.

Then followed one of the most unique evangelists in the annals of preaching. Following an evangelistic meeting at Amherst College, several young men came to Mr. Sayford and asked him why he did not take his message to all of the various universities in the country.

This started a train of thought which resulted in his devoting his entire time for the next twelve years to addressing and inspiring the undergraduates of our American Colleges. Intensive work in all of the New England colleges was followed by trips to all seats of learning in the United States. More than 300 colleges and universities were contained in his itinerary.

In December, 1900, Mr. Sayford accepted the General Secretaryship of the Evangelistic Association of New England, which position he held up to his death. Although many ministerial associations and churches have offered to ordain him—and even urged his ordination—Mr. Sayford has consistently refused ordination, believing that he could do a broader work as a humble layman and servant of the Lord Jesus Christ.

He was the author of several religious books, one on "Personal Work" having the widest circulation. The honorary degree of A. M. was conferred on him by his Alma Mater. In 1866 he married Miss Clarissa Kepner, at Port Royal, Juniata County, Penn., who survives him. He is also survived by one daughter, the wife of Judge Wm. F. Bacon, of Newton, and three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Zollinger, Mrs. Edward F. Whitman and Miss Fannie M. Sayford, all of Harrisburg, Pa.

There was a large attendance at the funeral services held at his late home on Wednesday afternoon.

The services were conducted by Rev. H. Grant Person, D. D., pastor of Eliot Church, Newton, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by Rev. E. C. Simpson, D. D., hospital visitor of the Evangelistic Association of New England. Evangelist Lewis E. Smith, so long associated with Mr. Sayford in his work, sang two of his favorite hymns. Burial was at Harrisburg, Pa.

HOLD OCCUPATIONS
The Newton Bureau of Household Occupations reopened September 12. As yet, there has not been sufficient response to the call for the three-dollar yearly subscriptions to warrant its continuance. Only 75 out of a hoped for 300 have been received. The Bureau must close October 1st unless a very definite financial support is evinced by its patrons. It may be of interest to know that without any advance announcement as to the opening the calls for work and for workers this week have been so numerous that it seems to prove the need of the Bureau in the Community.

FRUIT THIEVES
To the Editor of the Graphic:
I have been a resident of Newtonville for fourteen years, and have each Fall seen or heard of many instances of fruit-stealing in this city. This season, our section has suffered severely; half of our own peach crop was taken and several neighbors have lost from a bushel to two barrels of apples. This is perhaps looked upon by many as inevitable.
I cannot but believe, however, that there are many communities in which such practices are not tolerated to this extent. Those who steal the fruit, are not only children urged on by their parents, but grown youth, up to twenty years old. They come, some even with push carts and poles, in broad daylight, during the day when the men of the households are away, defy the women, and proceed to knock the fruit off the trees. To this are added petty thefts of clothing from lines, skates and bicycles.
The police department advises that householders erect "No trespass" signs to secure arrests for trespassing, and that upon provocation they quietly telephone for the auto police patrol to catch those engaged in stealing. I would also suggest rigid prosecution and a few stiff jail sentences, as examples. Cannot public opinion in Newton in some way be aroused so that residents may safely grow fruit in a small way for themselves, without feeding irresponsible persons who make a lucrative business of stealing it. And can we not hear in these columns from others who feel the same about this matter?

DANTE ALIGHIERI

1321-1921

"The three poets who have most profoundly stirred man's imagination are remote and elusive figures. Of Homer we know nothing whatever. Concerning Shakespeare our facts are not so scanty as they are inconclusive and uncharacteristic. As to Dante we have a good many bits of information, furnished largely by himself, but not enough to patch together into a biography. A few pages suffice to narrate what is known of his bodily existence."

Six hundred years ago this month Dante died. Banished from his beloved Florence, where he was born in 1265, he ended his life in exile after years of wandering. To-day the entire civilized world is paying tribute to his genius. He lived during a tumultuous period of Italian history. The strife between Guelphs and Ghibellines rent the city of Florence, now one party and now the other gaining the ascendancy. It was as a result of these factional quarrels that Dante was banished from the city in 1302. For nearly twenty years he wandered from place to place. Once the opportunity to return was offered him but on terms so humiliating that it was rejected with scorn and indignation. When Florence awakened to the greatness of her banished son and begged for the return of his ashes, she was refused. They still repose in Ravenna where he died.

The Italy America Society and the National Dante Committee have prepared a list of one hundred Dante books in the hope that it may meet the needs of many who in this century year desire to read Dante and some of the best books on Dante. In this list the best English translation of the works of Dante are given as those of the Temple Classics which are published in six volumes. The greatest work of Dante was his Divina Commedia, the inspiration for which he found in his love for Beatrice Portinari. This is one of the few immortal works of literature. It has been translated by various scholars. The Italian society cites the translation by Charles Eliot Norton (Y36.DFN) as being the best in prose, and those by Henry Johnson (Y36.DFJ) and Henry Wordsworth Longfellow (Y36.DFL) as the best in verse. Encyclopaedias and concordances recommended are those of E. A. J. Pay (Y36.DJAF Ref.) by E. S. Sheldon and A. C. White entitled Concordanza delle opere italiane in prosa e del Canzoniere di Dante Alighieri (Y36.DJAS Ref.) and Toynbee's Dictionary of proper names and notable matters in the works of Dante (Y36.DJST Ref.) Other works on Dante in English are Botticelli's Drawings of Dante's Divina Commedia (Y36.DRBB) Carroll's Exiles of eternity: an exposition of the Inferno (Y36.DBJC) and his Prisoners of hope: an exposition of the Purgatorio (Y36.DCJC); Church's Dante and other essays (Y36.DJCD); Dinsmore's Aids to the study of Dante (Y36.DJD); Dinsmore's Life of Dante (Y36.DWD); Federn's Dante and his times (Y36.DJF); Flamin's Introduction to the study of the Divine comedy (Y36.DJF6); Fletcher's Dante (Y36.DJF3); Gardner's Dante (Y36.DJG); Gardner's Dante and the mystics (Y36.DJGm); Gardner's Dante's ten heavens (Y36.DJGd); Grandgent's Dante (Y36.DJG7); and his Power of Dante (Y36.DJG7d); Holbrook's Portraits of Dante from Giotto to Raffael (Y36.DJG); Moore's Studies in Dante (Y36.DJM); Reade's The moral system of Dante's Inferno (Y36.DJR2); Sedgwick's Dante (Y36.DJ84); and his Italy in the thirteenth century (Y36.S44); Symonds Introduction to the study of Dante (Y36.DJS9); Toynbee's Dante, his life and works (E.D.2357) and Dante studies and researches (Y36.DJT); Vernon's Readings on the Inferno (Y36.DJV); on the Purgatorio (DJVP), and on the Paradiso (DJVP); and Witte's Essays on Dante (Y36.DJW7).

In commemoration of the sixth anniversary of the Italians in the United States are publishing in a single volume, the works of Dante. This volume constitutes the most important edition to appear on this great occasion, being published under the official supervision of the Dante Society of Italy. A copy of this will also be in the collection here.

HOPKINS—WEST

A wedding of much interest to Newton Centre took place on Tuesday when Miss Mary Isabel West, daughter of Mrs. Mattie R. West of Centre street, became the bride of Mr. Frederick Sherman Hopkins, M.D., of Springfield, Mass. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Arbuckle of the First Baptist Church.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white Chinese silk with Japanese embroidery in cherry blossoms, with a court train. She wore a veil of tulle caught with a wreath of orange blossoms.

The maid of honor, Miss Anne Atwater Weed of Newton was charming in a gown of pink chiffon and silver. She carried purple asters.

The bridesmaids were Miss Rita Wynd of Tokio, Japan, Miss K. Marjorie Sherman Ward of Vranal, New Jersey, Miss Susie Freeland of Hackensack, New Jersey, and Miss Janet Bartlett of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The bridesmaids wore gowns of lavender and chiffon trimmed with silver and carried pink asters.

The best man was Mr. Robert R. West, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Messrs. Russell Patterson, M.D., of New York, Constant Southworth and Harris Newell, of Springfield, and Paul Blackmur of Quincy.

A reception followed the ceremony the house being tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bride and groom were assisted by their parents. Many out-of-town guests attended.

The bride is a graduate of Vassar College, and the groom of Harvard.

After December 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins will make their home in Springfield, Mass.

CONNOLLY—HERLIHY

At St. Bernard's Rectory on Sunday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth G. Herlihy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Herlihy of 33 Wildwood avenue, West Newton, became the bride of John J. Connolly of 12 North street, Newton Centre. Rev. John Allston performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Herlihy, and Paul Fitzgerald of Newton Centre acted as best man.

The bride was attired in brown canton crepe, with hat to match and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore blue satin with hat to match and she carried pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Connolly at the home of the bride's parents, at which about 100 relatives and friends were present. A wedding supper was served. They will reside at 137 Edinboro street, Newtonville.

BIBLE CLASS OUTING

About forty members of the Wesley Bible Class of the First M. E. Church at Newton Upper Falls, held an Outing at Montwait, Framingham, last Saturday afternoon. Starting from the Church at 1.45 P. M. they went in automobiles by way of Needham, Wellesley and Natick, which made a delightful ride.

The committee on sports had a ball game arranged which resulted in a tie the score being 5-5, while the 100-yd. dash and the sack races were both won by Elliot Hutchinson.

H. E. Locke won the fat man's race showing remarkable speed, winning over his opponent by 5 yards.

After the sports were over the men sat down to a lunch when clam chowder, hot coffee, sandwiches and fruit were served.

This was the best outing the class ever held, and everybody had a most enjoyable time.

TO HAVE MILITARY FUNERAL

George T. Maxwell, former Corporal in Company C, 101st Infantry, 26th Division, will be buried with full military honors on Sunday afternoon with services at the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, at 3 o'clock.

The "Veterans of Company C of Newton" assisted by Newton Post, American Legion will conduct the military services and it is expected that there will be an exceptionally large turnout of service men as Maxwell was one of the most popular young men in Newton Centre. Company H, 9th Infantry will act as escort to the veterans, under command of Captain John A. MacClellan.

The remains were placed in the State Armory, West Newton, early today, where they will lie in state until late Saturday afternoon. They will then be taken to the home of the soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Maxwell at 314 Langley road, Newton Centre. At 2.30 Sunday afternoon, the funeral cortege will form in front of the Maxwell home and the body escorted to Trinity Church, where Rev. Edward Sullivan will conduct services. Interment will be in Newton Cemetery.

Maxwell was born in Newton on June 30th, 1896 and has resided in this city all his life. In 1916 he enlisted in Company C, 5th Massachusetts Infantry, going to Texas for border duty with that unit. In 1917 he was transferred to the 101st Infantry going to France in September of that year. He served in all major operations and defensive sectors until July 20th, 1918, when, in the Chateau Thierry offensive, he was killed.

Notice is hereby given under Chapter 138 of the General Laws that Thomas L. Aiken, is an applicant for a Third-class Liquor License for use in his business as a druggist and apothecary at 172 Elliot Street, Ward 5.

By Order of the Board of Aldermen.

THE ECONOMIC ASPECT OF IMMUNIZATION AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: I wish to draw attention to an aspect of the work which the Health Department is doing in immunizing children against diphtheria, upon which very little stress has been laid heretofore. I refer to the saving in actual dollars and cents which will accrue to the taxpayers if all children of school age are protected against catching diphtheria.

It has been shown that artificial immunization will protect a person against diphtheria for 5 to 5½ years. It has also been shown that the natural immunity against diphtheria increases progressively with age—the most susceptible period being during the years of school age, so that it is safe to say that if children of school age are rendered artificially immune for a period of 5 years, a certain number of these will have acquired their natural immunity before they have lost that given to them artificially. Further, by using the Schick test periodically, it is possible to find those who are no longer immune and re-immunize them. In other words, it is perfectly possible to make and keep a whole population immune and in that way eliminate diphtheria from a community. If that were done in Newton, let us see what it would mean to the citizens.

In the decade ending Dec. 31, 1920, there were 630 cases of diphtheria reported in Newton, of which number 467 were hospitalized at a total cost to the citizens of $20,507.00. It is fair to assume that the average duration of a case of diphtheria is 2 weeks and that the average cost to the families of those cases which were cared for at home was $50.00, or a total of $8,200.00, making a total cost to the citizens of Newton in the last 10 years of $28,707.00 for caring for persons sick with an unnecessary disease.

The above estimate does not take into account the loss of schooling by the sick, which averages about 3 weeks in each case or a total of nearly 34 years. No estimate can be made of the loss of schooling in the case of contacts beyond saying that it is from 1 to 3 weeks for each contact, depending upon circumstances.

There were also 52 deaths from diphtheria during this period, all but 4 of which were children under 10 years of age and the economic loss to the community of these future citizens and potential fathers and mothers should be taken into consideration when estimating the total cost of diphtheria to Newton in the last decade.

The work already done by the Health Department shows that 65 per cent or about 4600 of our school children are susceptible to diphtheria. These could be rendered immune at a nominal cost and the expenditure of a few hundred dollars annually in testing children entering the school for the first time, and immunizing the susceptibles, would soon eliminate diphtheria among our school children.

Immunization, properly done, is a harmless procedure and parents are strongly urged to have their children tested and immunized when necessary, either by their own physicians or by the Health Department, as by so doing they can save themselves from expense, either directly by physician's and nursing bills or indirectly by taxation, and possibly also from the grief and remorse which comes from having a loved one die from a disease against which he might have been protected but was not.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dorothy Drake, Editor

ALBERT EDGAR ANGER SCHOOL

The Roger Wolcott School is no more. It exists only as a delightful memory to those of us who have attended or taught there. Indeed the wreckers already started upon its demolition, and soon there will be a beautiful garden spot marking the site where the old building once stood.

Out of the old has come the new. It is but the way of progress. So now there stands in the center of Waban, a new monument to the high ideals of the people of Newton, beautiful, costly, and noble.

It is a delight that an opportunity should come at this time to commemorate for years to come to unborn generations of children, the generous, patriotic-inspiring qualities of Waban's only son to die in the Great War. Albert Edgar Angier was but a boy, fired by a love for his Country which carried him to premature sacrifice of his life on the field of battle in France. For him, our newest, most beautiful, school is named. To us is the honor given to hold high the torch he so nobly bore! (The building is a public building, open daily for inspection and admiration to the friends of education and lovers of the beautiful.)

LASEL

Lasel Seminary began its 70th year on Tuesday of this week opening with a splendid enrollment.

There have been several changes in the faculty, the new teachers will be Miss Ruth Crockett, history; Miss Dudley and Miss Martha Mait, assistants in home economics; Miss Shapleigh, mathematics.

On Wednesday evening the usual frolic given under the auspices of the Missionary Society, was held in the gymnasium.

This evening there will be a real "get acquainted" party, the old girls giving an informal dance to the new students.

The Woodland Park school opened on Tuesday, Sept. 13th, the year beginning very auspiciously.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It was my privilege recently to stop awhile in Concord, N. H., and to visit again the beautiful civic center that is characteristic of that city. A memorial arch erected in honor of the soldiers, city hall, government post office, court house, public library, historical building, State House, and the original Christian Science Church in memory of Mrs. Eddy, all of these beautiful buildings grouped around a square that makes it one of the finest civic centers that I know of, which leads me to wish we might start some such centre here in our beautiful city.

I don't it about time we dropped our sectional views and united in some civic centre? Newtonville of course is the spot. There we should build a City Hall worthy of Newton. There isn't a city of our size in Massachusetts that hasn't a government post office building and 10 smaller cities that have—why? Because we allowed our post office to be merged into the Boston Postal District and don't unite on some central spot and ask for such a building. It is ours for the asking.

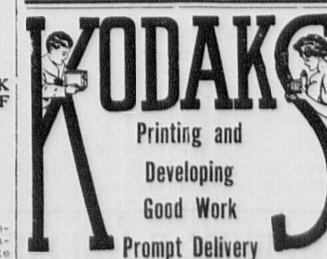

Have we any proper memorial to our Soldier boys? One ought to be erected there. My thought in writing this is to stimulate some of our citizens to start an intelligent campaign that might result in our undertaking this long neglected duty. Visiting Marblehead recently I found two parks there named for boys who died in the late war. What is the matter with honoring Bruce Wray of our city, who is reputed to have fired the first American gun in that war. Need we wait till our heroes pass away? Who will take up this important matter in earnest?

NEW ASSISTANT

Rev. Otto Mayer, A. M., will be inducted into the office of Minister of Religious Education in Elliot Church at the morning service next Sunday, Rev. Herbert D. D. will preach the sermon and Rev. Alden H. Clark will make the prayer of consecration. The Sunday School will attend the service.

Mr. Mayer is a graduate of Chicago University with Phi Beta Kappa rank, taking his master degree in the same. Further graduate work was taken in Institution in Religious Education, Union Seminary, New York, and in the Teachers College of Columbia University. He has been superintendent of Young People's Work of the Sunday School Board of the Evangelical Church, and Minister of Religious Education in Rochester, N. Y., and comes to Newton from a like position in New York City. He has a thorough equipment for the position to which he is called in Elliot Church and is the first to give full time in such a position.

Mr. Mayer will also be a member of the faculty of the Community School of Religious Education at Newtonville, having come from such work in summer training schools in New Jersey and New York State.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Monday evening, at the Newton Club, Mayor E. O. Childs and Frank Palmer Speare, president of Northeastern College, spoke to a group of 50 young men who met to consider the advantages of evening study. Mayor Childs mentioned many young men whom he personally had known to greatly profit by improving their spare time in study.

Mr. Speare's subject was "Business Navigation." He emphasized the value of taking enough time to thoroughly master the subjects studied. The opportunity to take a course in the College of Commerce and Finance to be established at the Newton Y. M. C. A. by Northeastern College of Boston was presented by Mr. C. D. Smith, Regional Secretary. H. W. Bascom, General Secretary of the Newton Association, presided.

Gymnasium classes for boys and men will open Oct. 3rd. Special periods will be given to wrestling, swimming, life saving, athletics, basketball, etc. Select a class and attend regularly.

Everett G. Ingraham, Massachusetts State Champion in Pocket Billiard, will play a match with one of our best local players and afterwards give an exhibition of fancy shots. The social committee extends the invitation to gentlemen outside the membership who may be interested. The exhibition will begin at 8 o'clock next Tuesday in the lobby of the Newton Y. M. C. A. The bowling alleys will be ready Oct. 3rd. All interested in bowling are asked to meet at 7.30 next Tuesday.

OPEN NEWTON BRANCH

Northeastern College will open a school of Commerce and Finance at Newton Y. M. C. A. Monday, Sept. 26. Evening classes in Accountancy, Business English, and Business Law will be conducted on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings beginning at 7.15. The work offered will be identical with that done in the first year in Northeastern College, Boston, and students may continue through the four-year course and receive a degree of bachelor of commercial science.

The instructors will be Maynard Maxim, head of the Commercial Department of the Newton High School, Accountancy, Dana Scott Sylvester, Dean of Northeastern School of Commerce and Finance, Business Law, and Turner F. Garner, Assistant Dean of the School of Commerce and Finance, Business English.

The value of taking a course in Northeastern College is apparent when you consider that more C. P. A.'s in Massachusetts are graduates of Northeastern than of all other accounting schools combined. The latest and best texts are used. All courses are outlined so that the material will be thoroughly covered. The courses of study are the result of years of development. Students of Northeastern are successful in many lines of business. Any man over 20 years of age is admitted but only those meeting certain conditions outlined in catalogue can receive the degree.

Many young men from Newton, Waltham, and Watertown, have attended Northeastern College in Boston. Here is a chance to save time and carfare by taking the first year work in Newton.

An invitation to attend the first class which meets next Monday, Sept. 26th, at 7.15 is extended to you.

EDITORIAL

While, in common with other tax payers of Newton, we have rejoiced in the reduction of $3.20 in the tax rate, a careful analysis of the manner in which that rate was obtained leads us to the opinion that the assessors have hewn too closely to the line for financial safety.

The figures show that the reduction is largely due to two causes, first—a heavy increase in the estimated receipts for the year 1921 (the actual receipts not being available until after Dec. 31st, 1921) amounting for about $1.50 of the amount and second—the five millions increased valuations accounting for about $1.40 of the rate. The first factor is the doubtful element in new rate, as for the first time in the history of this city, if we are correctly informed, the actual receipts of the preceding year have been taken in toto as the estimated receipts of the current year. Heretofore the estimate of receipts has usually been substantially lower, possibly but 75 per cent or 80 per cent of the actual receipts. This year the assessors have taken over $512,000 as the estimate of receipts for 1921, and if for any reason, that amount is not received there is liable to be a deficit in the city treasury at the end of the year.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR THORNTON SWAIN THOMAS

above the rest of the troop, meeting the boys in his patrol in the rooms of this parish house.

He was terribly opposed to anybody who was unreal in manner, or in any other way, and in any group of young people, I think you will all bear me out, he was always among the most popular of the crowd.

And yet, I think you know, he had a dual personality. There was the side most of us knew of the big boy. But there was another side, rather unsuspected—deep, loyal, thoughtful, imaginative—to Tony Thomas; as he was known to most of us—loyal to the extreme to a friend. You never found him tolerating any sneers to any friend of his or any innuendoes. He was always a fighter for the underdog. He had that supreme characteristic of youth—the idealistic sympathy for the fellow who did not have a square deal.

When he was a little fellow, he wrote a simple little poem after his mother read him Van Dyke's story, "The Mansion."

Little deeds of kindness,
Little words of love,
Build a mighty mansion
In the heaven above.

But in his later life he had what very few of us suspected, owing, perhaps, to his shyness—a deep desire for literary expression, and he left behind him a great pile of manuscripts, sketches, stories and poems in which he has tried to express in clear, good English, the best thoughts that came to him. He read somewhere about how it is the men of brains that rule the world, and his desire to give a square deal to the underdog, made him want to express his interest, which he did in this poem called "The Workers," which was found after his death.

"When the long, long shift is over,
And the weary men come down, rough,
Uncouth, and unshaven
Into the nesting town,
I watch the grim procession as they drag themselves to rest.
They've earned it, God knows they've earned it
For these men deserve it best;

For they are the toilers and workers,
Who are making the dreams come true.

They are the ones who suffer.
They are the ones who do.
Brains lay plans for the workers,
Who toil in the sweat and the grime.
Till the long, long shift is over,
And they know not the pulse of time."

That was written out of his own experiences, working, as he did, during his vacations in his uncle's factory at Indianapolis,—working among the very men about whom he wrote.

His ability as a writer and critic was shown by his election to the editorial staff of the literary publications of his College—Boston University.

And so, there were these two sides,—the immature, unconventional boy, and that deeper side, which went still deeper, in the love for his kin, tremendous loyalty for the people of his own blood.

His love for his mother was the great,—the greatest bulwark of his soul.

We are not to think of him as dead, and we are above all not to make this a solemn exercise as if an irreparable event had happened. We are to see him standing before us as we knew him,—big and boyish as ever; his short suffering over, just a little further along the road that we all must travel; the eternal sunshine upon his head; and his eyes, that you all remember, so kind, so shy, so embarrassed, so merry; his mouth, quivering with words tumbling over one another; his big hand, his energetic action; and he says to us, his friends, clearly one message from the life of Thornton Thomas, "Be natural folks; be square." And the prayer of his mother and father must surely be, "Oh, that we could have him again!"

This service is just to testify our faith that that prayer will be answered.

"Taps" sounded on a bugle made a fitting finale to a most impressive service.

he is bothered by a disagreeable head-ache at present. Capt. Jake and Herb Garrity are the two hardest workers on the field, and if the boys who are hoping to make the 1921 Newton team a replica of the Champions of last year would only take these lads as an example they'd find that their hopes for the title would steadily materialize.

And now we should like to say something that we hope every lover of the grand game of football will read and ponder over. Our subject is the football schedule of the Suburban League and the target of our attack is the men who make up that schedule. The football games for the Suburban League are arranged by instructors from the various schools, and these instructors are called teacher-representatives. Each of the eight schools sends a teacher to represent it at the League's meetings, and these teacher-representatives draw up the schedule by which the various high school coaches in the League must abide. The coaches themselves have absolutely nothing to say. They are mere outsiders and must sit back and watch while these teachers, who in the majority of cases know little more about football than the fact that the players don't wear bathing suits, make up the schedule that the coaches and their teams must follow. A more absurd state of affairs would be hard to imagine. And now let us give you a shining example of what this brilliant (?) board of teacher-representatives has done. It has so arranged the Suburban League schedule that the first league game falls on Wednesday, October the 12th, and the second league game on Saturday, October the 15th, but three days later. How in the world men who are supposed to know a thing or two ever allowed such an arrangement is beyond our understanding. Just imagine, Mr. Reader! As a result of this crazy arrangement of schedule, Newton must play Everett on Wednesday, and then turn right around and play Somerville on Saturday; two exceedingly hard games in a space of four days.

Even yet you may not appreciate the downright foolhardiness of the situation, but if you will just imagine Harvard playing Princeton on a Wednesday and Yale on a Saturday you will immediately see our point. For Harvard, or any other college, to play Princeton and Yale within a space of four days would be nothing short of lunacy. Yet just imagine a high school team, a team made up of young fellows who are in the process and most important stage of physical development being obliged to do just that thing. To put it in the nicest words we can think of, it is a darn shame. There is not a high school coach in the country worthy of the name of coach who would care to see his charges struggle through such an arrangement of games. And yet these teacher-representatives who form the governing board of the Suburban League, with an eye on the money that two such dates would bring in, have permitted such a condition to exist; while the high-school coaches, the men who are responsible for the physical welfare of the boys, are powerless to intervene. What a mess of an affair it really is! There is no necessity for a game being played on Columbus Day. The 19th of November, a Saturday, is an open day in the Suburban calendar, and the extra game would have fitted in very well there.

The high school coaches are the men who should arrange the schedules and the sooner they take the places of the teachers who now assume that task the better will it be for all concerned. The coaches know football, they know what the game requires, what the youth can give to it, and what he can not give. The teacher-representatives know practically nothing about the gridiron game, and if we are to judge by the way they have arranged the schedule, they are not much concerned over the boys who play the game. We ask you to think seriously about this, Mr. Reader, and if ever you have a chance to express your opinion on the subject jump on the present system and jump on it hard.

In the meantime don't forget that Capt. Jake Stafford leads his men against Capt. Gull's Quincy High team at Clafin Field next Thursday afternoon in the opening game of the Newton season. Be there and help the boys get started on the pathway to the title.

NEWTON COMMUNITY THEATRE

Work was started last week on the erection of the Newton Community Theatre at the corner of Washington and Bacon street, Newton. The foundation is being built by the firm of T. Stuart & Sons of this city. The theatre will have a seating capacity of about 1300, and is designed to meet all modern requirements. It will be well ventilated, artificially cooled in summer, equipped with roomy seats, and a clear view of the stage and screen will be afforded from any part of the house. The stage will be large enough to permit metropolitan dramatic productions, and an excellent organ will be installed.

The plans of Desmond and Lord, the architects, show a building of the Georgian type, attractive, and well proportioned.

The builders are Goodwin and Mitchell and the estimated cost is $125,000.

PUBLIC AUCTION

637 CENTRE STREET, Cor. BELLEVUE STREET, NEWTON
15-ROOM SINGLE RESIDENCE

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28th, at 4 P.M.

We are going to sell at public auction on the premises this most desirable gentleman's residence, situated on one of the finest corners in the most aristocratic and exclusive section of Newton. The house is commodious, substantial and dignified, and is finished in the finest of oak, bird's eye maple and solid mahogany with mantels of rare imported marbles. This property is in the most excellent physical condition. The grounds comprise 22,237 square feet with a wide frontage on two streets, and are well laid out, devoted mostly to lawns with ample shade trees. The first floor contains a spacious entrance hall with fireplace and grand stairway all finished in solid mahogany. On the right is the reception room in bird's eye maple and the drawing room; on the left, the library finished in maple and large dining room in oak, the kitchen, laundry and lavatory. The second floor has five fine large chambers with three open fireplaces, and either have hot and cold water or connect directly with the luxurious tile bathroom. The third floor has five bedrooms. The basement contains a nearly new oversize ideal steam heater. The property will be open for inspection from 3 to 5 Saturday and Sunday, September 24th and 25th, or may be seen at any other time by appointment. $500 deposit at time of sale. Other terms may be obtained from the auctioneers. Sale positive rain or shine. This is the greatest opportunity ever offered to buy at your own price, at perhaps a fraction of its real value, one of the finest built and best located homes in all the Newtons.

—Mrs. Carrie Gilman Edwards of New York city is now receiving pupils for piano instruction in the vicinity. She specializes in descriptive work. Her pupils are taught to understand and appreciate what they play. The method she employs was used by most of the great teachers such as Liszt, Kullak, and Clara Schumann. This plan of descriptive analysis is also the basis of Mrs. Edwards' lecture-recitals which for over 20 years she has given with marked success in New York and throughout the country. For the present she will make her headquarters at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ralph W. Conant of Fair Oaks avenue, Newtonville.

—Another Veteran to be Buried

The veterans of Co. C met last night in the West Newton Armory and made plans for the burial of a comrade, George T. Spinner, who was a comrade in the company, and who was killed in action at Verdun on Oct. 23, 1918. Spinner lived in Faneuil, but his family now lives in Waltham. The body will lie in state at the West Newton Armory until 2.30 Sunday afternoon, when it will be escorted to the Faneuil Congregational Church. At Oak St. the Newton veterans will be joined by the Brighton and Allston Coats. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Henry Ambrose, Colmore Burnett and Almsworth, who left this week for Cornell, Lockwood, Oscar, and Henry Tilton for Dartmouth, Elio Lauro and Winthrop Fisher for Massachusetts Agricultural College, Carlton Reynolds for University of Vermont, Sidney Andrews for Amherst, Edwin Colman, Charles Macine, Donald Angier, and Paul Brown for Harvard.

CITY HALL NOTES

Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court has sustained the validity of the assessments levied by the city for the construction of Algonquin road. It is rumored that some of the abutters will now take the matter to a jury as to the amount of the assessments.

STORY OF A $100 LOSS

A man sat in our office a few days ago talking about buying a home. A part of the money he wanted to use was invested in stock of a Manufacturing Company, a perfectly good company, paying dividends on the stock. He had paid $500 for the stock and now wants to sell it but can get only $400 for it. He says that hereafter his savings are going into the savings bank where he can.

CORNISH-WHITNEY

One of the most attractive of the Fall weddings was that of Miss Bertha Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Whitney, of Central avenue, Newtonville, to Mr. Donald Owen Cornish, of Prescott street, Newtonville, at the Central Congregational church, last Saturday evening. Rev. M. I. Lichter, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony, and Miss West was the organist.

The bride's gown was of white satin and tulle, trimmed with Duchess lace, and she carried lilies-of-the-valley and roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Benjamin F. King, sister of the bride. Her gown was of pink tulle and she carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Eaves of Newtonville, and Miss Ethel Whitaker of Worcester. They wore blue tulle and carried pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Benjamin F. King, of Brookline, and the ushers were Messrs. E. Arthur Hancock of Auburndale, James Elliott, Fred Bolster, and William Cary of Newtonville. Little Alice Jack of West Newton was the flower girl dressed in pink and carrying a basket of pink roses, while Adams Carter of West Newton was ring bearer.

After November 1, Mr. and Mrs. Cornish will live at 52 Judkins street, Newtonville.

KEESLER-RICHARDSON

Miss Dorothy Jane Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Richardson of Highland avenue, West Newton, was one of the early autumn brides, being married on Monday to Mr. William Francis Keesler, Jr., of Highland avenue, Newtonville.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride by the Rev. Fred W. Peakes of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe satin trimmed with Duchess lace and orange blossoms. The matron of honor, Mrs. Willard Spaulding of Newtonville, wore a jade georgette, and the bridesmaids, Miss Catherine Richardson of West Newton, Miss Catherine Hardwick of New London, Conn., and Miss Eleanor Gibbs of West Newton wore orchid organdie.

Mr. Charles Farge of Boston was best man.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony, the bride and groom being assisted by their parents. After a wedding trip to New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Keesler, Jr., will make their home at Highland avenue, Newtonville.

DEATH OF MRS. BOWES

Mrs. Sarah Catherine Bowes, the wife of Mr. Watson W. Bowes, died on September 2 at the Hollis in Newton after several years' illness with heart disease. Mrs. Bowes was born in Manchester, N. H., and was 55 years of age. She was a member of the First Parish church of Needham, and president for many years of the Kings Daughters of that church.

Funeral services were held on the Sunday following her death at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cornell on Centre street, Newton Highlands, and conducted by Rev. George Kent, a former pastor at Halifax, N. S. Two of Mrs. Bowes' favorite selections, "Abide With Me," and Chopin's Funeral March were beautifully rendered on the cello by Mrs. Hildgard Berthold Whitehouse. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. J. Cornell, Nelson Crosskill, Charles Lillie and Frank C. Peabody. The body was cremated at Mt. Auburn and the ashes taken to Dartmouth, N. S.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Grace M. Burt, Editor

The many Newton women, who are actively interested in the White Ribbon Home at Ayer and furnished one of the rooms there, will be glad to know that Wednesday, September 28, the anniversary of the birth of Frances E. Willard, has been chosen by the managers of the home as its annual Harvest Home and open house day.

At this season the roads leading to the town are in good condition and the home is an attractive goal for motorists who may be interested in the place where a number of former workers for temperance reform are spending their declining years. Opened during the war as a hostel for the women friends and relatives who went to visit the men at Camp Devens, it was two years ago transformed into this Home for Aged Women, and already is nearly filled with women who come from various parts of Massachusetts. For Wednesday an attractive program has been arranged, and there will also be a cafeteria luncheon served in the room made popular in war time, when many of the boys in khaki found their way to the rooms arranged for their entertainment. Articles of various kinds, made by the residents, will also be on sale and the Home open for inspection. The location is at 3 East Main street, very near both trains and trolleys.

Local Announcements

The first meeting of the season of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C., will be held at the home of Mrs. Hiram A. Miller on Erie avenue, Monday, September 26, at 2.30 P. M. The subject will be, "The Mediaeval World and the Life of Dante," with Miss Cora Stanwood Cobb as the leader.

At the old Red Cross House, 1288 Centre street, Newton Centre, Inc., will hold a rummage sale on Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 1 to 6 P. M. Any one desiring to donate articles will please communicate with Mrs. E. A. Andrews, 1298 Centre St. Telephone Centre Newton 45. Collections will be made Saturday and Sunday, October 1st and 2nd.

There will be a second activity for the benefit of the club's Building Fund on October 8, from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M., "A Day of Fun and Frolic," held on the club's grounds, corner of Centre street and Institution avenue, opposite the Newton Trust Co. Many novelties in the way of entertainment will be offered both children and grown-ups. Admission to the grounds will be free, but bring your pocket books.

CHANGES AT THE WESTMINSTER

As the days grow shorter and the chill autumn season approaches it will only be a few days more before the season for the roof garden habitues of the Hotel Westminster will close and the devotees of good dining and dancing will have to adjourn to more comfortable quarters. The roof garden season has been a truly phenomenal one, for this popular place has catered to large business since the warm days of early summer, when the people really appreciated an open air dining place far removed from the noise and heat and where they could dine and dance in a very comfortable sphere.

That Mr. Coulton views with satisfaction the appreciation and success of his efforts to give the public this novel sort of entertainment—for it is the only roof garden in the city—goes without saying, and his plans for the coming autumn and winter are laid out on a scale which is sure to please his host of friends and the public generally.

The winter garden of the Westminster Hotel will be more attractive than ever. Extensive alterations and improvements have been made which will greatly enhance its value. The services of the same orchestra have been secured for the coming season, and this fact alone will be gladly received by those who consider it is the "best dance music in town."

Altogether the Hotel Westminster proposes to give the public the very highest grade of food service and entertainment. There will be no "cover charge" for the dinner de luxe served in the winter garden from 6 to 8.30. The same attentive waiters will be on hand to give their personal attention to their old customers and new, and from time to time new features will be added, so that there is always something to be anticipated when one goes to the Westminster for one's favorite dinner.

RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Several Newton residents have completed courses in the state division of University Extension. Those receiving certificates in American Citizenship were: Harriet W. Davis, 1045 Beacon street; Mrs. George J. Frost, 106 Pleasant street; Mary L. Hymers, 109 Norwood avenue; Amy B. Rice, 106 Sumner street; Louisa Walworth, 931 Centre street; J. Eva Mason, 15 Norwood avenue.

Among the correspondence students in which the certificates have recently been issued upon the satisfactory completion of the course in which they were enrolled are: James Baia, 77 Boyd street; blue print and plan reading; Caroline L. Martens, 62 Playstead road; elementary Spanish; William F. Burns, 49 Langley road; c. p. a., preparatory; Lewis G. Melia, 163 Winchester street; penmanship improvement and estimating; John J. Sallinger, 75 Prospect street; printing; accounting; Mae G. Cotton, 346 Cabot street; elementary Spanish; Wilhelmina G. Cotton, 346 Cabot street; elementary Spanish; Paul J. McInerney, 47 Bridges avenue, principles of accounting; Nelson C. Swan, 6 Broadway terrace; elementary applied mathematics; Agnes M. Cosman, 94 Neholuden road; plain English; Sybil Ward, 102 Highland street; gasoline automobiles.

FUNERAL ON SEPT. 25TH OF PRIVATE JAMES W. SMITH

On Sunday afternoon, September 25th, James W. Smith of Battery C, 149th Field Artillery, who was killed in action in the Argonne, October 14th, 1918, will be buried at the Newton Cemetery. His body has just arrived from France and will lie in state under guard at the Newton Armory from Friday evening until Sunday afternoon. Services will be held at the Methodist Church, Newtonville, Dr. C. R. Ross officiating, interment will follow at the Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Smith was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith of 7 Remick Terrace, Newton. He was brought up and attended our public schools, and has always lived, prior to his entry into the service, in our city.

Post 48 of the American Legion will assist in the services, and all ex-service men are requested to report in uniform at the West Newton Armory, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, where they will accompany the body to the church at Newtonville, and from there to the cemetery.

UNUSUAL RECEPTION

Hunnewell Club Honors Capt. A. D. W. Sampson on His 90th Birthday

The members of the Hunnewell Club gathered in full force Saturday night to show honor to Captain A. DeW. Sampson, one of the active members of the Club on the occasion of his reaching the age of ninety years. President Blakemore spoke of the active and useful life the Captain had led and the conditions in the remote past when he was born as contrasted with the life of to-day. Hon. Samuel L. Powers made an instructive and interesting address on the great achievements and changes which have taken place in this country during the life of the Captain and noted that at his birth there were no steam railroads, water systems or even matches in this country. Mr. Warren F. Gregory thereupon presented the Captain with an ebony cane with a gold tip in behalf of his friends in the Club who had subscribed for this purpose and made the following remarks:

Ours is a great and a rare honor this evening. It is in itself no easy nor common thing to become a nonagenarian. It is still harder and more unusual—it is most unusual—to do so and retain the spirit and nerve of youth, the capacity to enter, not feebly but in full measure, into its enjoyments, and the never-waning power to win and hold the affection of all lesser ages. So many times has the one whom we are to honor, thereby honoring ourselves, brought to my mind the central figure in one of the most noted English poetical classics, that, with your kind permission I will recite a few, a very few, selected stanzas from this famous poem, which is too long to be given entire.

It is an Ancient Mariner, And he sitteth down with three, "By thy long gray beard and glittering eye, What can the matter be?"

The Club House doors are opened wide, The fiends are entered in, The game is on, the lunch is set, Mays't hear the merry din.

But the Ancient Mariner is late The other fiends sit still To listen why he broke his date, The Mariner hath his will.

"For fourscore years and more" quoth he, "The sun hath served for me, To this—Daylight Saving Time I never will agree."

He playeth best who loveth best His friends, both short and tall, And Good Old "Gay" who loveth us, Is known and loved of all.

CONSTABULARY REUNION

The Newton Constabulary will hold a reunion at Norumbega Park tomorrow, at three o'clock. The villages will meet as follows: Newton, Hunnewell Club 2.30; West Newton, Norumbega Park 3.00; Auburndale, Norumbega Park 3.00; Chestnut Hill, Norumbega Park 3.00; Newton Centre, Play-ground House, 2.30; Newton Highlands, in the square 2.30; Waban, at the School 2.30; Newtonville, at Newton Club 2.30.

All members with automobiles are urged to use them on this occasion. There will be two ball games of four innings each. At five o'clock there will be a clam bake. Music will be furnished by the Newton Constabulary Band. Governor Cox, Mayor Childs, the Board of Aldermen, and members of the former Public Safety Committee of Newton are expected to be present.

The entertainment will conclude with a picture film which has never been shown before. It is hoped to form a permanent association at this time.

The cards which the members have received will admit them to the Park. Come rain or shine.

RECEPTION TO NEW PASTOR

A reception was held last night in the ladies' parlor of the Methodist Church, Newton Centre, to welcome the new pastor of the church, Rev. Ralph Emerson Davis, who comes to Newton Centre from the Linden Congregational Church, Malden.

About one hundred people were present, including the pastors of all the Newton Centre churches, except Mr. Sullivan, who was unable to be present. He was represented by Mr. Samuel B. Paul. Mr. Davis responded fittingly to the words of greeting of his fellow pastors and parishioners.

The parish rooms were tastefully decorated and an orchestra furnished music. Refreshments were served. The committee in charge were Mrs. Louis R. Speare, Mrs. Alden H. Speare and Mrs. Albert M. Fowle.

MR. RICHARDSON SURPRISED

Following the example set a few months ago by one of the large Boston banks, the officers and employees of the Newton Trust Company gave its efficient executive vice president, Mr. Frank L. Richardson, a most unusual surprise on his return from his annual vacation. On Monday afternoon, there was a gathering of about 60 persons at the Trust Company building in Newton under the direction of president Seward W. Jones and Mr. Richardson was presented with a statement, showing that 420 new accounts and 124 more promised accounts had been obtained while he was away. The presentation address was made by the treasurer, Mr. William T. Halliday.

CRIMMINS—CHANCE

The wedding of Miss Ethel Chance, daughter of Colonel Sir Arthur and Lady Chance of Merion square, Dublin, Ire., and Mr. Ralph Gordon Crimmins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Arthur Crimmins of West Newton took place in Dublin on Wednesday. Mr. Crimmins, who has been completing his studies at Oxford, Eng., entered Harvard with the class of 1915, but after two years there left to take up studies at Oxford. Both he and Miss Chance have been medical students at Oxford. The bride's father is one of Ireland's most distinguished men in the medical profession. He is noted also as the author of several works on medical subjects. He was a colonel in the British Army in the World War. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crimmins, went abroad last May and have remained there for the marriage of their son to Miss Chance.

BILLBOARD HEARING

A hearing will be held at Room 413, State House, Boston, next Thursday afternoon at 2.00 P. M., on some 35 applications for permits to continue existing billboards in this city. Some time ago the Dept. of Public Works submitted some 53 applications for billboard permits to the Newton aldermen and these 35 were disapproved.

These billboards are located on the lines of Washington street, Commonwealth avenue and Beacon street. Two of them are in Nonantum square, two on Washington street, Newtonville, one on Washington street, West Newton, several at the junction of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, two or three near the junction of Washington and Beacon streets and one on Washington street opposite the Hamilton school, Lower Falls. On Commonwealth avenue, there is one big one at Lake street, several in the vicinity of Manet road, and more at the corner of Walnut street. The board near the corner of Beacon and Walnut streets is also under consideration. A large attendance is expected at this hearing.

REAL ESTATE

Sumner Clement has sold to Nettie O. Barbour the estate numbered 36 Saxon Road, Newton Highlands, consisting of a single frame house and 9151 sq. ft. of land; the whole assessed for $11,300 of which $8000 is on the building, $800 on garage, and $2500 on the land. Alvord Bros. were the brokers in this transaction.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Alderman Leon B. Rogers has the Endorsement of a Large Number of Prominent Citizens

The city of Newton has long been justly proud of the quality of its citizenship. In very large degree—not always—the men who have served the city in public office have not been office seekers; they have been requested to assume this responsibility by public spirited citizens having knowledge of their qualifications.

At the earnest solicitation of a large number of representative men and women in our city, Alderman Leon B. Rogers of West Newton, has consented to become a candidate for mayor at the city election in December.

He is abundantly qualified to give the city a strong and business-like administration. He is a man of pleasing personality; he works efficiently and without noise; he is a disciplinarian, and yet a diplomat, and is possessed of unusual executive ability.

Mr. Rogers is probably best known for the services he has rendered in connection with the activities of the Newton Hospital and American Red Cross. In the last hospital campaign he engineered the raising of $80,000 for this splendid charity, a piece of work calling for the highest praise. In the two Red Cross roll call campaigns, which were under his direction, results far surpassing all previous records were attained.

During the Boston policemen's strike, Mr. Rogers, because of his qualifications for leadership, was quickly made a captain of the Newton constabulary which rendered such praiseworthy service during that crisis.

In business life, Mr. Rogers is treasurer of the Rogers Fibre Company of Boston, and is a director of the Market Trust Company of Brighton. He is forty-two years of age, married, and has a family of three children.

The city of Newton is fortunate in possessing men of Mr. Rogers' qualifications who are willing to give of their time and talent to public service. His candidacy should be popular, not only among the men, but among the women voters, for his welfare activities have brought him in close association with many public spirited women.

Mr. Rogers' candidacy has already attracted to his support the enthusiastic endorsement of many of our prominent citizens and the voters may rest assured that his campaign will be on a plane of dignity and constructive citizenship.

A STRONG ENDORSEMENT

The following endorsement of Mr. Rogers' candidacy has been signed by former members of the city government of Newton:

Mr. Leon B. Rogers of West Newton has consented to be a candidate for the office of Mayor at the coming city election.

We, the undersigned, ex-members of the city government, believe that Mr. Rogers is the best qualified man for the office.

Save Your Money Own Your Home

For 33 years the Watertown Co-operative Bank has rendered its members every assistance and counsel regarding the systematic savings of money in easy monthly payments, the safe investment of small savings ($2— to $4000) and advice in buying and building homes.

During all these years the dividends have been continuous, persistent and always earned.

We have 4500 members and wish to reach 5000 by January 1, 1922.

The sooner young people become members and begin making their monthly payments, the sooner they will be in a position to strike out for themselves, build their own homes and pay for them on easy terms.

Save 50c a day and in about 140 months you will have $3000.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton. Player's Hall, Washington street, West Newton. Sunday service, 10.45 A. M. Subject of lesson-lesson: "Unreality." Sunday School, 10.45 A. M. Testimonial meeting Wednesday, 8 P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the Reading Room at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville, which is open daily from 2 to 6 in the afternoon.

NURSES TO MEET

The Middlesex Co. Nurses' Association will hold its fall meeting in Memorial Hall, Melrose, on Friday evening, October 7th.

There is a very pressing need for nurses in the Public Health Hospitals where the soldiers and sailors must be cared for. The object of the meeting is to encourage nurses to take up this branch of their profession.

Speakers from the Legion, from the Red Cross and from those interested in this very important matter have been engaged.

An attractive musical program has also been arranged.

It is expected that the Legion Post in Melrose will attend. The public is cordially invited. All Middlesex Co. Nurses are requested to be present.

DEATH OF MRS. WILDE

Mrs. Rose Hannah Wilde, wife of James Wilde, passed away at her home at 27 Oak street, Newton Upper Falls, Wednesday morning. She had been ill for several years but her death was hastened by a fall three weeks ago. She was in her 69th year. Mrs. Wilde was born in Lancashire, England, but had been a resident of this village since childhood. She will be remembered and missed by her many friends for her neighborly deeds in times of sickness and sorrow. She is survived by her husband, James Wilde, three daughters, Mrs. Anna W. Estelle, Mrs. Thomas A. Wry and Mrs. Charles E. Littlehale, a sister, Mrs. Daniel W. White, three grandchildren, Mr. James Estelle, Mrs. Frederick E. Pelousky and Richard Littlehale and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from her late residence Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

What the Chief Says:

"There is nothing like Scouting. It is all by itself as a builder of real boys. It combines fun, healthful pastime, and attainment into a neat program second to none. The boy who begins right, and follows the program through to the end is the boy who will make a mark in this world. He cannot help but be a success. The activities of Scouting help him in securing the real factors for success and naturally success follows. We are all anxious to succeed and every boy in Newton is anxious to succeed, first, in being a real boy, popular with his chums, a real sportsman in all games, and the best student of his class; second, a worth-while fellow after school, and third, a real genuine man in later life. Scouting will assist in this development. If you are not a scout, why not join one of the local troops. NOW is the time."

Troop Notes

Troop 1, Newtonville: Plans have been made for a weekly over-night hike to the troop camping ground out at Dover. This camping ground is the Winter Camp site of the Boy Scouts of America, Norumbega Council. Plans are under way to develop this for greater use by all Scouts under the Council.

Troop 2, Anburndale: As yet no plan have been made by Mr. Hilliard for the winter's work. We hope soon to hear from this troop.

Troop 3, Thompsonville: This is a new addition to the number of Troops in the Council. It is young but will develop into a fine active troop of Scouts.

Troop 4, Newton Highlands: Under the leadership of Mr. Lichtenhaeler this troop promises to continue its good work. Last year it won the Council Rally and now holds the Silver Cup as a result. It has now stunts under development all the time, and will show some of these at the Council Camp Fire. Several Merit badges have been obtained by scouts in this troop during the summer.

Troop 5: Mr. Stone meets with his troop in the Playground House in Newton Centre every Friday evening at 7.30. We understand that the future is exceptionally bright. We wish it the best of success. We feel that the people of Newton Centre are realizing the importance of the Scout program and accordingly will assist the Scoutmaster to develop a fine troop of scouts.

Troop 6: Mr. Holman has had two scout meetings already this fall. Report has it that this troop plans to accomplish great things this year. It is going after the prizes. A suggestion has been made that a new troop be formed to accommodate the boys who wish to become active in scouting. Good work.

Troop 7: Mr. Crowell, Scoutmaster of the West Newton Troop meeting in Congregational Church plans to hold a farewell reception for a few of his scouts who have decided to leave the troop as active members and become members of the Scout Reserve. This will be next Friday evening. A full attendance of the troop is expected, and Scouts should be on time to attend the ceremony.

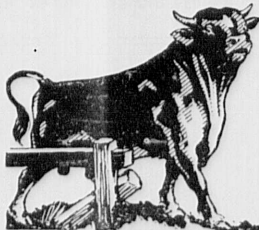

The Reserve Scout Corps is a new institution into which all First Class Scouts automatically are promoted (provided they wish to leave their troop on account of other work) after two years of active service in their troops.

Troop 8, Newton Centre: Troop 8, under the leadership of Mr. Waters, will come to the front this year. Nothing can possibly hold it back. It has the enthusiasm and the backing and with these two essentials success is assured.

Troop 10: This troop will henceforth meet in the new School Building where here is a fine hall for such meetings as the Boy Scouts. The Scoutmaster is behind the boys, and it is expected that a real live troop as of old times will ensue.

Troop 11: Rumor has it that Mr. Carley, for three years Scoutmaster, resigned that position last Friday evening. The Scouts regret that Mr. Carley, who has served the troop faithfully and well, finds it necessary to leave them. Under his direction a new trek-cart famous for its lightness and usefulness was planned and built. Under his direction a demonstration of this cart was given before the Council at its last meeting.

It is understood that Mr. John Woodbridge who has come up through the ranks of scouting as a member of Troop 11 will be elected to succeed Mr. Carley. We wish Mr. Woodbridge the best of success.

People of Newton will be interested in the fact that Mrs. Coolidge has long been a benefactor of the West Newton Music School.

ANOTHER VETERAN BURIED

Private James W. Smith, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith of 7 Remick terrace, Newton, and a member of the 149th Field Artillery, Rainbow Division, who was killed in action in the battle of the Argonne, Oct. 14, 1918, was buried with military honors Monday afternoon.

Private Smith was about 30 when he entered the service. His body was brought back from France a week ago Friday, and from last Friday to Sunday lay in state in the West Newton Armory. At 3 P. M. the body, under escort of delegations from Post 48, American Legion, of Newton and the Red Cross Auxiliary, was taken to the Newtonville M. E. Church, where services were held. Dr. C. Ross officiated.

Pallbearers and ushers were selected from the personal friends of Private Smith; also from members of the Newtonville M. E. Church, where he worshipped before entering the service. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful. Burial was made in the Newton Cemetery, the volley at the grave being fired by a squad representing Post 48, A. L.

Private Smith, before entering the service, had made quite a reputation as a golf player. He was a resident of Newton about all his life, and the product of its public schools.

—Hon. Sam Small, the famous orator and evangelist of Georgia, will be the speaker at a patriotic rally in the Centenary M. E. Church, next Sabbath evening at 7.30 P. M. The subject of Dr. Small's address will be "The Salvation of Uncle Sam" and a very timely and interesting discussion is anticipated. For nearly three decades Dr. Small has been one of the prominent figures on the American platform. With Sam Jones, Dr. Small held evangelistic and tabernacle meetings in every section of the country and the two "Sams" were heard by thousands. His quaint and peculiar way of expressing his thoughts, coupled with the oratory which makes the speakers of the Southland attractive, has placed Dr. Small as a favorite before the public. He is a man of exceptional attainments and his practical experience as an attorney, journalist, author, soldier, minister, evangelist and lecturer, has given him a wealth of material upon which to draw.

—The Official Board of the Centenary Methodist Church designated next Sunday, as "Pastor's Sunday." Appropriate features have been arranged for all the services of the day. At the Morning Service (10.30 A. M.) a special sermon will be preached, and music rendered by the three combined choirs of the church. The Sunday School session at noon will be given over entirely to appropriate Rally Day exercises, the regular lessons for the day being set for Sunday the following Sunday. At the Evening Service (7.30 P. M.) the Rev. Sam Small of the National Reform Association will lecture on the subject, "The Salvation of Uncle Sam."

Pallbearers and ushers were selected from the personal friends of Private Smith; also from members of the Newtonville M. E. Church, where he worshipped before entering the service. NEWTON Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Physical Training

The best way to keep the "Human Machine" properly tuned up and running on all cylinders aside from proper food, sleep, etc., is to give it regular and systematic physical activity. In these strenuous days of keen competition and prolonged nervous effort one is apt to neglect to give proper attention to the physical upkeep of the body with the result in many cases of premature burning up of energy, initiative, ambition, determination, courage, and other qualities which go to make up the successful twentieth century model.

The importance of giving due care to your physical condition cannot be over emphasized. Are you doing your part? Are you setting aside certain periods every week for some form of systematic exercise? If not, you are not at your best, which is a handicap to yourself and more or less of a liability to your family and community. Just to give you an idea how and where you stand from a physical standpoint, check up on the following lines:

Do you tire easily after a brief effort? Can you make a last minute dash for your train and hop on with still enough "kick" left to do a real man's work, or are you done for the day and stiff for a week? Do you get fagged quickly? Are your muscles soft and flabby? When you give a friend your hand does he feel the grip of a live-wire or is he reminded of a lifeless fish?

How about your posture? Are you erect with head up and chin in, or do you carry your chest on your back with head hanging low?

How about your feet? Do you step along with the spring of youth with weight properly balanced, or do you roll along on fallen arches?

Are you overweight or underweight? How about your appetite and sleep? If after checking up yourself on these points and find results are rather discouraging don't lose heart for there is still hope for your recovery. You'll win out yet, but quick action is necessary. Make up your mind right now and here that you are going to avail yourself of the opportunity offered by the Newton Y. M. C. A. to thoroughly overhaul your neglected and abused "Physical Mechanism."

Enroll in one of the "Gym" classes and exercise and play in a light and airy gymnasium with a good crowd of fellows under trained leadership, and swim the year round in a clear and clean tile tank.

Be regular and consistent in your attendance and results obtained will be a reward more valuable than great wealth, for after all good health is the greatest wealth. Think it over and act without further delay.

The fall and winter "Gym" schedule begins Oct. 3rd and classes for all ages from ten years up will be conducted. In addition to regular class work there is boxing, wrestling, basketball, gymnastics, and other sports.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS WOOD

Mr. and Mrs. W. Whitney Wood of Newton Centre, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Mr. C. E. Gould Capon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Capon of Newton Centre, formerly of Montreal. Both are graduates of the Newton High School. After serving overseas for two years with the 10th Canadian, McGill University, Siega Battery, Mr. Capon entered Boston University. He is a member of the Chi Sigma Chi fraternity and was prominent in the organization of Boston University's new comic magazine The Bannet. Mr. Capon is now Boston office manager of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

N. H. S. ELEVEN

When you read this the Newton-Quincy High game will have been played and you will most likely know the outcome. Unfortunately we can't give you a story of the game in this issue because the Graphic goes to press too early to permit an account of the Quincy game held yesterday afternoon.

Newton probably was the victor. We say this, not underrating Quincy in the least, but solely because we believe the Orange and Black to be too difficult a proposition for the Granite City boys to handle. If Newton was defeated yesterday we shall be greatly surprised.

The Newton eleven is coming along at a fairly rapid rate. It doesn't look to be anywhere near so strong as last year's team, but it does appear capable of giving the other Suburban elevens a run for the title. Speaking of the other Suburban elevens, they are practically all strong teams and they are all about evenly matched. Coach Dickinson has seen Brookline and Rindge Tech in action, has watched both of their opening games, and considers them sturdy aggregations. Everett High has a better team this year than last, although that isn't saying a great deal. Personally, we don't judge Coach Hazen and the Everett boys to be of championship calibre, but we do think they are going to cause Newton a pack of trouble over in Everett on the morning of Columbus Day.

Just to present our idea of the best Suburban League eleven is Cambridge Latin. The Cantabs are fortunate in having a number of veterans and an able captain in "Izzy" Zrakov. We think the Cambridge team has an excellent chance for first honors. Somerville will have a good eleven this fall despite the fact that the authorities at that school are still arguing as to just what they desire as coach. At this writing, Malden and Medford may be classed as teams of quantities but it's a safe bet that both these schools will be well up in the race when the final Suburban gun is fired. Malden plays B. C. H. at Malden tomorrow and that game will give us a much better idea of the strength of the Yellow and Blue. So you can readily see that Coach Dickinson has no easy task on his hands to safely pilot the Orange and Black through such a strenuous series of battles as the other seven Suburban teams will offer. But if he can't do it nobody can. In the meantime Capt. Stafford's team will travel up to Franklin next Tuesday to face the Dean Academy second eleven.

And now let us say a word or two about college football. Tomorrow afternoon the Harvard Stadium is going to be the scene of one of the niftiest college gridiron battles ever staged in early season. In point of interest and tense rivalry it resembles greatly the Yale-Boston College game of last year. At three o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Cleo O'Donnell is going to trot out the best eleven that has ever represented Holy Cross to oppose Bob Fisher's Crimson machine. Last year Harvard beat Holy Cross by a field goal, although it was the general consensus of opinion that the Worcester team played the better game. Tomorrow will see that same Holy Cross team, with but three exceptions, ready to take the Crimson in tow. The Purple have held the Intercollegiate baseball championship of the East for the last three years and their eyes are now focused on a similar achievement in football. Newton fans will be doubly interested in the game, for George Owen and Clark Macomber, former Newton High players, will surely get into action for Harvard. We have an idea that Holy Cross can defeat the Fishermen in this coming contest. If you can possibly get over to the stadium tomorrow afternoon do so by all means. You'll never regret it.

RECEPTION TO CAPT. SAMPSON

The Mariner, whose eye is bright, Whose beard with age is hoar, Hath lived among us ninety years, May he lead triumphs many more!

Captain Sampson, dear old friend, we ask you to accept this as coming from the hearts of the men you have in recent years seen here at the Hunnewell Club. May it be a long time before you really need to lean upon it!

The Captain thereupon made a felicitous and graceful speech acknowledging the courtesy which had been done him and thanking the members of the Club.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Shubert Vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, has proved a whirlwind success. This is easily understood when one has witnessed a performance of the extraordinary programme presented there twice daily each week, including two big Sunday concerts, given at 3 and 8 P. M. It was a big undertaking for the Messrs. Shubert to launch a new vaudeville circuit throughout this country, with one of their finest theatres in every leading city of the United States designated as the local home of Shubert Vaudeville. In New York three of their two score or more theatres are devoted to this particular brand of variety entertainment, making over 40 Shubert Vaudeville theatres extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean.

SHUBERT THEATRE—That good things are in store for theatregoers, is evidenced by the announcement that Madge Kennedy, herself, in Henry W. Savage's production of "Cornered," will come to the Shubert Theatre, Boston, for an engagement beginning Oct. 3. The play is by Dodson Mitchell, the actor author, who was prominent as the Tavern Keeper in Cohan's play of the "Favert." In "Cornered," Miss Kennedy charms and delights by playing a dual role—one character being a shop girl, who associates with crooks and the other that of a refined and beautiful young heiress. Boston will be the second city to see this talented and winsome star, since her return to the speaking stage, New York having had the pleasure of her company at the Astor Theatre for six months last season.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

Stearns Schools

School has opened this fall with an enrollment of 823 pupils.

Miss Lewis and Miss Winters, who were exchange teachers to Oakland, Calif., have returned to their former positions.

Miss Trask has a year's leave of absence and is teaching in a private school in San Raphael, Calif.

Miss Keyes, a former fifth-grade teacher, has accepted a position in the Junior High School in Lowell.

The new teachers in the district are Miss Sears, fifth grade; Mrs. Kidder, in the third grade; Miss Stackpole, grade two; and Miss Broughton, building assistant.

Fourteen of our teachers attended the social evening given by the Garden City Grange to the teachers of Newton.

The engagement of Miss Doris Logue, our domestic science teacher to Mr. Harold Manning of Billerica has been announced.

The Mothers' Club will hold its first meeting on Monday, October 3rd, at 8 P. M. A "Pop Concert" is the attraction for the evening and the teachers will participate in the program.

The October program for the Girls' Club includes a business meeting, millinery class, a speakers' night and a social entertainment. The first meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, October 4th.

The school football team defeated the eleven representing the Horace Mann-Clafin district in a preliminary game, Tuesday afternoon on Cabot Park by the score of 20-6. Stearns played a very steady game throughout and should have a strong team. Conzo at fullback was powerful both in attack and defense. He was ably helped by Bernie Lyman, the diminutive quarter.

Newton Grade Teachers' Club

The Newton Grade Teachers' Club held its first meeting of the year on Thursday afternoon in Clafin Hall. The occasion was entirely social and gave an opportunity to the older members of the teaching force to welcome the new teachers. The entertainment consisted of musical pantomimes. The chorus, led by Miss Mabel K. Chase, with Miss Helen Newell and Miss Mary Smith as accompanists, sang the songs which were acted in pantomime under the direction of Miss Marion D. Bassett, assisted by Miss Virginia Mason, who took charge of the dancing. The program was as follows:

In Japan—Misses Stopp, Hartshorne, Marguerite Greene.

Marching Song: Rosamund Bowen, Donald Bowen, Paul Buck, Loring Thompson.

Slumber Boat: Mrs. H. E. Thompson, Loring Thompson.

The Minuet—Miss Nickelson, Lois Trowbridge.

Dancers—Misses Mason, Crandall, Stewart, Martin, Daiger, Tobin, Pierce, Ripley.

The Three Wise Women—Misses Wishart, Schieb, Jessie Lewis.

My Pretty Maid—Misses Robinson and Daiger.

The Little Elf-Man—Miss Tucker, Paul Buck.

Frisco!—Misses Nixon, Bassett, Marian Green.

Dancing, for which music was provided by Miss Louise Pray, followed and refreshments were served by the Entertainment Committee under the direction of Miss Emily Titus.

Clafin School

School opens with a record attendance of 400 pupils.

We have two new teachers on our teaching force this year: Miss Effie A. Prince in the first grades takes the place of Miss Natalie F. Moulton, and Doris G. Martin is the new special assistant. Miss Moulton has accepted a position in Barton, Vt., as supervisor of a class of girls who are training to teach.

The Horace Mann-Clafin football team has been organized, and will be coached by Mr. Harper of the Horace Mann School.

Their first game was played on Tuesday afternoon with the Stearns

School team, resulting in a score of 20 to 0 in favor of the Stearns School.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

The enrollment of pupils to date is 514. This is about the same number that the school had enrolled last September.

The "red star" classes in attendance for last week were the eighth grade, Miss Sullivan's, and the third grade, Miss Jones's.

The graduating class has chosen a class pin. It is a shield design and comes from William C. Dorrey, Boston.

A lecture by Col. C. H. French on Japan is scheduled for next Wednesday forenoon at 10.30 in the hall. It is to be an illustrated lecture.

This week is being observed as "No Accident Week" by all the grades. At the Monday morning assembly in the hall, a general explanation and introduction of the matter was made to the pupils. In the various class-rooms daily lessons in safety have been given. The primary classes have been taken to the street crossings for exact instructions and drill as to how to proceed in safety. Dramatizations of the traffic officer with lines of automobiles and crowds of pedestrians to handle were used to teach the proper procedure in the crowded streets of Boston. One class had a play showing how an accident happened at a crossing. Stories of accidents that have really happened to Upper Falls children were retold. The most dangerous locations in the Upper Falls were reviewed by the pupils. Letters on safety and stories were written and discussed in class.

Newspaper material and a few poems on safety furnished material for class discussions. Short lists of DONT'S were prepared in class. Placards illustrated with pictures were in use in all rooms and some original illustrated placards were prepared from material brought in by the pupils.

Burr School

The 7th and 8th grade ball teams are having some good games at recess time.

The new Board of Editors for "The Echo" is as follows:

Editors-in-chief, Dorothy Burnett, Marjorie Berry, Robert Nason, Kenneth Sperle, Associate Editors, Ruth Uford, Willard Tyler, Poetry editors, Margaret Foknal, Olive Curtice, Fun Editors, Joy Brooks, Marcus Remick, Athletic Editors, Gerald Rogers, Donald Wilson, Reporters, Anson Garfield, Robert Clapp, William Benger, Stephen Madden.

Bigelow Notes

The total enrollment for September is 473.

On account of the lack of accommodations in the Bigelow building, Miss Bradford has taken her second grade to the Underwood, and her former room at the Bigelow is occupied by a small first grade under the care of Miss Ward, who comes to this district from the Pierce.

The eighth and seventh grades are being conducted to some extent this year upon the departmental plan.

School recesses are all spent on the Burr Playground. Three Captain Ball teams have been formed in the eighth grade. The seventh and sixth grades are playing Dodge Ball.

Mr. Roberts of the Playground department will visit the Playgrounds once a week to teach the boys Soccer and to prepare them for the October Athletic Meet.

On Thursday of last week a very pretty luncheon party was given by the Bigelow Teachers in honor of Mrs. Harold Moore.

DEATH OF MR. WARD

Mr. Edgar Temple Ward, who died at his summer residence, South street, Needham, on Tuesday, was seventy-nine years old. He was born in Sheffield, England, the son of John and Elizabeth Braddon Ward. Until his retirement nine years ago, he was a member of the Edgar T. Ward Sons Co., steel merchants of Boston. He was also one of the founders of the Union Twist Drill Co. of Athol, Mass. His treasurer for ten years, and a director until 1920. His winter home was at 102 Highland street, West Newton.

He leaves a widow, Margaret Denton Ward, three sons, John Ward of Linfield Centre, Mass., and Edgar Ward of West Newton and Arline Ward of Newton Highlands. There are also five daughters, Mrs. R. P. Adams of Newton Highlands, Mrs. William H. Fernside of Wellesley, Mrs. Edith M. Heaton and Miss Sheryl Ward of West Newton, and five grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last June. On this occasion eight children and five grandchildren were present.

Mr. Ward was a member of the West Newton Neighborhood Club and of the Church of the Messiah.

Services will be held at his late residence at 2.15 today, the Rev. Parval M. Wood officiating, and the burial will be in Newton Cemetery.

RECEPTION TO NEWTON SCHOOL TEACHERS

Garden City Grange, 364, P. of H. received 150 of Newton School teachers in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27th.

Mayor Childs, a member of Garden City Grange, welcomed the teachers in his usual pleasing manner, expressing to them the appreciation of the City for their efforts to guide the footsteps of the youth of today with courage and hope.

In response to the Mayor's Welcome, Supt. Wheeler of the Newton Schools expressed the thanks of the many school teachers for the kindly interest Garden City had taken in their welfare, stating that he had been a member of the Grange when his sole object was farming interests.

Ernest Cobb, a member of Garden City Grange, and one whom the teachers and scholars know as an author of many instructive works helpful in their school work, his story was received with great applause.

The Rev. A. H. Wheelock of Needham, Chaplain of Massachusetts State Grange, gave a very interesting talk on the principles and objects of the Grange, urging the teachers to become active members in Garden City Grange.

Worthy Master Raymond W. Sweet in a few chosen remarks expressed the sentiments of the afternoon for the large attendance of Newton teachers.

Community singing was led by the musical instructor of Newton Schools Horace Walton.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall after which all returned to the hall and participated in fancy dancing and the old reels until a late hour. The sentiment of all present was that the reception had been a most successful affair.

While the general principle of zoning met with no opposition at the aldermanic hearing on Monday night, the details of the proposed ordinance called forth considerable and apparently well merited remonstrance.

Zoning is intended to protect the owners of real estate from depreciation of their property by the use of adjoining land for business purposes. Newton has had several instances in recent years where land in residential districts has passed into the hands of unscrupulous persons who start work on business blocks or stores, for the sole purpose of sandbagging the neighbors to buy them out. In a lesser degree, the introduction of two-family houses into a high-grade single-residence district, affects the valuation of property. Zoning also tends to centralize various kinds of business and to allocate the parts of the city where the necessary, but oftentimes undesirable (from a residential point of view) work can be done.

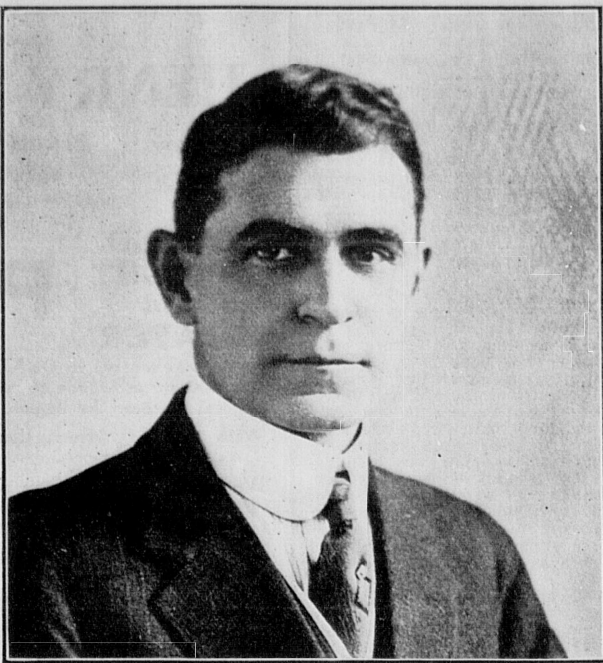

There should be no question as to the fairness of allowing such establishments as the Fessenden School, Lasell, or Mount Ida School, to rebuild or to enlarge, under proper conditions. It seems also foolish to separate the office from the shop of such business as plumbing or carpentering. These details will undoubtedly meet with change by the committee. One important suggestion has been made which may meet with popular approval, to the effect that for the purposes of initial establishment of the new system, the single residence district and the general residence district should be combined with a provision that land owners, desiring the greater restriction now contained in the single residence district, might have that privilege by authority of the board of aldermen. In other words, it would reverse the method of the present proposed ordinance, which changes in district lines, evidently contemplate a lessening of restrictions either by a two-thirds or unanimous vote of the aldermen. The suggestion we advance would increase the restrictions by a similar vote.

The criticism against the requirement of a unanimous vote of the aldermen in certain cases is against the statute of the Commonwealth and not against the ordinance. The city would have no power to change that provision and any ordinance adopted by the city would be subject to that provision. One of the underlying principles of zoning is that of permanence, as it is evident that any system of this nature ought not to be subject to passing whims, and in requiring a two-thirds or unanimous vote the Legislature acted as it should. It should also be recalled that many of the cities and all of the towns are governed by boards of three, five or seven members and that a unanimous vote from bodies of that size is not at all unreasonable. It would also seem reasonable to suppose that the Legislature would readily consent to amend the law in cases where the governing body was composed of fifteen or more members, omitting the requirement of a unanimous vote.

Of course the power of the ordinance lies in the districts created at the time of its passage, and the committee is acting wisely in holding village hearings throughout the city, to receive suggestions and criticisms as to where the lines of each district should be drawn.

The announcement of the candidacy for mayor of such a good business man as Alderman Leon B. Rogers of West Newton should gladden the hearts of all who desire a modern, strictly up-to-date administration of our city affairs. It speaks well for the public spirit of the community that a man of such high character and ability as Mr. Rogers is willing to enter the political arena for the highest office in the gift of the city. Mr. Rogers made an enviable record as chairman of the Red Cross membership campaigns of recent years and last winter did a fine piece of similar work in raising the sum of $50,000 for the Newton Hospital. He has given a great deal of time to Red Cross and Civic Council work in this city and as a member of the board of aldermen during the past two years has obtained a good knowledge of the city and its needs, with special reference to what it can and cannot afford to undertake. Attention is also invited to the high character of the men who have signed his endorsement. All of them are gentlemen who have served in the Newton city government and who are therefore well qualified to express an opinion and to give good advice to the great body of our citizens, who do not have an intimate knowledge of city affairs.

There is considerable and well-grounded protest against the encroachment on a busy part of Washington street by the contractors engaged in building the new Community Theatre. While the city, as a whole, will be benefitted in many ways by this building, it will be dearly bought if any one meets with an accident on its account. While more important building construction in the busy streets of Boston is accomplished without using the public ways, it would seem as if our city officials might compel the contractors on this building to restrict themselves to private property.

Bacon street, one of the narrowest streets of the city is also made almost impassable and certainly left in a most dangerous condition. It is unfortunate that the law does not allow the city to make this a one-way street, as that might help the situation.

All in all, this will be a most dangerous corner during the months of building construction.

Newton residents who have long been interested in the billboard problem, will now have an opportunity to do some actual constructive work along the lines of relieving this city from some of these monstrosities. The hearing next Thursday afternoon at the State House is most important, for on the action taken by the Dept. of Public Works depends the continuance or discontinuance of some 35 obnoxious billboards, which have already been disapproved by our board of aldermen. A large attendance and a vigorous protest by our citizens will go far to solve the problem.

WINS FIRST GAME

Newton High opened its playing season yesterday afternoon, defeating Quincy High, 7 to 0, at Clifton Field. Newtonville, Newton High was forced to extend itself, for Quincy proved a tartar defensively.

Newton reached the nine-yard line in the initial quarter, only to be held for downs. Quincy kicked out of danger and for the remainder of the first half Newton was not dangerous. Quincy showed best in the first half. Guinan, left halfback, broke away several times, figuring in some clever broken field runs. He proved a hard player to check. Delayed passes aided Quincy in getting around both of Newton's ends for substantial gains.

In the second half Newton displayed much fight, and Quincy could not seem to gain very much ground.

The only score of the game came in the last four minutes of the fourth period. Newton obtained the ball in midfield. Herbert Garrity broke around right end from the 45-yard line, going to the 38-yard line. Then a short running forward pass was tried, Garrity to O'Donnell. It netted 10 yards to the 15-yard line. Garrity then made a first down on the four-yard line. On the next play he went over for the touchdown. Osborn kicked the goal.

The work of Capt. Jake Stafford, the Bowen brothers and Leahy was best for Newton, while Guinan, Capt. Guild, Woodward and Vallee excelled for the losers.

CALLS FOR MANY QUALITIES

Archaeologist Must Be Scholar, Linguist, Engineer and Artist, and Expert Handler of Men.

The modern archeologist in Egypt must be more than a scholar. He must have studied history, it is true; he must be familiar with what is known of the art and life of Old Egypt and he must have mastered the ancient language so that he can read the hieroglyphs carved on temple and tomb.

But scholarship is only part of his equipment. He must know something of engineering and something of drawing; he must have a sense of organization; he must himself be ready to turn to with pick and shovel, should occasion arise.

The task of disinterring ancient structures and their precious contents uninjured is a delicate one, not to be done hastily or haphazardly.

In addition to being scholar and engineer, linguist and artist, the modern archeologist must understand how to handle men. The men employed in archeological excavation in Egypt are usually boys from 10 to 20 years of age. Older than that, in a country where men and women age tragically fast, they are likely to be stupid.

Usually they are irresponsible and, spurred on by the light-fingered "antika" dealers in neighboring villages. The wise archeologist puts them on piece-work—so much for every cubic foot of earth removed, with bakshish, carefully calculated on the basis of the "antika" dealers' current rates, for every object unearthed.

Since the bakshish varies with the condition of the object, it is to the interest of the worker to get each "find" out entire, if possible, or, if breakage is inevitable, with no part missing.

Half of the minor objects discovered go to the Egyptian government and half are retained by the institution conducting the exploration.

SHOWN ENMITY IN BOYHOOD

Encounter Between Youthful Cromwell and King Charles I Might Be Called Prophetic.

Cromwell and Charles I of England first met when they were children at Hinchinbrook house, the home of a mutual friend of both the king and Oliver's father. The boys were told to play together while their elders talked over affairs of state and fashion. They got along well enough for a while, and then a dispute arose.

The young king was not used to opposition to his princely will, and when Oliver stoutly clung to his rights the king struck him.

Oliver cared not a bit that the blow was aimed by a king's hand. He swung his somewhat grimy fist as hard as he could, and caught Charles on the nose with the to-be-expected result. Blood flowed in quantities, and the young prince set up a great howl.

Servants came running, and all might have gone ill with the careless commoner had not Charles' father taken a hand and declared that the blow was to be forgiven, as it was given in defense of a right, and his son must learn to know that right was greater than kings.

A meeting recently held in support of this movement was given much prominence in the local English papers, but in spite of its intimate bearing on a purely Egyptian problem none of the Arabic papers appears to have given the matter any publicity.—Christian Science Monitor.

Progressed by Slow Stages. Thirty years ago the men of Hartshay, a hamlet of Derbyshire, England, were accustomed to meet at a bridge on the edge of the town, where they would read the papers and discuss events. This was all right in summer time, but in the winter it was different and they would occasionally adjourn to a sheltered spot under the bridge. From this they moved into a vacated pigsty and later annexed another pigsty. This rude building was improved by their own efforts until it was a fairly comfortable place. From this humble origin there is now a rather pretentious library, with the best papers and magazines and a stock of good books.

Willied Everything Away. A lawyer in Chicago was retained by a contractor to draw up his will. The task was accomplished apparently to the satisfaction of the client; the lawyer's fee was paid, and the latter supposed, of course, that the matter had been concluded. To his great surprise, therefore, he received another call from his client the next day, who expressed his conviction that the affair had not been properly adjusted.

"Why, what's the trouble?" asked the legal light.

"Trouble enough," said the man. "I didn't sleep the whole night through for thinkin' of that will! You've fixed it so I've not left myself a chair to sit on!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Comparisons Are Sometimes Odious. Johnny was attending his first grade school, after graduating from kindergarten, where he greatly adored his teacher, a pretty young woman in her teens. His mother noticed his lack of enthusiasm in his new studies, and that he never mentioned his teacher.

Finally, one night when she was putting him to bed, she asked: "Johnny, don't you like your new teacher?"

"Oh, I like her well enough," he replied, "but, mother, she looks just like a potato chip."

Chinese Railways. Of 6,836 miles of railway in China in 1918, more than 4,000 miles of main and branch lines were owned and operated by the government, these comprising 14 railways in 14 out of the 18 provinces. In addition there were 11 provincial and private railways (some owned by mining companies) aggregating 425 miles and five concessional lines aggregating near 2,300 miles.

FASCINATION IN AIR FLIGHT

Various Reasons Advanced Why People Will Pay High Price for Short Trip Through Space.

Why do people fly? Would you care for a spin in the air so much as to spend $15 for a 20 minutes' flight? If so, what is your motive?

Interviewing a half dozen commercial aviators along Miami's water front on this subject brought the following facts to light:

About 60 per cent of all passengers carried on the short 20 minutes' sight-seeing flights are women.

According to aviators the types to whom scraping the clouds appeals are:

The wealthy man—the business man. He wants to see what flying is like. He sees the future of commercial aviation. The short flight offers also a novel method of entertaining friends.

The "sport." He flies for the excitement of the thing. He usually insists on stunt flying. Then, too, an occasional flight provides a way of demonstrating to his friends his sporting self.

The average man. He finds in the short flight at $15 for himself or $25 for himself and a companion a method of realizing the thrill and pleasures of the air. He is presented with an opportunity of realizing an overwhelming desire at a minimum expense.

The large percentage of women passengers is considered something of a slap at those reveling in the thought that women were too timid to fly. According to pilots, in most cases women accept an offer of an aerial spin on the direct dare of their masculine companion.—Miami (Fla.) Herald.

TRAINING WAIFS OF CAIRO

Government of Egyptian City Has Instituted School Where Stray Boys Will Be Educated.

It looks as if the problem of the waifs and strays of Cairo was going to receive at last serious attention.

After much insistence on the part of some public-spirited officials a special school for boys of this class has been opened in the environs of Cairo, where they will be looked after and trained by the government without their having committed some crime to admit them into the reformatory, previously the only institution of the kind.

Nothing so far has been done for the girl children, though another home is promised for this purpose. It is therefore satisfactory to hear of the formation of an organization called the "Brotherhood Federation," ostensibly nonsectarian and international, with the object of looking after and improving the lot of the child waifs generally.

A man sat in our office a few days ago talking about buying a home. A part of the money he wanted to use was invested in stock of a Manufacturing Company, a perfectly good company, paying dividends on the stock. He had paid $500 for the stock and now wants to sell it but can get only $400 for it. He says that hereafter his savings are going into the savings bank where he can.

How Lampreys Lay Eggs. Lampreys are eel-like residents in the ocean that run into the fresh water at the mouth of rivers in the spring and build the nest in which their eggs are deposited. They pick out the pebbles in the bottom of the river, using the suction power of their large mouths to dislodge the stone, and deposit eggs in the spot selected.

RIDGWAY—LONGFELLOW

The wedding of Miss Margaret Longfellow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Longfellow of 35 Grove street, Auburndale, and Mr. Raymond R.
Ridgway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W.
Ridgway of Freeport, Illinois, took place on Wednesday evening in the Second Church in West Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J.
Edgar Park, minister of the church.
The bride party was preceded to the altar by the chancel choir, "The voice that breathed o'er Eden" being sung as a processional. The music was in charge of Mr. William Lester Bates, organist.Miss Longfellow was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin and old lace, with a veil of tulle, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.
The bride's sister, Miss Natalie Longfellow, attended as maid of honor.
Her gown was of pale yellow chiffon and she carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Edith Brown of Fayville, Miss Mary Alice Bushnell of Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Margaret Lane of Auburndale, and Miss Emma Wilder of West Newton. Their gowns were pink orchid shade, and they carried pink roses.The best man was Mr. George F.
Nesbitt, a college friend of the groom.
The ushers were Mr. Percy Keith of Waco, Texas, Mr. Teodoro Quires of Costa Rica, Mr. Kenneth Akers of Brookline, Mr. Charles Maloney of Al-lston, Mr. Hall Walker of Waban, and Mr. Benjamin Lane of Auburndale.
The bride has been a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Mr. Ridgway is a Technology graduate, 1920. They will make their home in Freeport, Illinois.

"TWENTY MILLION SAVERS BY 1930"

For the first time in their history the 632 Mutual Savings Banks in the United States have organized in a concerted movement of their own to increase the number of Savings Bank depositories.The ultimate goal is the realization of the slogan adopted at the National Conference in Boston—"Twenty Million Savers by 1930." The immediate goal is 1,000,000 new savers by the time of the Third annual convention to be held in Atlantic City, New Jersey, May 4, 5 and 6, 1922.The Savings Banks in Newton have each been given a quota and have started to realize the same. When it is understood that Mutual Savings Banks are not conducted for the profit of anyone but the depositories, that they have no capital stock and no stockholders, and that they are operated by Trustees who serve without pay, it can be seen why they are proud of the word Mutual.It is of interest to know that these Mutual Savings Banks in the United States have $3,000,000,000 invested in mortgage loans on real estate, another $1,000,000,000 in railroad and railway securities, $1,000,000,000 in municipal and state bonds and $1,500,000, 000 in United States securities.

tions, attended by salespeople in oriental garb you will be able to purchase hats, hand embroidery, kitchen furnishings, aprons, Christmas cards, books, and many other things.Kumra Swami, a Hindoo Magician, will entertain the children, and Miss Sumaya Attiyeh, the celebrated Syrian lecturer will lecture at 8.30 P. M.
An Automobile Show will take place on Margin Street, traffic on which will be suspended for this event.On October 14 there will be an afternoon entertainment and in the evening from 8 until 12 there will be dancing with Jack Spaulding's celebrated Orchestra to furnish the music. Remember the dates and plan to attend.

tist Church of Brooklyn, N. Y.

First Fort Built in Ohio.

Fort Miami, the first fort built in Ohio about 1700, was constructed under the direction of Louis de Baudre, Frontenac, the greatest of the governors of New France, as Canada was called in his time. The French claims extended down into the Mississippi valley, and these were the Yankees of their time—men to extend their trading operations through all that extensive region. The Miami river was then called "The Miami of the Lakes," hence the name of the fort.

caught in our waters have been regarded as a waste product, but the fisheries bureau reports that they will yield 67 per cent of their weight in very excellent oil. It hopes to find a market for seal blubber with the glue manufacturers. Last year about 35,000 fish seals are killed on the Piedmont island in Bering sea. Bookkeeping four dollars at each pound, the annual production of blubber is 100 to 150 tons.

Gender of the Sun.

In modern English literature the sun is invariably referred to as masculine and its gender is now so fixed.
But in old English the sun was always termed feminine, as it is in Milton: Shakespeare, however, considered the sun masculine. The Germans still refer to the sun as feminine, while in French it is masculine.

Shark's Usefulness Ended.

A shark in Saigon harbor, Indo-China, falling to take a baited hook, was fed a huge piece of pork containing chlorinated fresh lime. The action of the water on the lime caused an explosion which threw pieces of shark meat 200 yards away in the immediate vicinity.

BOY SCOUTS

THE CHIEF SAYS:

How about it boys, are you game to make this year the best year of all years for Scouting in Norumbega Council? Of course you know that you are one of 500,000 scouts in America who have taken the Scout Oath and promised to live up to the Scout Law. The numbers are rapidly growing, and ten years from now when you commence business or your professional life, you will be a member of the greatest organizations for men as now you belong to the greatest movement for boys. Both will be the same. Each will be the BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA. Both men and boys pulling together for the honor and well being of our Country. Let's go, then, and make this the best year ever.

CHIEF.

Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, has resumed its scouting garb and again troops are open for recruits. Throughout the summer months a large number of Scouts securing much of their time in camps securing for themselves the joys of such life and accumulating to their credit scout rank and Merit Badges. Now the regular meetings begin and every boy who wishes to belong to the Scouts will be provided for. At the present time Norumbega Council has thirteen troops of Scouts. Candidates may apply direct to the Scoutmaster or to Headquarters. The following list will help Candidates to find their most convenient troop:

Troop 1: Meets in High School Gymnasium every Tuesday evening at 7.30. Mr. R. W. Cotton, 37 Washington Park is the Scoutmaster.

Troop 2: Meets in school room of Methodist Church in Auburndale every Friday at 7.30. Mr. E. C. Hilliard, 13 Wier street is the Scoutmaster.

Troop 3: Meets in Bowen School, Thompsonville, every Monday at 7.30. Mr. John Kincaid is the Scoutmaster.

Troop 4: Meets in School room of Congregational Church, Newton Highlands, every Monday at 7.30. Mr. Frank E. Lichtenthaler of 37 Waldorf road is the Scoutmaster.

Troop 5: Meets every Friday in the Playground House, Newton Centre, at 7.30 P. M. Mr. M. I. Stone, 25 Elmore road, Newton Centre, is the Scoutmaster.

Troop 6: Meets in Stearns School, Nonantum, every Thursday evening at 7.30. Mr. W. O. Holman, Vocational Instructor of the school is Scoutmaster.

Troop 7: Meets in Schoolroom of Congregational Church, West Newton, every Friday at 7.30. Mr. H. A. Harlow, D. Crowell is Scoutmaster.

Troop 8: Meets in Playground House, Newton Centre, every Tuesday at 7.30. Mr. Paul Waters of 81 Clinton Place is Scoutmaster.

Troop 10: Meets in Waban every Friday evening at 7.30. Candidates should apply to Mr. W. H. Young, 41 Wamesit road, Waban.

Troop 11: Meets in Bigelow School, Newton, every Friday evening at 7.30. Mr. Jerome M. Carley is Scoutmaster.

Troop 1W: Meets in Wellesley at the Congregational Parish House every Thursday at 7.30. Mr. Herbert S. Austin is Scoutmaster.

Troop 2W: Meets in School, third floor, Wellesley Hills, every Saturday at 7.30 in the evening. Rev. Carl M. Gates is Scoutmaster.

Troop 2WW: Meets in Weston, weekly. Rev. Dr. Perry is Scoutmaster.

Troop 11, Newton

The second meeting of the "Troop Year" was held Friday evening, Sept. 16. The meeting of the 9th was a "get-together" meeting, preparatory to the election of officers.

Troop officers for the coming year will be: William Duly, Scribe; John Clark, Treasurer; Charles Barba, Jr., and Robert Rees, representatives to the Council Scout Committee. The investiture of these officers will be at the meeting Friday, September 23rd.

There were present last meeting, 24 scouts, 3 officers, and 4 candidates. A complete troop will be had upon the return of all scouts from vacations.

A fine attendance of the Norumbega Council Executive Committee, Boy Scouts of America greeted the President, Mr. James A. Stafford, at its first meeting of the Scout season, Tuesday evening, September 20th. The members of the Committee are Mr. James A. Stafford of Newtonville, President, Mr. Clarence G. McDavitt, Newtonville, Vice-President; Rev. Carl M. Gates, Wellesley Hills, 2nd Vice-President; Mr. Edmund I. Leeds, Newton, Secretary of Council; Mr. John H. Eddy, Treasurer; Mr. John Benbow, Newton, Scout Commissioner; and Messrs. Stephen H. Whidden, West Newton; David Ambrose, Waban; W. S. Radway of Chestnut Hill; George Angier, Newton; Josiah H. Goddard of Wellesley Hills; Charles B. Floyd of Auburndale; Morgan H. Stafford, Newtonville; James C. Irwin, Newtonville; Lewis E. Moore, Newtonville; Everett W. Varney, Newton Centre; Clarence A. Bunker, Wellesley Hills; Herbert S. Austin, Wellesley; Rev. Dr. Perry of Weston; Rev. Father Haney of Newton Centre; and Scout Executive, Wm. B. Sharratt.

With the boy upmost in mind these men assembled to commence the year's work in Scouting. The Executive presented plans for the future administration of Scout activities under the Council. Discussions as to methods were important and each member present felt that the season opened with fine prospects. As of September 1, the Council had 412 registered scouts, and 18 Veteran Scouts.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

John T. Burns & Sons report that they have sold for Sara Harris her single 9-room home located at 168 Tremont street, Newton. With the house there are 6,000 feet of land, and the total valuation is $7,800. J. B. Dalton, of Brighton, was the purchaser.

The Burns Agency has also sold for Adams D. Claffin a large lot of land containing 33,450 square feet. This lot is valued at $5,000. J. B. Hunt was the purchaser.

EDITORS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Massachusetts Press Association were guests this week of the Salada Tea Co. of Boston and thoroughly enjoyed a visit to the new and up-to-date building and the insight given of the methods of handling the various blends of tea.

The tea comes from the Orient, largely from Ceylon, in hundred pound leaden air tight cases. The Company has supplies from more than 400 tea gardens, and its experts select the various teas for the various blends. These selections are placed in a large hopper at the top of the building and winnowed of all dust. From here the tea falls into the next lower story where it is cut and sifted and then drops into a large revolving drum on the next floor below.

After being thoroughly mixed, the tea is conducted by brass chutes into the glass sided bins on the next floor, and thence drops thru other chutes to the working tables on the floor below, where many white capped and gowned girls and young men make it up into the familiar packages which one sees at the grocers. The Company has some wonderful machines on this floor, one of which automatically makes the silver foil cases, fill them with the exact amount of tea, closes and labels the package without the aid of human hands other than the feeding of the sheets of silver foil into the machine at the start.

At the lunch at the City Club, which followed the visit to the building, Hon. Louis A. Coolidge was the special guest of honor and gave some rambling observations on newspaper work which were greatly appreciated by those present.

He said in part:—"I am sorry sometimes that the facilities for speedy transportation have brought the metropolitan dailies into such close touch with distant towns and villages. I wish we had more of the local individuality which marked the earlier days—the neighborhood talk and sympathy, the sturdy independence which our fathers knew before men found how easy it is to flock in crowds."

But even now, in spite of the growing tendency toward the erasure of lines between communities, in spite of the increasing impulse toward centering power in Washington and centering journalistic influence in the widely circulated metropolitan press, the local weekly or daily still holds a field of great potential value in which it is supreme. The average local editor is in the place he occupies, because he loves his job—because he likes to write, because he finds contentment in meeting week by week or day by day, the minds of neighbors most of whom he calls his friends. The country editor is in a way much like the country doctor. He knows the gossip of his own vicinity, the joys and troubles of all sorts of men. He knows the citizen who does his best for the community, whom he can count upon in any worth while public work. He knows the run of sentiment in politics and business and he reflects it, oftentimes unconsciously, in what he writes. The reader and the editor react upon each other. The local paper goes into the home. It is not read by headlines. It is read by column and by page. Its local advertisements are as closely scanned as personalities or editorials. It is a well of local history and biography. The local editor is everybody's confidant, just as his paper is a moving picture of his time.

If I were sounding the opinion on any given question in any given place, the first man I should try to see would be the editor, and on his judgment, with those to whom he might refer me, I should reply.

Let me impress it on you that each one of you thus has a mission which is especially significant today. You are not in the business for the money you can make. If you were looking solely or chiefly for pecuniary gain you would not be in the business at all. You have it in your power each in his own community to neutralize the preaching of the great commercial press which in so many instances has its eye first upon the advertising page, and not infrequently upon pernicious doctrines, adapted to extend the circulation by which the advertiser is impressed. You are in constant contact with the average man, the wholesome average man who has a family, who sees a little more in labor than the living wage, who spends less than he earns and lays by for a rainy day in order that his children may be a little better off than he, who likes things of his own—a home, a bit of land, a little money out at interest, who is at heart a capitalist in a small way perhaps but just as truly a capitalist in thought as the head of a great bank or a great industrial corporation a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. The best thing that could happen to the United States would be for every man and child within its boundaries whether in city or in village in the factory or on the farm, to feel in every fibre of his being that he has the opportunity to be a property holder and that it depends upon his own industry, his own thrift, his own initiative and his own creative instinct to be a property holder—not a great capitalist necessarily, but a capitalist just the same with a substantial stake in the community. There is no place for socialism or Bolshevism in a country town. There should be none in any corner of a country such as ours has always been and we hope will always be.

We are a wonderful people. We have a country which should be the best and greatest on God's footstool. The time is coming if we keep the faith our fathers had when all the nations will rise up and call us blessed. But let us not deceive ourselves. We have not yet reached that place and we will never reach it if we prove false to right ideals. We have not yet achieved the highest civilization. England surpasses us in literature; France in literature, in music and in art; Italy in sculpture, painting and music. There are things which we can profitably learn from China and from Spain. On the material side of life we have gone far—but the great progress we have made has been through private enterprise. If government persists in stifling industry, we shall be worsted even here. We have more mechanical conveniences than any other people, but have we greater comfort? We boast of freedom, though we are bound by more restrictions on our liberty of thought and action than any other people except the peasantry who bow before the Russian Soviet. We are hampered by a multitude of laws and ordinances affecting almost every phase of life, and most of us unconsciously are bound up by convention. We think too much about what others think and spend too little time in thinking for ourselves."

REAL ESTATE

Edmonds & Byfield report the sale of the property, 75 Berkeley street, West Newton Hill, for Maud H. Brown, to George N. Stoddard of Brookline. Property consists of large mansion dwelling, garage, and about 60,000 square feet of land, all valued at $30,000. It is the intention of Mr. Stoddard to occupy as a home after improvements have been made.

The same brokers report the sale for Frederick D. Wellington of West Newton to Mr. Henry Urquhart of Newton, a modern two-family dwelling and about 7,000 square feet of land, situated at 470-472 Albemarle road, Newtonville. Mr. Urquhart buys for a home and investment. Property is valued at $10,000.

The same brokers report the sale of a lot of land for the Farlow Hill Land Trust, to H. W. Stephens of Newton, who will erect a dwelling for his own occupancy. Lot contains about 19,000 square feet, and is valued at $2,500.

Edmonds & Byfield report the sale of the properties at 910 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, and 30 Ellison road, Newton Centre, for Thatcher Jenney of Medford, to Roland F. Gammons and Charles J. A. Wilson, Trustees of Newton Estates Trust. Property consists of new tapestry brick dwellings and lots of 11,000 square feet, all valued at $35,000.

BY THE RIVER

Knew you the little purple flower
Hidden near the spring?
Or have you seen the distant tower,
And heard its music ring?

Or do you know the little brook
Winding down to the stream?
Or know the deep pond lily pool
In morning light a gleam?

I hear the pine trees calling me,
The golden rod is beckoning,
A path leads to my willow tree
And days that have no reckoning.

You rocks so river worn and wise
You tall old pines so brave and fine,
Your beauty made me lift my eyes
And heartened all this life of mine!

PRATT-HORTON

The wedding of Alderman George Woodman Pratt, of Newton Centre, and Miss Helen Krogmann Horton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H.
Horton of Quincy, took place last Saturday, in the early afternoon at the Congregational Church at Orleans, Mass.There was a special sentiment in having the wedding ceremony take place in that old town because the bride's family has had a close association with the place for several generations and one of the Horton ancestors, Gyles Hopkins, was among the founders.The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. J. Edward T. Sullivan, rector of Trinity Church at Newton Centre.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory white satin and chantly lace, with an Empire train, her tulle veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.Her two attendants, Miss Ella A. Horton, a sister of Quincy, who was maid of honor, and Miss Esther C. Pratt, of Newton Centre, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids, were gowned in pink charmeuse, with pink hats, and carried bouquets of pink roses and heather. The best man was Col. John R. Simpson of New York. There were no ushers.The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner Klingman Pratt of Newton Centre; is a Harvard man of the class of 1902, and a member of both the Harvard club of Boston and New York. He is a member of the Longwood Cricket Club and of the New Charles River Country Club, of which he is secretary. He is now serving his second year as a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. During the World War he served in the Third Plattsburg Regiment, and later was captain and major of the Equipment Division, Ordnance Department.Following the ceremony there was a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will reside at 144 Gibbs street, Newton Centre, where they will be at home after Nov. 1.

AROUND THE WORLD

Mr. Harry W. Crooker of West Newton, accompanied by Mrs. Crooker and their daughters, Misses Hope and Beth, left Sunday on the first stage of a trip that will take them entirely around the world.Mr. Crooker is one of the best-known shoe manufacturers in New England. He is an active member of the New England Shoe and Leather Association and will carry with him credentials as the official representative of that organization. On his return he will make what is certain to be an extremely valuable report regarding footwear conditions as he finds them in the various countries to be visited and the opportunities for increasing American boot and shoe exports. He plans to call on the ministers, consuls, and trade commissioners of the United States, wherever possible.The party will first go to San Francisco, thence to Portland and Seattle, and will sail from Victoria, B. C., on the Empress of Asia for Japan. Various cities in that country will be visited, after which they will go to Hong Kong, Canton and other places in China, and subsequently will visit Singapore, India, Egypt, the Holy Land, France and England. They will visit the battlefields in France and Belgium, and possibly may go into Holland and one or two other countries in Europe.Mr. Crooker is departing on his world tour with the confident expectation that he will find the shoe and leather business of this country greatly improved when he returns to Boston some months hence.

VETERAN BURIED

The body of Corporal George F.
Spinney, D.S.C., formerly of Co. C, 101st Infantry, and who was killed in the Argonne in October, 1918, laid in state at the West Newton Armory on Friday and Saturday guarded by details from the Veterans of Company
C. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon when escorted by his former comrades the remains were taken to the Faneuil Congregational Church for services. At Oak Square the cortege was joined by members of Brighton-Allston Post of the Legion.Spinney joined Company C, 5th Massachusetts Infantry, a short time before that organization was ordered to El Paso, Texas, for border duty. He served for six months at the border as a private. He went overseas in September, 1917, with the 26th Division. He was awarded the D. S. C.
for the act that caused his death, after he had rescued a comrade who had been wounded and who was lying across the barbed wire in No Man's Land. His parents have also received citations from General Pershing and from General Edwards.

HOWE—CORDINGLEY

Last Saturday was the wedding day of Miss Jessie Lawrence Cordingley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cordingley of Chestnut Hill and Mr. John Farwell Howe.

The ceremony took place at the Church of the Redeemer and was performed by the Rev. Lucian W. Rogers, the rector.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon velvet, trimmed with old lace, and a tulle veil fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilacs-of-the-valley and white orchids.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Samuel Dale Stevens, Jr., of Peace Dale, R. I., was dressed in maize-colored chiffon. She wore a hat of brown velvet and tulle, and carried Ward roses, Delphinium, and gypsophila.

The bridesmaids, Miss Harriet Cordingley, Miss Fanny B. Chandler, Miss Dorothy Harris, and Mrs. Randolph K. Byers wore gowns of blue chiffon with hats of brown velvet and tulle. Their bouquets were of yellow roses, delphinium, and gypsophila.

The best man was Mr. James A. Howe and the ushers were Messrs. William W. Cordingley, Ronald W. Cordingley, G. Payne Quackenbos, Samuel Dale Stevens, Jr., Parker M. Loring, George Whittemore, Joseph T. Walker, Jr., and Thomas A. West.

A reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony. After January 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Howe will be at home at 20 Prescott street, Cambridge.

DINNER TO MR. GUILFORD

Plans have been formed to give a dinner to Jesse P. Guilford, the National amateur golf champion, by his clubmates at Woodland, Saturday, Oct. 8. The festivities will get under way at noon and the dinner will be served at 6.30.

Messrs. Walter B. Sharp, Harry Richmond and Irving J. French, members of the board of directors at Woodland, are in charge of arrangements.

ALDERMEN MEET

A special meeting of the aldermen was held on Monday night. President Harriman presided, and Aldermen Blake, Hickey, Pratt, and Young were the only absentees.

The following jurors were drawn for service next week at Cambridge: John J. Dunlavy, Bridge street; Joseph A. Symonds, Davis avenue; Frank T. Eddy, Fairfax street; Frank W. Pray, Kirkstall road; Herman C. Soule, Walnut park; William E. Jones, Farlow road; Ralph C. Emery, Franklin street; G. F. Richardson, Jr., Marshall street; Edward S. Haynes, Cherry street; James T. Gormley, Chilton place.

Permits for private garages were granted to D. B. Rich, Gibbs street; A. W. Mutt, Priscilla road; R. T. Stuart, Old Colony road; and Mrs. J. W. Crowley, Ricker road.

$300 was voted for committee expenses in connection with the zoning ordinance.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The exhibition of pocket billiards given by Everett G. Ingraham at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening was enjoyed by a large audience. He demonstrated some wonderful fancy shots and his playing showed marked ability. Mr. Charles G. Wilson played a match game with Mr. Ingraham but was defeated. Mr. Wilson made some very clever shots and divided the applause with Mr. Ingraham.

The bowling committee met on Tuesday evening and made plans for beginning a tournament on October 10th. The alleys will be ready and formally opened for the year on October 3rd. Mr. A. F. Tucker was chosen Chairman of the Committee for the season.

Classes in Accountancy and Business Law are now being formed at the Y. M. C. A. Anyone interested still has an opportunity to take the course.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

The house is completely modern and contains 9 rooms and 3 baths. With it, there are 11,250 square feet of land and the total valuation is $18,500. Albert E. Phaneuf purchases for home and, after considerable improvement, will occupy.

Burns & Sons also report that they have sold for Edward E. Barnes his single, 8 room home located at 46 Park street, Newton. With the house, there are 20,000 feet of land and the total valuation is $7500. Mr. E. M. Spike buys for a home.

FOLIAGE PARTIES

The Colpitts-Beekman Tourist Company advise us that they are arranging special foliage tours to the White mountains. Excursion parties leave Boston every Monday during October for a week's trip to view the foliage, which is particularly beautiful at this time of the year. Parties go up the west side of the mountains, stopping at Bethlehem and visiting Mt. Agassiz, Franconia Notch, the "Old Man of the Mountain," Echo and Profile lakes and the Flume; returning via Bretton Woods, through the Crawford Notch to North Conway, and thence to Boston. All hotel expenses, meals and automobile side trips are included in the tours operated by the company.

The new Lighting Fixtures in Italian, Rusty Iron and Polychrome and Colonial styles as shown by Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., Inc., 181 Franklin street, corner Congress, Boston, Mass., are really works of art. All interested in Lighting Fixtures for their homes are invited to this exhibition.

MILITARY FUNERAL

With full military honors, the remains of George T. Maxwell, formerly of Company C, 101st Infantry, were laid to rest in Newton Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, September 18th, after one of the most impressive military funerals ever held in Newton. Trinity Church, Newton Centre, was filled to overflowing by the throng that tried to gain admittance to pay their final respects to the youthful soldier who died in battle at Vaux, France, during the Chateau-Thierry offensive. Scores were turned away from the doors, there being no room for them inside the edifice.

Rev. Dr. Edward T. Sullivan, pastor of the church, officiated at the church services and also at the committal services held at the grave.

Escorted by the veterans of Company C, under Major Henry D. Cormerais, his old command, by Newton Post, American Legion, under Major C. Raymond Cabot, and by Company H, 101st Infantry, under Capt. John A. MacClellan, the remains of Private Maxwell were borne from his home to the church via Langley road, Summer, Willow and Centre streets. As the cortege passed Fire Department headquarters on Willow street, a detail of firemen, under Captain Clarence Randall stood at attention, uncovered, as a tribute to the memory of the departed veteran.

At the head of the cortege marched the bugle and drum corps of the Legion Post, in charge of Bugler William Foley, formerly of the Y.D. The drums played the slow march over the entire route and during the period when the body was being taken from the hearse to the church and at the grave, Drummer William Tolan played the muffled roll.

Following the services at Trinity Church the cortege reformed and proceeded over Homer and Walnut streets to Newton Cemetery. Here hundreds of mourners had gathered.

Following the reading of the committal services, the firing squad, composed of members of H. Company, under Sergeant Rosario Guzzi, fired the parting salute, and buglers sounded Taps from different sections of the cemetery.

GOWER—HUDSON

Miss Dorothy S. Hudson, who has been with the Newton Public Library for the last two years was married last Friday to Mr. Ronald L. Gower of Orchard street, Newton.

Miss Hudson's home is in Seattle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Grant Person of Elliot Church, whose church she attended. Miss Hudson was unattended. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Danforth (Grace Gower), and the house of Miss Harriet T. Carter on Richardson street, where the wedding took place, was artistically decorated by the members of the Library staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Gower are to make their home in Watertown.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—There is nothing quite so stirring in life as emotion coupled with intelligence. This boon, granted in Margaret Anglin's "Woman in Bronze" which opens at the Plymouth Theatre next Monday night, Oct. 3rd, was recognized by thirty-eight weeks of thunderous applause in New York City, where the production was acclaimed as one of the superlative achievements of the American stage.

Besides playing the leading role, Miss Anglin, noted for her indomitable energy and extraordinary vitality, is responsible for the managing, directing, producing and staging of the play to the minutest detail. Prominent in her supporting cast are: Harry Minton, Mary Fowler, Marion Barney, Harriet Sterling, Albert Gran, Max Monteleone, Glen Coulter, Mildred Fischer, Arthur Fisher and many others. Miss Anglin appears in Boston for the first time in association with Mr. Lee Shubert.

THE GOOD HOUSEWIFE

Knows the value of little things about the home in making it attractive to the family and friends—
She realizes for instance, in how many ways Cretonnes of the right sort may be used.
We take a good deal of pride in our line of Cretonnes and we think we can please the most exacting—anyway, we'd like to try.
